PRIEST'S BODY FOUND BURIED NEAR SEA CLIFF AFTER TEN DAYS SEARCH

Man Who Led Way to Grave Held by Police; Woman Tells Story How Drunken Foreigner Killed Churchman and Concealed Remains.

(By the Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 11.—A search today of the room occupied by W. A. Hightower ,a baker, who last night led San Francisco police to the grave of Father Patrick Linn, missing priest, revealed clippings from local newspapers carrying accounts of the priest's disappearance and of rewards offered for the priest's return. Hightower will be notified of this find at once, officers said.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 11.—The body of Father Patrick E. Heslin, missing Colma priest, who disappeared from his parish, Holy Angel Catholic Church, the night of August 2, was found buried at the bottom of a sand cliff near Salada beach of the Pacific ocean, about 20 miles south of San Francisco.

Father Heslin had been murdered and there was a bullet hole through his heart and through the head, the last having torn away a part of the skull. The body was exhumed at eleven o'clock last night by a party consisting of Chief of Police O'Brien of San Francisco, Constable S. A. Landidi of Colma, newspaper men and William A. Hightower, discoverer of the grave.

The party left San Francisco late last night acting on a tip given by Hightower that he had discovered the grave and the body was exhumed by the light of a lantern.

Hightower is held by the police. He told of several clues which he had patched together in the search. He was told last Sunday by a woman named Dolly Mason that she had been with a foreigner who got drunk and tried to frighten her with a revolver and had told her he had killed a man with it.

Dolly Mason asked him where he put the body.

"He is not alone," the foreigner replied, "I have a man watching him all the time, a man who sits and cooks flap jacks all day."

Signboard Is Guide

When Dolly Mason told the man indicated anti-Catholic views, Hightower said he connected the case with the disappearance of the priest and knowing that a big signboard near the Salada beach depicted a chef frying flapjacks, he began a search there for the body.

He found a black rag and an empty shell, he said, and dug up a piece of bloodstained gunnysack from the sand beneath a cliff.

"That was enough for that day," he said. After pondering three days he went to the residence of Archbishop Edward J. Hanna and while waiting to tell his story to him, he related it to some newspaper men who took him to a newspaper office and called the police.

William Hightower, the discoverer of the grave, is a baker, now unemployed and has been in San Francisco only a few weeks. He came here recently from Lemay, Utah, where he was employed by the Southern Pacific railroad.

Married Oklahoma Girl

Hightower said he first came to this state from Texas in 1904. He said he was married in Fresno, California in 1910 to Ethel Bowers of Stillwater, Oklahoma. On account of her frail health he said he had his wife's sister come west and take his wife to Texas. This was about March 20, 1920, he said. He then went to Bakerville, Cal., where he operated a bakery.

After a short residence in Bakerville, he said, he roved the state in an automobile looking for someone who would join him in a manufacturing enterprise.

SOME BUMPER!

MANY PUPILS ARE NOW IN SCHOOLS

Nine Districts Average Near 100 Each; Late Report Shows.

Eight hundred and fifteen pupils, or an average of almost 100 to the school, are enrolled in summer terms of nine county schools visited by County Superintendent A. Floyd in his trips last week, a report made public by Mr. Floyd today shows.

The county superintendent was forced to dispense with his regular visitation trip this week because of the fact that his automobile is undergoing repairs made necessary when another car crashed into it here Sunday night.

Schools visited by Mr. Floyd last week were Colbert, New Bethel, Tyrola, Pleasant Hill, Franks, Blue Mound, Sunshine, Center and Latta. Largest attendance of the nine places visited was at Latta where 200 pupils are enrolled.

Colbert school is a three room building and has 75 enrolled for the summer term. A. R. Selph is principal and the district supplies a teacherage. New Bethel, of which A. A. Dean is principal, employs three teachers and has 90 pupils in average daily attendance, according to reports. Tyrola, under the principalship of Miss Roxie Sloan, has 45 enrolled.

Pleasant Hill school, a new brick building employing three teachers, is doing its first year's work with an enlarged teaching staff. M. P. Flowers is principal and the school will have a teacherage soon. This district has an attendance of 100.

Franks school, of which Miss Mary Rushing is principal, has an attendance of 50 and uses two teachers. Blue Mound, being taught by E. Roper and his wife, is using two teachers for the first time and has a new well and teacherage. An attendance of 60 is recorded.

Sunshine, a small school, has George H. Priest as its teacher and an enrollment of 15. Center employs five teachers, has 160 pupils enrolled, and has 20 students doing high school work. Mrs. Amos Old is principal. A teachers' meeting is held every Friday afternoon and plans are being made to participate in the township fair soon at Vanoss.

Latta has six teachers, 200 pupils, 17 in high school, and uses three trucks and a wagon. E. H. Gillerman is principal.

John P. Mack, of the American City Bureau, was in the city from Chicago yesterday on business. He met with a committee from the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce to discuss matters of business.

ADA NOW BOASTS REAL WHITE WAY UP MAIN STREET

Visitors to Ada this week have commented on the manner in which the business district of the city is lighted at night. Only yesterday two men from northern cities were driven out by the Normal on East Main street, from which they got an excellent view of the business district, and were surprised with the "White Way."

Lights under the awnings, electric signs, lighted show windows, lights in buildings and street lights gives Main street the appearance of a real white way, they said. It is believed that if a few more of the merchants and business men would put up electric signs, put lights under the awnings and otherwise add to the well lighted street, Ada would have a white way to compare with any in the state.

It is expected that within a few months an organized effort will be made to obtain a permanent "White Way" of a type most generally used in the larger cities. The proposed "White Way" will extend from the Frisco station to the Normal.

5 POWERS ASKED TO MEET NOV. 11

England, France, Italy, Jappan and China to be in Parley.

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Formal invitations will be sent today to Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan and China to attend the conference on disarmament and far eastern questions at Washington November 11.

The text of the invitation will not be available here before late in the day, it was announced at the state department. The invitations are understood to be identical and brief. They will be sent directly to the foreign office and copies handed to the diplomatic representatives of the powers here.

Preliminary negotiations have made certain the acceptance of the invitations and of agreements to open the conference on Armistice Day. It is expected that the acceptances will make clear how many representatives and experts each nation is expected to send.

Questions of housing the delegates and the selection of a building for the principal conference and the many minor conferences are being studied.

Further exchange of opinions on the agenda will probably continue. All thought of preliminary conferences have been abandoned.

Canning Kitchen to Be Complete Soon in C. of C. Rooms Here

Work was started today on installing a canning kitchen in the Chamber of Commerce building. As soon as it is completed, regular meetings will be held there by members of the girls canning and cooking clubs of the county.

Plans for the kitchen call for a gas stove, ice chest, water sink, cabinet, shelves, cooking equipment, and other necessary articles. This will also be a help to housewives who desire to receive instruction in special lines, it is anticipated. Mrs. Duvall, county home demonstration agent, will have charge of the kitchen.

LITTLE STOCK DISEASE REPORTED IN COUNTY

Pontotoc county is practically free from hog cholera and other diseases of livestock, County Agent J. B. Hill said today. Very few reports are being received from the county concerning stock contagion, he said.

Many of the larger hog dealers and raisers are vaccinating their stock this month and report marked success. This vaccinating has been a great help in preventing a spread of the disease in the county, it is said. Little trouble is expected this year from this source.

CHEF TELLS HOW HE FED GENERAL FOOD FOR THREE

(By the Associated Press)

PARIS, Aug. 11.—The latest war reminiscenses to be printed are those of the "chef" who presided over the destinies of the French General staff during the Battle of the Marne and who prepared the simple but abundant menu that Marshal, then General, Joffre sat down to at very irregular hours.

If the chef's culinary accomplishments were not superior to his literary talent then one pities poor General Joffre and it must have been a relief to the Commander-in-Chief to leave the mess table and return to the battle line.

"During the battle of the Marne," says the chef, "the General put away enough food to feed three ordinary men." Then he adds naively: "I hope Monsieur le Marchal won't mind what I say about the General."

One of the most amusing incidents related by the chef is that on September 12, when it became clear that the enemy was in full flight northward and that the battle was won, congratulations were in order and he received instructions that the menu for the dinner should be as much of a banquet as his raw material would permit.

Just as the meal was about to be completed a British automobile came up to headquarters with a basket of champagne as a token of congratulation to the French Staff. It came from a British unit "in liason." The chef was just getting ready to serve it when he noted that the bottles bore a German mark and he informed the officer of the fact. That worthy forbade him to serve the champagne to the staff and ordered him to throw the bottles away. "We did" says the chef, "but only the next morning and they were empty."

CHANGING VENUE TERMS IGNORED BY GOV. SMALL

(By the Associated Press)

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 11.—Aides of Governor Small refused today to discuss rumors of a move to begin habeas corpus proceedings by surrendering the governor's bond to the authorities in some other county in connection with his arrest on an embezzling warrant.

Although he submitted to arrest under protest, the governor showed no disposal to lessen his fight to evade prosecution.

Governor Small has not answered State Attorney Mortimer's offer of terms for a change of venue.

NEW TAX MEASURE READY BY MONDAY

House Committee Agrees Upon Changes in Bill; Finish Saturday.

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Practically all the important changes proposed to be made in the 1918 tax laws have been agreed upon tentatively by the majority members of the house ways and means committee.

Some minor revisions are under contemplation and when the final agreement is reached on all changes the physical rewriting of the law will be taken up. When they assembled today the committeemen believed their labors would be completed by late Saturday and the bill made ready for consideration by the republican conference next Monday.

The net reduction in the yearly tax total as a result of the committee's work yesterday was estimated at $555,000,000 with a total internal revenue income for the government of $3,110,000.

Newport Woman Last Near Living Kin of Declaration Framer

(By the Associated Press)

NEWPORT, R. I., August 11.—Henrietta Ellery of this city has the distinction of being the last surviving grandchild of a signer of the Declaration of Independence. She is the granddaughter of William Ellery.

Miss Ellery was born April 8, 1838, and has lived her entire life in Newport. Neither she nor her sister Mary, long since deceased, ever married. For a great many years they made their home in the Ellery homestead on Thomas street, the home of their grandfather, but this house is no longer standing.

The Newport chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution is named after this signer of the Declaration of Independence. It was at the invitation of Miss Ellery that the chapter was formed in his house in 1896. She has always been deeply interested in the chapter and kept up her active membership in it, attending all meetings, as long as her health permitted.

The trunk that William Ellery took with him from Newport to Washington when he went there to sign the Declaration is in possession of the D. A. R. chapter, a gift from the Misses Ellery.

Opposite the old homestead the family owned a three-cornered piece of land at the apex of which stood the Liberty Tree. A few years ago Miss Ellery presented this land to the city for park purposes. It has been improved, beautified and the city has honored the donor by christening it "Ellery Park."

HUSBAND STAYS IN HIDING, AFRAID OFFICERS WERE BAND TO MOB HIM

Tishomingo Family Is Broken When Mysterious Man Attempts to Drag Lowery Into Murder Plot; Officers Are Baffled at Situation.

Up in Pontotoc county courthouse today, Mrs. Richard Lowery and her little six-year old son sit waiting—waiting and watching for the appearance of their husband and father.

And somewhere outside of Ada, Richard Lowery is doubtless as eagerly straining his eyes toward the city, wishing he was with his wife and baby but afraid to come.

Law, the power that is protecting and feeding the wife and little child means no harm to Richard Lowery—but he does not know. He has chosen to be a fugitive because he believed officers to be members of a "gang" that meant to "get" him.

The story of Lowery's separation from his family really started some time ago with the murder of Marion Williams, former sheriff of Johnston county. Shortly before that time Richard Lowery and his small family circle had been happy. Then they became involved, by a series of circumstances over which they are believed to have had no control, in one of the most peculiar situations that has come to light in Johnston and Pontotoc counties in the last few years.

Invited Into Murder

A few days before Williams was shot, according to a stroy which Mrs. Lowery told here yesterday, an unknown man appeared at the Lowery home and tried to induce Lowery to kill a man named Phillips. This stranger said he was Marion Williams. Several days after the Williams murder, alleged to have been committed by Phillips, a band of armed men is said to have come to Lowery's home to investigate the shooting. Alarmed that he had unwillingly become involved in the murder, Lowery packed his few belongings into a covered wagon, disposed of part of his property, and started north with his wife and little child.

In the meantime, the county attorney of Johnston county learned of the strange night conference which the supposed Williams had held with Lowery. Then he got a deputy sheriff and started in pursuit of the fugitive Lowery family. They overtook the movers near the southern line of Pontotoc county, it is said, but were warned by Lowery to keep away from his wagon under threats that he would shoot. The two men hurried into Ada, swore out a warrant for Lowery on a charge of carrying a gun in order that they might legally seize him and hold him as a witness.

But Lowery was afraid. Believing he was to be deeply involved in the Williams murder case, he made more haste with his small moving outfit.

Fought for Liberty

Reinforced by Deputy Sheriff Byars Chapman from the Pontotoc sheriff's force, the Johnston officers went back to meet the movers. When the parties met, near Abbot's store south of Ada, Lowery resisted arrest and opened fire, retreating from the wagon into the underbrush. Officers lost the trail and he has not been found.

"I believe he will come," Mrs. Lowery said this morning as she hugged the little child closer. "I know if he understood he would come—but he does not understand. He thought officers were a mob."

Assistant County Attorney H. F. Mathis said today he was convinced that an attempt has been made to "frame up" a defense before Williams was killed. The ruse, however, apparently failed in its purpose and only served to break up a peaceful little home near Tishomingo.

Truck Drivers Shown New Routing to Stop Alleged Disturbance

As a result of several complaints turned in by residents of the city, an investigation has been started on the alleged reckless driving on the part of the truck men working for contractors on the Ada Allen road. It is reported that much disturbance has been caused since the extra shift has been added.

The truck drivers were before Mayor Kitchens yesterday and he submitted a proposed route down West Sixth street to Broadway down North Broadway to Ninth street and down East Ninth street to Mississippi avenue and down this avenue to the road. This will eliminate the danger and disturbance from the main streets of the city.

FIFTEEN ARE NAMED TO APPEAR IN KENNEDY CASE

(By the Associated Press)

It was intimated that others would be called whose names were withheld.

GEN. BRUSSILOF TO AID TURKS, REPORT

General Brussilof.

According to a recent dispatch from Vienna, General Brussilof is on his way to Angora, where he will aid the Turks in their coming action against the Greeks. General Brussilof was one of the most famous of the Russian leaders in the early years of the World war.

THREE BIG CASES NOW UP TO COURT

Cleo Gobin Appeal for Life to be Considered by Supreme Court.

OKLAHOMA CITY, August 11.—The state supreme court today has under consideration three important cases of state-wide interest, which it will probably decide within the next sixty days. These are: the state's appeal from the decision of District Judge Jones of Duncan, holding leases to school lands in the state did not include the mineral rights to these lands; the appeal of Cleo Gobin, convicted of the murder of Russell Sprague, Lawton taxi driver, from the court's sentence of execution; and the appeal of Charles Page, Tulsa, and those associated with him in his oil interests from the decision of District Judge Wright, holding Page had not legally leased valuable oil lands from which he was taking oil.

The decision of the supreme court in the case of the school land oil leases will affect all leases of this character in the state.

The Sprague murder was considered one of the most brutal in the state's history and the trial of Gobin and Will Tait, also convicted of the murder, was watched with more than usual interest throughout the state. During the trial Tait assumed all responsibility but recently he has expressed a desire to "tell all."

Efforts of Charles Page, wealthy Tulsan, to retain the valuable oil lands, which he obtained has been marked by many lawsuits and several sensations. The district court at Muskogee originally held that Page held legal title to the oil ands, which were a part of the estate of Tommy Atkins, Creek Indian. Judge Wright, at Sapulpa, recently ruled that these lands belonged to Sallie Atkins, who claims to be the mother of Tommy. Judge Wright's decision was followed by charges that he had accepted a $10,000 bribe in connection with his decision. He was held for perliminary trial, but the case against him was dismissed by Peace Justice Piltz at Sapulpa.

HOLY WAR PROCLAIMED BY KING OF HEDJAZ

(By the Associated Press)

ANGORA, Anatolia, Aug. 8.—A holy war has been proclaimed by the king of the Hedjaz as a measure for assisting the Turkish Nationalists in the fight against the Greeks in Asia Minor, it was announced here today. The monarch has done so for the saving of Islam.

ECONOMY AND PROFLIGACY

Economy and profligacy make a queer congruous team, but they are stepping along in double harness all the while. Side by side on most editorial pages you will find one editorial demanding a drastic cut in the governmental expenditures and another urging upon the attention of the national congress some proposition which involves the expenditure of vast sums.

Nor is this seeming conflict confined to newspapers and publicists. It is apparent on the floor of both houses. A senator one day permits himself to speak with feeling and splendid accuracy concerning the necessity for rigid economy in the public expenditures. The next day finds him on the floor supporting a measure which calls for additional expenditures, sometimes small and sometimes decidedly large.

A typical incident is at hand. No senator has been more outspoken against government profligacy than Senator Capper; none more urgent in his demand for a tightening of the purse strings. Yet just the other day Senator Capper offered a bill, which he asserts will pass without division, providing $500,000 for the purchase by the government of Monticello, the birth-place of the great Jefferson.

Now the controversy does not turn on the propriety of this measure nor the desirability of the government's establishing and maintaining such a shrine. There is no division of opinion concerning that; not a bit more than there might be concerning the desirability of purchasing a motor car for mother's greater comfort. But the point is that in the present crisis, when a people are groaning under tax burdens, when the congress is facing the necessity of taking four billions of dollars annually from the people's pockets in order to match the public expenditures, appropriation bills of any kind not absolutely necessary to the maintenance of an absolutely necessary public service, should be considered for a moment. To buy the motor car for mother when the family funds are low and a mortgage or two coming due, would be the height of husiness folly.

The purchase of Monticello can wait. It has waited for many years, not an hour of which but found the government better prepared for such an expenditure. It is perfectly all right, perhaps, for the present owners to make the vast profit contemplated in the sale. The fact that the property was purchased by its present owners for $2,700 and that they now ask the government to pay $500,000 is not in itself an argument against the purchase; because the private owner is entitled to his price, whatever it may be, if there is propriety in the purchase by the government at all.

The Capper Monticello case is cited only for the purpose of presenting an example of the great contradiction that is in evidence on every hand.

The World has said on previous occasions that the only way to economize is to economize. It is perfectly futile for General Dawes to be working to reduce the existing governmental structure when congress continues to busy itself spending money in new ways. Economy can come only by congress' setting its face sternly against any new project calling for the expenditure of funds. Its sole concern should be to stop the leaks already in evidence and under no sort of plea or presentment permit itself to create additional ones.

The outward flow of billions cannot be curtailed so long as the appropriating body is spending even thousands. That is self evident.—Tulsa World.

With some men co-operation ends when someone else advances an idea different from their own. It is the community where the citizens are broad minded enough to accept the best idea, no matter who originated it, that gets on the map. It is to this spirit that most of the best towns in Oklahoma, including Ada, owe their existence. In the beginning it was a gamble which villages would make cities and which left in the village class, but as soon as it became manifest which had citizens who would co-operate it was no longer a matter of doubt. Where factionalism prevails there can be no progress. Pull together and waste no energy in pulling against one another.

We want to commend the progressive spirit of Vanoss and the surrounding country in establishing one of the best consolidated schools in the state. It is a sight to make the heart glad for one to watch truck after truck leave the grounds, bearing joyful children three or four or five miles to their homes. With nine teachers and a giant brick building the children of the Vanoss section are to have the same educational advantages those in Ada get.

Poor old Tulsa is still wrestling with the problems of securing a supply of good water. That is the only obstacle in the growth and development of our big sister town, but it is a big one. Tulsa would pay a fancy price for a Byrd's Mill spring which has made Ada famous as one of the best watered towns in the state.

HARDING, AT PLYMOUTH, VOICES HOPE FOR WORLD FREEDOM

Part of mammoth crowd which heard President Harding at Plymouth arrow points to Harding) and a close-up of the president during his address.

Voicing the hope that world freedom will come through disarmament and the consequent diminution of wars, President Harding thrilled thousands of persons who heard him deliver a formal address at Plymouth, Mass., where, 300 years ago, the Pilgrims landed in search of religious freedom. The president's speech was the climax of the tercentenary celebration which has been under way a year. The closeup of the president shows his earnest attitude as he talked.

The Forum of the Press

As Long as "Wet" Money Holds Out.

Dearborn Independent: The "wets" and the "wide opens" find it hard to realize that they are the tail-end of a disappearing era and are shortly due to be jerked round the corner and out of sight.

For a long time objects of contempt and abuse, they are now in line to become objects of pity, which is the last stage.

They are now the victims of poetic justice—somebody is going to get their last cent, as the barkeep used to get the last cent of the beer-soak on pay-night. Somebody is telling the "wets" that they have a chance, that if they will play on the next turn of the legislative wheel they will win. The poor "wets" are falling for the "come on" game.

It is not surprising. There was never so stupid a business, so stupidly conducted, as was the liquor business. It generated the poison that finally killed it. Forty years ago the liquor traffic was fighting the enactment of laws prohibiting it from selling liquor to children! Twenty years ago it was fighting laws which were intended to keep the saloon from owning Sunday—as the Movies now own it. The liquor business flouted all American decency in the first place, poisoned its customers with chemicalized liquors in the second place; and then wondered why the wrath of America arose like a storm and swept it away. There have been only two businesses in history that deliberately killed its customers—one was the saloon and the other was the brothel.

Liquor propaganda will continue just as long as the "wets" have money to put into it.

The propagandists are not acting from principle or conviction, but for pay.

Aside from the boozy newspaper humorist who doesn't know that the New Era is here and who cracks his feeble liquor joke every evening—his bribe being nothing more, perhaps ,than a surreptitious "quart"—all the others are paid for their propaganda, just as the non-cigaret-smoking movie hero is specially paid to "roll his own" in a picture. On the stage, in the comics, everywhere, the "wet" money is being used.

Maybe it is used in Congress too.

Anyway, the plain American citizen who wishes ta understand the situation may rest assured of this: there is no public sentiment for the return of liquor or the saloon. Everything that resembles it is stage play, skillfully made up and paid for. When the money of the "wets" is all fooled away from them, America will be dry.

STATE BEE INDUSTRY IS GROWING RAPIDLY

As a bee state, Oklahoma is showing up front in fast style.

According to a bulletin issued today by the department of commerce the bee industry in Oklahoma has made great strides during the last 10 years. For instance, in 1910 there were 19,413 bee hives in the state, while the census for 1920 shows there are 46,743 hives doing a thriving business. This percentage of increase is 140.8.

And there are not many drones in the new hives because the report shows in 1909 there were only 140,234 pounds of honey produced but in 1919 357,677 pounds were collected. One thousand and eighty-eight pounds of wax were produced in 1909 while 2,916 pounds were produced in 1919.

The average price per pound for honey was 35 cents in Tulsa this morning which places a value of $125,186.95 on the 1920 honey crop.

Have You Whitewashed Everything Needing It?

Did you assist your wife with the spring cleaning? The fences and outbuildings should be painted or whitewashed. The chicken house and coops should also be whitewashed. There are sprayers on the market now that will handle whitewash easier and better than it can be done by hand. More farmers should use whitewash—and more would use it if they knew how easy it is to spray it on. I heard the governor of Louisiana say once that he wished the whole state could be covered by a shower of whitewash.

Whitewash and paint will not only make the farm look better, but will make the wood last many years longer. I give below the formula for government whitewash:

Slake one-half bushel of unslaked lime with boiling water; cover during process to keep in steam; strain the liquid through sieve or strainer and add to it a peck of salt, previously dissolved in warm water, three pounds of ground rice boiled to a thin paste and stirred in while hot, half a pound of Spanish whiting, and one pound of clear glue, previously dissolved by soaking in cold water.

Then hang this mixture over a slow fire in a small pot hung in a larger one filled with wafer. Add five gallons of hot water to the mixture, stir well, and let it stand for a few days, covered with dirt. It should be applied hot, for which purpose it can be kept in a large kettle or portable furnace. A pint of this mixture, if properly applied, will cover one square yard of surface.

Watch Out for Hog Lice

Give the hogs a chance to protect themselves. The average farmer fills a bottle with kerosene, sticks a bunch of fine pine needles into the neck, and sprinkles the oil down the hog's spine. But hog lice are found on other parts of the body than the spine. Why not use oil all over the body? Since kerosene is so volatile, it is not so effective as crude oil, which is thicker and sticks better.

I have described one method of oiling hogs. Another method is to tie a sack to a tree or post, and saturate it with oil. This is called a rubbing post. There are also a number of patented posts on the market. Then we have the dipping vat. This is good for summer, but rather cold for winter when the lice are most abundant. A hog wallow, having the surface of the water covered with crude oil is excellent, if properly contsructed and kept sanitary. But they are often neglected and allowed to fill up with mud and filth.

The best method I know for all season of the year is a sand wallow. Make a rough wooden box large enough for all of your hogs to lie in. It should be made of 2 by 10 inch planks and floored. Fill with sand and saturate the sand with crude oil, or other cheap heavy oil. Cover so as to protect the hogs from the hot sun and the weather. You will be surprised to see how easy it is to control insects by this method. In addition, the hair will be smooth and the skin kept free of mange.

Washita County Now First in Valuation of Farms for State

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 11.—Complete returns from thirty-one of Oklahoma's seventy-seven counties, made public today by the federal department of agriculture, show that according to the census taken by the department, farms in the counties completed were valued at approximately $621,694,078.

Comparative figures with 1910 were practically unavailable, the department said, since many county boundaries have been changed since then.

There were 191,781 farms in the entire state, the census showed.

Washita county ranked first in valuation, with $30,109,650 as the estimated value of farms and farm buildings. Tillman county came second with a $29,514,938 valuation. In Washita county there were 3,275 farms, according to the census, and in Tillman county, 2,269.

Oklahoma county had 2,960 farms and $25,530,000 for its valuation; Tulsa county had a valuation of $19,348,938, and 1,625 farms were credited; Okmulgee county had 1,865 farms, and a total valuation of $9,263,545; Muskogee county had 3,531 farms valued at $21,825,769, and Pottawatomie county had $21,932,586 fixed as the valuation of its 4,531 farms.

FRANK NORTH, "WHITE CHIEF OF THE PAWNEES"

Only once in history did Indians succeed in wrecking one of the "white man's iron horses," and this occurred in 1867 when a band of Cheyennes ditched a freight train on the Union Pacific near Plum Creek, Neb. A strange scene followed. Among the loot which the savages took from the wrecked cars were hundreds of bolts of calico. In a sportive mood, the young warriors tied the ends of the calico to their ponies' tails. Then they went careening over the prairie, the long waves of many-colored cloth billowing and floating behind them.

While the Cheyennes were still enjoying this sport, from the surrounding hills dashed a band of mounted Indians led by a white man of soldierly bearing. When the Cheyennes saw him charging down upon them, they fled in every direction, crying "The White Chief of the Pawnee! The White Chief of the Pawnee!"

Maj. Frank North was the "White Chief of the Pawnees." He had lived among them and they loved him. They adopted him into the tribe, calling him Pawnee La Sharo. This meant "great chief of the Pawnees" and chief even of the Pawnee chiefs. No other Pawnee and only one white man, Gen. John C. Fremont, ever held that title. Major North enlisted his first Pawnee scouts in 1864, and in every war on the plains thereafter they did valiant service.

The scouts were issued regulation blue uniforms, but they had their own ideas about how to wear them. A full dress parade was an amusing sight. Some wore only the trousers and were bareheaded; others wore the big black hat; but had a breech cloth in place of trousers; and others cut out the seat of the pantaloons, leaving only leggings. All wore spurs, whether they had on boots, moccasins or were barefoot. But they were good fighters for all of that.

They were with General Carr at the Battle of Summit Springs, Colo., in 1869, and here Major North killed the Sioux chief Tall Bull, although Buffalo Bill is sometimes credited with that feat.

During his scout career Major North became a close friend of Buffalo Bill, and when he disbanded his scouts, Cody and North went into the cattle business in Nebraska together, and were partners for many years.

ESKRIDGE WILL ARRIVE IN NASHVILLE TODAY

(By the Associated Press)

STILLWATER, Aug. 11.—Dr. J. H. Eskridge, president of the Oklahoma A. and M. college, was expected to arrive at Nashville, Tenn., today, preparatory to delivering a five day series of lectures at George Peabody college for teachers there, starting next Monday.

He will proceed to Washington, D. C., before returning here, to make arrangements for agricultural films for distribution through the Oklahoma A. and M. college, to Oklahoma high schools and consolidated schools.

PAN-PACIFIC MEETING OPENED IN HONOLULU

HONOLULU, T. H., Aug. 11.—The Pan-Pacific Educational conference opened here today in the throne room of the territorial capitol building, once the palace of Hawaiian monarchs.

The purpose of the meeting is to effect a better understanding of educational problems in Pacific lands and to correlate methods of instruction. Delegates include representatives of every country touched by the Pacific.

Welcome was extended the visitors by Gov. W. R. Farrington of Hawaii ,president of the Pan-Pacific Union, under whose auspices the conference is held, Alexander H. Ford, its secretary-director, Vaughan MacCaughey, territorial superintendent of public instruction, and Dr. A. L. Dean, president of the University of Hawaii and chairman of the program sub-committee.

Today's business included the formal opening session this morning with Dr. P. P. Claxton, former U. S. Commissioner of Education presiding, and general conferences this afternoon.

Interspersed through general conferences during the two weeks, sessions will be group meetings of educators from various districts bordering the Pacific.

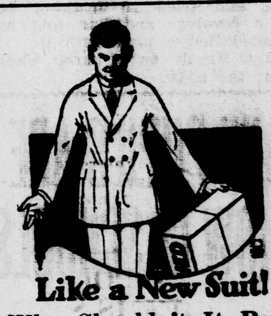

Dr. F. F. Bunker ,formerly associated with the U. S. Bureau of Education at Washington, now secretary of the conference, brought the gathering the greetings of President Harding.

IN SOCIETY

Summer.

Summer,
Rapture full,
Doth contemplate
No cooling fall,
Of wooing, satiate.

Summer—
With drowsing eyes
And lessening thrill
Beneath the burning of the skies—
Is yet more deeply stirred
With pride.
As she sees
A host of glowing blossoms
At her knees.

Summer
Doth contemplate
No barrenness;
No chilling irony of fate.
Mother proud.
She knows herself to be
Heaven endowed.

POTEAU POLICE CHIEF IS SHOT: INDIAN MAY DIE

(By the Associated Press)

POTEAU, Aug. 11.—Chief of Police L. W. Qualls was shot and slightly wounded and Walton James an Indian, was probably fatally wounded in a pistol duel here this morning. Qualls was shot through the left thigh. James was shot near the heart and in the abdomen.

The shooting occurred when Qualls attempted to arrest James on a misdemeanor charge at the home of a woman. According to Qualls the Indian opened fire on him the moment he discovered the arrival of the chief. Qualls was not downed by the bullet, but drew his gun and opened fire. Physicians expressed the opinion that James will not survive. Qualls has been chief of police but a few months.

Both of the men probably were fatally shot, physicians said later. They said Qualls has one chance in ten to survive and that James' death is certain.

ANNOUNCEMENT

We have opened a Cleaning, Pressing and Tailoring establishment at 105 North Broadway. We are prepared to clean, press, alter, dye or repair any garment in your wardrobe. We have had years of experience and are workmen of highest excellence and skill. We have studied our trade under government supervision, in college under Cleaner-Chemists, and have twenty-five years practical experience.

We located in Ada because we believe in Ada. We have faith in its future, in its citizenship and in ourselves. Our prosperity depends upon the prosperity of the community and our ability to please and satisfy you.

The old Journeyman Tailor is fast disappearing from the smaller towns, but we have ordered a complete line of woolens and in a short time will offer hand-made suits for ladies and gentlemen.

In the meantime will you give us a trial? When the work is returned we urge you to examine it carefully. Compare it with other work you have often received in the past and we are sure you will be delighted.

No garment or fabric is too delicate to be successfully cleaned and restored to its original usefulness.

We positively guarantee satisfaction and if our work does not please you we will be pleased to do it over or refund the price paid.

AIDING PIRATES IN PENNANT STRUGGLE

Catcher Walter Schmidt in action and First Baseman Carson Bigbee going after a high one.

Two of the Pirate regulars who have been playing a pennant brand of baseball for the Pittsburg Pirates are Carson Bigbee, lanky first baseman, and Walter Schmidt, backstop. Bigbee is considered one of the best fielders and lead-off men in the league. Schmidt, besides starring behind the plate, is a hard hitter and speedy on the bases.

FINE IS IMPOSED ON TRUCK DRIVER

Broke Funeral Train Is the Charge Against Man Here Today.

F. E. Northcutt, of Oklahoma City, who has been driving a truck for contractors on the Ada-Allen road work, was arrested and fined $24.75 in police court yesterday afternoon on a charge of disturbing the peace. Northcutt plead guilty to the charge ,the evidence showing that he interrupted the Whisenhunt funeral procession as it was passing down Main street Wednesday morning.

Members of the American Legion assisted in his arrest and are indignant, over the interruption of their services yesterday. Northcutt had no explanation to make and on default of payment of his fine was confined to jail. He was later released when a friend paid the fine. Members of the American Legion have warned him not to attempt a second offense of this nature, advising him to go back to Oklahoma City, since Ada was "too small for him," a member of the Legion said.

Persons breaking through the funeral procession yesterday caused much comment and the mayor has issued a warning that any such offenses will be prosecuted. It is also reported that the American Legion is prepared to help procecute those who insist in interrupting their ceremonies in honor of the returned dead.

BATTERY EQUIPMENT WILL BE SENT SOON

Complete equipment, including uniforms, camp outfits, trucks, horses, and field pieces will be delivery for the use of Ada Battery "F", Oklahoma National Guard, within the next week as it makes ready for starting the first annual encampment at Fort Sill about August 26, Captain Robert Kerr, battery commander, predicted today.

If first arrangements had been carried out, the local unit of the National Guard would have gone into encampment today. While on his visit here Monday, however, Adjutant General Charles Barrett gave notice that it would be impossible to arrange for a camp for local men at such an early date. In the meantime, preliminary surveys anticipating the formation of another Oklahoma National Guard outfit in Ada will be made.

Regular drill for men of the Ada battery will be held Tuesday night at the City Hall, Captain Kerr announced. This will be but little more than a week from the time the outfit is supposed to go into camp. Before the last of next week also, equipment for the battery is expected to arrive.

LOCAL NEGRO CHARGED WITH FORGING CHECK

Henry Franklin, negro, charged with forgery, will come up before Justice of the Peace H. J. Brown tomorrow morning for his preliminary examination.

FORMER SOLDIER HAS NEW COPPER PROCESS

LAPORTE, Ind., Aug. 10—Walter Bunton, former soldier and employe of the New York Blower Company here claims to have discovered what was thought to have been the lost art of tempering and hardening copper. He has offered his discovery to the United States Steel Corporation, which, it is understood, is investigating his method. It is claimed that the process of hardening copper, if feasible, would revolutionize the metal industry and that copper would be substituted for many purposes where steel now is used.

Bunton, it is said, chanced to find a few pages from an old encyclopedia lying on an ash pile. A picture caught his eye and he picked up a few pieces.

It revealed the story of an old Roman metallurgist who knew the secrets of tempering copper, but his art is said to have died with him. Bunton became interested and went to work on the proposition and now believes success has crowned his efforts.

His product of tempered copper, he said, is harder than tempered steel and means cutting tools in machinery that will not strike sparks and bearings in all kinds of machinery that will not burn out or crack.

Bunton is 27 years old, was wounded during the World War and it is stated, will be married in October.

Body of Fitzhugh Boy Will Be Sent For Burial Soon

The body of Joseph Webb, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Webb of Fitzhugh, is expected to arrive in the city within the next two weeks under military escort. The Ada American Legion will have charge of the funeral services, carrying out their full military ceremony.

Webb was killed in the World War. He has lived many years at Fitzhugh and is well known in this part of the county. The burial will take place in Rosedale cemetery. Announcement of the date of the arrival of the body is expected to be received here soon.

THE TRIALS OF A HOUSEWIFE

How They Have Been Endured and How Overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Experience of a Providence Woman

Providence, R. I.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a female trouble and backache. It began just after my baby was born, and I did the best I could about getting my work done, but I had awful bearing-down pains so I could not stand on my feet. I read in the papers about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and the good it was doing other women, and I have got dandy results from it and will always recommend it. You can use these facts as a testimonial if you wish."—Mrs. HERBERT L. CASSEN, 18 Meni Court, Providence, R. I.

Ohio woman for three years could hardly keep about and do her housework she was so ill. Made well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound:

Fayette, O.—"For about three years I was very nervous and had backache, sideache, dragging-down pains, could not sleep at night, and had no appetite. At times I could hardly do my housework. I got medicine from the doctor but it did not help me. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in a newspaper and took it with good results, and am now able to do my housework. I recommend your medicine to my friends and you may publish my testimonial."—Mrs. CHESTER A. BALL, R. 15, Fayette, Ohio.

An Illinois woman relates her experience:

Bloomington, Ill.—"I was never very strong and female trouble kept me so weak I had no interest in my housework. I had such a backache I could not cook a meal or sweep a room without raging with pain. Rubbing my back with alcohol sometimes eased the pain for a few hours, but did not stop it. I heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and six bottles of it have made me as strong and healthy as any woman; and I give my thanks to it for my health."—Mrs. J. A. McQUITTY, 610 W. Walnut St., Bloomington, Ill.

The conditions described by Mrs. Cassen, Mrs. Ball, and Mrs. McQuitty will appeal to many women who struggle on with their daily tasks in just such conditions—in fact, it is said that the tragedy in the lives of some women is almost beyond belief. Day in and day out they slave in their homes for their families—and beside the daily routine of housework, often make clothes for themselves and for their children, or work in their gardens, all the while suffering from those awful bearing-down pains, backache, headaches, nervousness, the blues, and troubles which sap the very foundation of life until there comes a time when nature gives out and an operation seems inevitable. If such women would only profit by the experience of these three women, and remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the natural restorative for such conditions it may save them years of suffering and unhappiness.

There is hardly a neighborhood in any town or hamlet in the United States wherein some woman does not reside who has been restored to health by this famous medicine. Therefore ask your neighbor, and you will find in a great many cases that at some time or other she, too, has been benefited by taking it, and will recommend it to you. For more than forty years this old-fashioned root and herb medicine hasbeen restoring suffering women to health and strength.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent to you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

EDMISTON BROS. RAISE FINE MILLET SEED

Instead of having to buy millet every season, paying a high price for it and not always knowing just what they are getting, John and Will Edmiston of Ada decided to raise a lot of the real article this year and have as fine a patch of seed millet on the outskirts of Ada as ever grew anywhere. They planted it in rows, using a cotton planter adjusted to their ideas, and then cultivating it like any other row crop. The millet is five or six feet in height and the heads are enormous in size. They are well pleased with the experiment.

SUNSHINE DOINGS

Prof. G. H. Priest began school at Sunshine, July 25. School is doing nicely and everything points to a successful term.

Rev. and Mrs. R. E. L. Ford of Ada closed a very successful meeting here Sunday.

There was quite a number of additions to the church, 16 being baptized in Blue river Sunday

H. G. Brents and J. M. Kirkes went to Roff Saturday.

Hubert Priest of Ada spent last week visiting his father and attending the meeting.

Brother Pitts went to Ada Thursday on business.

M. Conner went to Roff Tuesday.

Leon Brents and family who have been visiting his father H. G. Brents returned to Okmulgee Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Preston from Oregon county, Missouri are visiting at the home of their uncle, J. M. Cross near Sunshine.

Prof. Priest, Rev. R. E. L. Ford and Sampson Cantrell motored to Ada Saturday Also, Al Nabors, Quin Hooks and M. C. Hooks were at Ada on business Saturday.

The grain crop which was a very poor yield in this vicinity, has all been threshed.

PECAN GROVE CLUB ENJOYS HOLIDAY

Pecan Grove, four miles south of Ada, boasts of one of the best home demonstration clubs in Pontotoc county. The ladies hold their regular club meetings once a month and on the occasion of Thursday of last week they took their families to Byrd's Mill and enjoyed a holiday which they felt they had earned. Naturally the splendid dinner was all home grown and mostly from the well filled cellars of the members of the club.

MUSKOGEE —Building permits issued here this July exceeded those issued July one year ago, by $88,000. They totaled $105,930 for this July.

"I tell you the News want ads certainly bring results," is a statement made every day to the advertising department. Are you getting your share of these results?

DAIRY COWS THRIVE ON SWEET CLOVER

Clover is a crop that is gradually coming into its own in Pontotoc county. There are a number of large fields of this valuable feed in various parts of the county and its importance is being realized as it is tried out. One of the most striking examples of what can be done with it is exemplified by A. B. Myer at his dairy southeast of Ada. He has 120 acres, all of it poor land, some of which had been abandoned for several years. The clover is thriving and Mr. Myer says his dairy cows have held up better this summer than ever before, due to the clover pasture on which they range. The experience of Mr. Myer, who is one of the most successful dairymen in the county, is a valuable suggestion to others who need more feed and whose land needs restoring, for clover is a valuable soil improver.

FRANCIS AFTER NEW RAILROAD STATION

Plans for the new station, which were submitted to the city were refused, it is reported. Efforts are being made to get one of the corporation commissioners to come to Francis and look over the situation.

It is thought that if the commissioner comes here and looks over things, Francis will be able to get a much nicer station than the one that burned some time ago.—Francis Herald.

State News

ATOKA.—Atoka county's first Free Fair will be held three days in September, these days being either the 14, 15 and 16 or the 21, 22 and 23 of that month. Definite announcement of the date will be made in the next few days.

ATOKA.—An instructed verdict of "Not Guilty" was returned in the district court Monday in the case wherein the state of Oklahoma was prosecuting Frances Jamison for murder in connection with the death of her husband, Finis Jamison, who was killed at Bentley about a year and a half ago.

WEWOKA.—Capt. Lee Seran Monday began his duties as jailor under Sheriff Charley Brown, succeeding J. W. Sharp, resigned, who has acted in that capacity since Mr. Brown went into office.

WEWOKA.—John Clark, colored, who shot and killed Will Slaughter some five years ago in the Butner neighborhood, and who escaped with Gus Jones shortly afterward and was at large until recently, entered a plea of guilty to manslaughter in the district court Monday and was given a term of four years in the pen.

KENEFICK.—The hardware store of L. P. Jeffreys at Kenefick, was totally destroyed by fire early last Wednesday morning, building and stock being a total loss. The origin of the fire is not known. Mr. Jeffreys estimates his loss at $25,000.

PAULS VALLEY.—Davidson & Barrenger of Ardmore, started work Monday building platforms and sheds preparatory to installing a compress on the site of the old press that burned a few years ago. A platform 160x300 feet and sheds over the entire platform and plant will be erected. Twenty-five men were started to work Monday and a car of cement and nine cars of lumber were being unloaded with other material due to arrive soon.

PAULS VALLEY.—Wednesday night the Baptist congregation met and called to the pastorate Rev. Thos. P. Haskine of Walters, Okla., He has accepted the call and expects to move onto the field September 1.

OKLAHOMA CITY—The most complete fruit and nursery display ever shown in Oklahoma will be exhibited at the state fair in Oklahoma City next month and at the free state fair at Muskogee, according to John A. Whitehurst, president of the state board of agriculture.

TULSA—Tulsans were prohibited from sprinkling their lawns with city water recently, by an order issued by the water department which said that unless the practice was stopped, the department soon would be unable to furnish enough water for drinking purposes.

TULSA—The Prairie Pipe Line company has reduced wages to field employes working by the month, from $5 to $15 a month, and those working on an hourly basis, five cents an hour, officials announced. The cut is effective immediately, they said.

OKMULGEE—The city water here again has been declared unfit for drinking purposes.

ADA, OKLAHOMA

August 6, 1921.

TO ALL ICE DRIVERS:

You have certain responsibilities, and duties to perform, which are very vital to our CUSTOMERS, to your company and to yourself.

Your duty to your customer, and ours, are: to try and get to each house on your route, at about the same time every day; To deliver as closely as possible, the amount of ice desired by the customer; To be careful about placing ice in refrigerator, so that nothing will be broken, destroyed, or damaged; To close refrigerator and screen doors, and to use every precaution to see that nothing is left undone which would not be considered unreasonable for you to do; Last, but not least you not only should be, but you must be courteous to customers.

The largest duty to your company, is performed, when you have faithfully carried out those rules pertaining to our customers. In addition to this, all ice, ice coupon books, and other things intrusted to your care, should be properly and promptly accounted for.

Your duty to yourself, is to give the best that is in you. No man was ever harmed by giving honest, and faithful service. It is the premium paid for future welfare. BEAR THIS IN MIND: As long as your services are good and satisfactory, we appreciate you and those services highly, and would be foolish to try and replace you, should they become not satisfactory, we must do so.

Motorizing the Farm
Means Profit in the Fields

But, if a farmer doesn't know how to care for his motor equipment—if he uses it one season, then drives it off in a corner of the field to rust—his profit is turned into loss. There's where the specially-trained boy or girl has the opportunity to make farm life profitable.

New Kansas Stadium Will Be Ready This Fall for Big Games

(By the Associated Press)

LAWRENCE, Kan., Aug. 11.—Work has been begun on the new stadium and athletic field of the University of Kansas here, and it is expected that the stadium will be near enough completion to be used for the annual K. U.-Missouri football game this fall. More than $600,000 was subscribed.

The athletic field will contain a football field, a baseball diamond and a quarter mile running track, with a 220 yard straight-away track It will seat 32,000.

The space under the stadium will contain a cinder track for winter use and batting cages. In one section specially prepared loam will enable football players to scrimmage during the winter months.

Handball and volley ball courts and a shooting range are also planned. The football field may be artificially flooded to provide skating, and a large outdoor swimming pool is planned.

It won't help much to have ships carrying the American flag if they have nothing else to carry.—Worcester Gazette.

NATIONAL W. C. T. U. PRESIDENT RETURNS FROM SOUTH AMERICA

Five republics of South America were included in the tour of Miss Anna Adams Gordon and Miss Julia Freeman Deane, made in the interest of the cause of world prohibition. Miss Gordon, national president of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of the United States, and vice president of the world W. C. T. U., with Miss Deane, editor-in-chief of the official publication of the organization in the United States, The Union Signal, were commissioned by the national body to make a survey of Europe and the South American countries at the convention in St. Louis in 1919. They visited all the countries open to strangers in Europe in the spring and summer of 1920. This year they have made a tour of the Latin-American countries, including Peru, Chile, Uruguay, Argentine and Brazil. They will bring to the convention that meets in San Francisco, August 18 to 23, a prophecy from representatives of the government in Chile, Argentine and Uruguay that prohibition will be established there within five years. South America is watching closely the effect of the prohibitory law in the United States, both in its social and its economic aspects. Nothing but complete failure here could prevent the enactment of similar legislation there, and there is no thought of failure, either in the minds of the South American temperance workers, or here.

Indicative of public opinion towards prohibition is the attitude of the governments and of educators of the highest rank towards the cause. Because of this sympathy the teaching of scientific temperance is included in the curriculum of the schools, for which teachers are trained in the normal schools. To meet the question of economic loss the government of Chile has already instituted a program of propaganda to teach the value of grape culture for other purposes than the making of alcoholic beverages and is advocating legislation to provide financial aid for those who undertake the conversion of their plants to other purposes than wine making.

Residence of State Attorney Is Ruined By Dynamite Blast

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—A dynamite explosion at an early hour today wrecked the residence of Ashbel V. Smith, state attorney of Waukegan, Illinois. The Smith family was asleep when the explosion occurred and quickly rushed from the house, but no one was injured.

It is charged that the explosion is the result of a relentless warfare waked by Colonel Smith against illicit liquor sellers.

ALMOST BLIND AND A CRIPPLE

"My daughter was almost blind with cornetis (inflammation of the eyes) and had inflammatory rheumatism so bad she had to use crutches," writes Mrs. W. F. Smith, Murphysboro, Ill. "The doctors gave her up," she continued, "so we tried a change of climate which did her no good. I read an advertisement for Mendenhall's Number 40 and decided to give it a trial. She improved after the first bottle and has taken in all five bottles. Her eyes have both cleared and her limbs are sound and well and she has not had the least symptom of the trouble returning. My daughter's case has attracted the attention of a number of rheumatic sufferers, as well as myself and we believe Number 40 is the best medicine on earth."

"Number 40" is recommended for blood troubles from any cause; chronic constipation, rheumatism, indigestion, stomach and liver troubles, eczema, skin troubles, etc. Acts on the liver removing waste matter from the system, thus cleansing the blood of all impurities, and doing away with the need of cathartic pills and tablets. FALSE CONCLUSIONS

One of the things pointed out in any book of logic is that a conclusion based upon a false premise, or a conclusion based upon too few examples, will be a false conclusion. Such a mistake has the Tulsa World made in an editorial under the head of "What Signifieth It?" The editorial says:

"A few paragraphs in the story of the Dempsey-Carpentier prize fight Saturday and a few in the story following, of how the victory of Dempsey was received abroad, may or may not have any significance with reference to the specious appeals that are constantly being made abroad for American friendship and support.

"There were hundreds of Englishmen and Frenchmen at the ringside. The sport writers, so marked were the prejudices of these gentlemen, felt justified in featuring the fact that "every Frenchman and Englishman was wildly shouting for Carpentier." George Bernard Shaw, the English writer, more often grotesquely absurd than informative or just in his writings, had a few days previous issued a phillipic against the American champion and accused every American writer of being corrupt and unfair.

"On the day following the fight foreign dispatches stated that news of the American victory 'astounded France and shocked England.' We submit that it is significant that England should have made the event almost a state affair and without exception assailed the American contender viciously and frenziedly; that the news of his clean-cut victory shocked the nation.

"France, of course, since one of her own sons was in the ring, was amply justified in her attitude towards the event. France had a perfect right to be shocked. But did England? Since the consensus of all sport authorities and writers thruout the world was that Carpentier was tremendously outclassed; that but one result could be expected—the early and overwhelming defeat of the French challenger—what can explain the English attitude but prejudice against America in this as in all things in the history of the two nations unless it was clearly to the advantage of England to dissemble?

"That is the significance we see in the incident."

With the same reasoning the American Legion could be classed as prejudiced against America and about nine-tenths of other American citizens. The English have never been prejudiced against America, are not now, and likely never will be.

A POOR LOSER

The Daily Oklahoman is showing itself a poor loser in taking issue with the opinion of a majority of the judges on the state supreme court bench in restoring to Mayor Walton the control of the police department. The people elected Mayor Walton to office more than two years ago by a good majority. At that time the mayor was in control of the police department, and in electing him to that office the voters said they wanted him to control it. Two years later the people did not elect Walton men, and the four commissioners voted to give the control of the police department to one of them. The courts hold that this cannot legally be done.

Now a good sport will take cheerfully defeat as well as victory. The Daily Oklahoman is a great newspaper and the editors ought to be game enough to realize when they are beaten. The way out of the matter, if a way out is really demanded by the voters of the capital city, is to recall the mayor. No one doubts the legality of such a move.

LANDMARKS GO

One by one the landmarks of Ada give way to modern buildings and the need of our commercial life. If one will go north on Broadway he will notice that the round bale cotton gin is being dismantled and the buildings removed. Modern business houses will take their place.

Old timers here cannot but have a feeling of sadness as the old buildings give way. They recall the joy that was in their hearts when the first cotton gin was erected here, when the first big store stuck its head up on Main street, how exultation has triumphed over a certain regret that comes when old associates pass from one's ken.

Old age gives way to youth, old things to new, antiquated buildings to modern.

The trade boosters from Ada report that they have been kindly received at all towns in this section where they have been. Ada merchants are already known for their fair dealing and progressive methods. The very fact, however, that the business men of Ada go out and meet the people, see their farms, and know the actual conditions will do much to create a better understanding all around. Much business has been going out of this section of the state which ought to stay here. We believe that such trips will help to keep it here.

Prospects for a good yield of corn are reported to be bright. Let us hope that they are not dimmed and that the farmers will reap abundantly and obtain a fair price for all articles for sale.

Tests of Civilization

McAlester News Capital: Sir Auckland, the British ambassador, says that there are three essential characteristics of a genuine, progressive civilization. It possesses a love of beauty, a desire for the truth and a spirit of service. In other words, it cares for art, knowledge and altruism.

These are certainly useful and illuminating tests to apply to any nation. Some critics may question whether the third quality is really essential to a nation, but the history of the world war ought to dispose of any doubts on that score. Germany had the love of art and the love of knowledge, but not the spirit of service, wherefore Germany's claim to real civilization has been challenged by all the rest of the world, and Germany today lies broken and discredited among the nations.

It is admitted, too, that of all the belligerents, the United States, during the war and afterward, showed evidence of the highest civilization by the very fact of its unselfish efforts. Altruism is, indeed a quality of this nation to a marked degree ,though it has sometimes seemed to be dimmed of late.

The desire for the truth is strong in America, as is shown by the general emphasis placed on education and the admiration for scientific discovery and achievement. The love of beauty has developed more slowly than the other two requisites but Sir Auckland gives the country credit for qualifying now in that respect, too.

If these are marks of a civilized nation, they are still more surely marks of the civilized individual and a test of personal development.

Financial Suicide

Hugo News: When the hired man goes out to the barn some morning and finds John Jones in the hay mow, swaying and twisting gently at the end of a long strong rope, about the first thing he does after he has cut the body down is to notify the coroner. The coroner, having viewed the remains and remarking that John is as dead as Connie Mack's chances to win the American League pennant, calls in a bunch of his cronies who need money, empanels a jury and holds an inquest. It is not long until the jury shirts its chew of tobacco and announces that John Jones came to his death by his own hand. The neighbors say: "Well, it's a pity John didn't have the nerve to fight his troubles instead of ducking them" and J. Jones is forgotten.

Not all killing is murder but death by one's own hand is not only prohibited by law but is regarded almost universally as the subterfuge of a coward to avow facing the future. Killing your own chances in life is financial suicide. Men who would scorn to end their lives no matter what their difficulties end their financial careers and do it with their own hands through failure to put aside a surplus, both to seize opportunities which are daily occurrences in American life, and to meet emergencies and disaster.

When such men are found twisting at the end of their financial rope, the only verdict a jury of peers can bring is: "Financial suicide." The putting aside of such a surplus has been made both convenient and easy through small saving accounts. Local bank savings accounts are specially adopted for saving and safeguarding. Money so placed will be safe and will return a sure and adequate profit.

In The Oil Fields

Gross production taxes of Oklahoma will come to $400,000 this year as compared with $1,300,000 a year ago, Frank Carter, state auditor, announced. The drop is due to the fall of oil prices, according to Carter. The state is now getting 3 cents a barrel tax on oil instead of the 7 cents of a year ago.

The lowest prices of oil and oil products quoted so far in the state were given by Bill Williams of Grandfield, who during a visit to the state auditor remarked that gasoline is selling for 13 cents a gallon there while coal oil is retailing for 3 cents a gallon.

Gross production taxes paid so far this year come to $94,000. They are just beginning to arrive at the auditor's office.

Transcontinental in NE NE of Section 14-5-4 had a fishing job again yesterday but removed the difficulty and has resumed drilling at about 1875 feet, according to word from the well this morning.

Expert Predictions

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Cotton production this year promises the smallest crop of the last quarter of a century, a forecast by the Department of Agriculture placing it at 8,433,000 bales or nearly 6,000,000 bales smaller than last year's crop and nearly 8,000,000 bales below the record crop of 1914. This year's average is 28.4 percent smaller than last year's.

The area under cultivation June 25 was 26,519,000 acres and the condition of the crop on that date was 69.2 percent of normal.

THE TRADE BOOSTERS HAD A BIG TIME

nesday insist they had the time of their lives. While the weather was hot and the roads dusty, they were combining pleaure and work and making new business friends.

Another trip is to be made Friday, taking in Francis, Allen, Steedman and Lula.

A FEW INCIDENTS OF THE TRADE TRIP

Joe Cole was there.

C. P. Penrose told a joke at luncheon at the Artesian.

M. C. Wilson made two brilliant speeches.

B. A. Pratt talked so much about the county fair, he even tried to look that way.

W. G. Moser had a blowout and then almost beat the crowd to Sulphur.

J. B. Hill drank too much sulphur water. Incidentally he gave much advice about boll weevils, late crops, etc.

J. E. Harris insisted on watching the round-up, being particularly impressed with the roping of the milk cow.

B. S. Baldwin wanted to know what had become of the jack rabbits.

Secretary Williams of the Merchants Association insists he can eat at the Artesian, provided they get the food to him.

W. A. Hill doesn't mind the sun if it stays in its own place. The band boys played the harder, the hotter the sun shone.

L. A. Braly knew everybody on the round. He says he has lived a small part of his life in that section, about thirty-five years of his life.

Langford Shaw had eyes only for the men, business men at that. He got back alive.

Byron Sledge missed his engagement to play tennis last evening.

Infertile Eggs

By Mrs. Elva Roberts Duvall

A fertile egg is one that if incubated under proper conditions will hatch out a baby chick. An infertile egg is one that will not hatch out a baby chick under any conditions.

The fertile egg makes the blood ring. Fertile eggs cost the farmers of the United States $15,000,000 each year. You can help to prevent this loss from blood rings by keeping the rooster away from your hens after the hatching season.

Hens running with a male will not lay any more eggs. The male only makes it certain that there will be a loss in hot weather. The fertile egg in hot weather begins to develop a little chick and then becomes chilled enroute to the consumer and thus begins to spoil. Infertile eggs will not spoil on the road to the consumer. After the breeding season sell or pen your males. Your hens, not running with a rooster, will produce infertile eggs These are the eggs you want in the summer.

Handle Eggs Carefully

The following suggestions will add money to your pocket:

Gather eggs twice daily; keep eggs in dry, cool room or cave; market your eggs twice a week; keep nests clean; sell or confine the rooster.

SPIRIT WORLD IS BROUGHT IN CASE

Mrs. Kaber Consulted With Medium to Kill Kaber Is Charge. -- ----

(By the Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, July 7.—Mysteries of the spirit world were discussed today in the trial of Mrs. Eva Katherine Kaber, charged with the murder of her husband, Daniel F. Kaber.

Mrs. M. J. Wade, who claims to be a spirit medium, told on the witness stand of visits by Mrs. Kaber to her home to obtain advice.

"I want you to try to get rid of Dan Kaber for me," Mrs. Wade asserted Mrs. Kaber told her on the last visit.

"How?" asked Mrs. Wade.

"I want you to kill him—any way to get rid of him. The man I love has no money, only brains, and Mr. Kaber has $50,000 life insurance," Mrs. Kaber is alleged to have replied.

Mrs. Wade had previously testified that Mrs. Kaber told her she had met a professor of an eastern college where her daughter, Marian McArdle was in school and that she loved him. On cross-examination by Attorney Corrigan, Mrs. Wade said that she had communicated with spirits since her birth.

"Can you get into communication with the spirit world now?" Corrigan asked.

"Yes, Sir."

"Go ahead."

The jury and spectators were all set for a seance but the court sustained an objection introduced by County Prosecutor Edwin C. Stanton.

Mrs. Wade then told how she communicated with spirits. On one visit Mrs. Kaber was accompanied by her spirit friends. Mr. Corrigan asked if they were "good spirits." Mrs. Wade said they were.

MONROE, Mich., Aug. 11.—Dr. George W. Harding, age 76, father of President Harding, was married today to Mrs. S. V. Erins, age 52, by Rev. Frank Nowles, pastor of the Monroe Presbyterian church. After securing the license the couple went by automobile to the home of Senator Severns, where the ceremony was performed.

BIG MEXICAN OIL CARGOES TO U. S.

June Figures on Petroleum Show Vast Increase Over May.

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Petroleum shipments from the Tampico, Mexico, oil fields in June, aggregating 17,000,000 barrels reached the greatest volume of shipments for any month this year except January according to a report from the commerce department today from Vice Consul Hickerson.

The June figures showed an increase of 3,418,000 barrels over the May shipments and a decrease of 1,417,000 from those of January.

Because of the increased duty on Mexican oil, effective July 1, Mr. Hickerson explains, there was a rush to empty all the available storage preparatory to a cessation of shipments after July 1. In the division of shipments he reported that the United States received 12,557,000 barrels during June, approximately three million more than in May and 75 percent of the total net shipments.

FLOYD URGES CARE OF COUNTY SCHOOL ROOMS

A statement in which he warns schools of the county that "there is much damage done to school property through carelessness and thoughtlessness of the different societies, club meetings, Sunday Schools, etc.," was issued today by County Superintendent A. Floyd.

This not only had its effect in the destroying of property but has had a bad influence in shaping the character of school children, the letter said. It also creates increased work for the teacher and janitor, it was shown.

Following is part of the statement sent to school boards:

"The school boards are custodians of the school district property. They have the legal right to adopt rules and regulations for the care of the school property.

"In the School Law, Section 90 reads as follows:

Public Meetings in School House: The district board shall have the care and keeping of the school house and other property belonging to the district. They are hereby authorized to open the school house for the use of religious, political, literary, scientific, mechanical or agricultural societies belonging to their districts for holding public meetings of such societies under such regulations using the school house as herein provided shall be responsible for all damages desulting from such use, and it shall be the duty of the school board to assess such person, society or organization the amount of damages, if any result from such usage and if not paid within five days, they shall immediately file complaint with the justice of the peace and upon conviction the offending party or parties shall be fined in any sum not less than five dollars nor more than twenty five dollare, said fine when collected to be turned in the county treasurer and credited to the school district fund of the district to which the said house belonged. If school is in session at the time the house is used for other than school purposes, the building shall be swept and cleaned after its use and before eight o'clock the morning following, and if not so cleaned and swept, further use of said building shall be prohibited."

"This sets forth very clearly the duty of the school boards along this line. I wish to urge upon all the school boards of this county faithfully to perform your duty in this matter, and it will save the district much unnecessary destructiveness."

11,000 TICKETS HERE FREE TO SCHOOL KIDS

Eleven thousand free tickets for School Day at the Oklahoma State Fair at Oklahoma City Friday, September 30 have been delivered to County Superintendent A. Floyd by the state Free Fair Association to be distributed to all school children of Pontotoc county who wish to attend that day.

In addition to these, about 250 tickets have been sent here for free use of teachers who wish to attend at the same time. One free pass, good for an entire week, has been given to each county superintendent in the state. It is understood that many schools of the state will dismiss for free fair day.

STATE'S LARGEST PLAYGROUND OPEN

Okmulgee Laborers Sweat Beside Capitalists to Provide Recreation.

(By the Associated Press.)

OKMULGEE, Aug. 11.—The largest playground in Oklahoma exclusively for children was dedicated to the city here today by the Rotary club, in behalf of W. R. Alexander, who donated the grounds, comprising a little more than half a block, to the club with the understanding that it would be converted to a playground for Okmulgee children.

The playground completed, represents an outlay of $25,000 according to Rotarians; $10,000 of this was donated by the club, and the remainder by business men of the city.

Organized labor contributed free the services of carpenters, bricklayers, painters and mechanics, and there was no talk of strike, as union members and "capitalists" worked side by side to complete the children's playground.

"My kid will sure enjoy this," one union member said, and the bank president working next him replied, "well, I'll bet mine would too if I had any—but that doesn't make any difference. I like to see happy children, and this work makes me feel good."

A wading pool, 75 by 48 feet, with a depth of from three to six inches, was filled with water, and the children in a rush disported in the water while the dedication ceremony was being completed.

Slides, swings, and teeter-totters were going the entire afternoon and evening while others of "Okmulgee's Own" builded tunnels and houses on the sand beach.

The entrance to the park is constructed of brick and stone, and the entire park is electrically lighted. "Grown-ups" will have no part in the park play, except to look on, the caretakers announced.

"This is a children's park, exclusively,' they said.

The Rotarians are allowed to superintend the park for one year after which it is to be turned over to the city, with the provision that it is to remain the city's playground —for children only.

HORSESHOE TOSSERS SEEK NATION'S TITLE

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 11—Efforts are soon to be made to bring together the three most expert horseshoe pitchers in the United States in a tournament here to decide the championship of the United States.

The world's championship is now claimed by two men, Frank Jackson of Kellerton, Iowa and Charles Bobbitt of Lancaster, Ohio. C. C. Davis of Columbus, said by many sport writers who have seen him in action to be the equal of either Jackson or Bobbitt, wishes to meet both.

Bobbitt won a national tournament held at St. Petersburg, Fla., last February under auspices of the National League of Horseshoe Pitchers, the oldest horseshoe pitching organization in the United States.

Jackson also won a national tournament held at Akron, Ohio, last August under the auspices of this league, but failed to participate in the later tournament in Florida. Bobbitt, therefore, claims Jackson forfeited the title.

Jackson has since affiliated with the National Association of Horseshoe Pitchers, which was formed last May at Akron. It will hold its first annual tournament at Minneapolis, September 7 to 9.

The National League claims the National Association is an outlaw organization, and the National Association is said to make similar claims concerning the National League.

Davis, the third of the trio, although affiliated with the National League, plans to enter the Minneapolis tournament next month.

At the Akron tournament a year ago, Bobbitt defeated Jackson in a single game, but Jackson won out on points.

ALLEN C. OF C. IS REVIVED AND PUT ON BIG PROGRAM

ALLEN, Aug. 11.—The Allen Chamber of Commerce, which has been inactive since the first of last January, was reorganized Tuesday evening at a meeting of citizens who have been voluntarily carrying on the work of a commercial body for the past eight weeks.

Col. John W. Davis, formerly of Ada, who has been identified with every movement for the upbuilding of this section for many years, was elected chairman, J. W. Pegg, vice chairman, and D. G. Johnson, secretary and treasurer. The old chamber membership will be secured by the canvassing committee this week. Among the things on the program for the new club is the completion of the work on roads leading into Allen, which is well under way, completing the work of oiling the streets, and continuing the semi-monthly trades days. All of this has been carried on almost to completion by the citizen volunteers.

Road Supervisors T. W. Bell and W. D. Cummings met with the citizens Tuesday evening and advised them on best methods to use in the road building campaign.

Red River Bed to Reveal Old History of Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 11.—Interesting history of the early days in Oklahoma and Texas that has never appeared in print will be brought out in the Red river boundary hearings which start at Hollis, Harmon county, early this month, according to John A. Fain, special assistant to the United States Attorney General, in charge of the boundary work in connection with the dispute between Texas and Oklahoma.

Mr. Fain returned recently from a tour of the entire boundary now in question. More than 200 witnesses will be heard, Mr. Fain said, including many old settlers in this state and Texas. Included are men who came to the country when Texas was a republic and some even when that territory was part of Mexico.

The hearings constitute the taking of evidence of the Oklahoma side of the question from county seat to county seat in the Oklahoma counties on the river. Following taking of testimony in the various county seats, the hearing will be moved to Oklahoma City where expert testimony of geologists, ecologists, and other scientists will be taken.

On September 16 Texas starts its hearings, beginning at Texarkana, and continuing in various border county seats. Oklahoma and the federal government's rebuttal will come next, closing October 24. Texas will then have until October 29 for rebuttal. Briefs and arguments in the case will be given before the supreme court of the United States at Washington on January 9, next.

Frederick S. Tyler, United States commissioner, will preside over the hearings on the river.

"JANE"

"Jane" to all intents and purposes is merely the name of a girl, or it might be "Aunt Jane" or it might be the name of some wonderful woman like "Jane Adams." Again it might be just any girl whom a balse young man refers to as his "jane."

But in the Ada Evening News, in different windows, on banners, paper streamers here and there this week one is met on every side by the simple yet wonderful name of "Jane."

"Jane" in this case is the name of a very wonderful Edison Re-Creation by Lanin's very wonderful orchestra, and is on sale this week at the "Edison store," the Ada Music Company.

For a long time the superlative value and beauty of Edison Re-Creations made it impossible to put out so called "Hits" with the rapidity of other companies selling phonographs. The superior value and superior tonal quality of the Edison made the demand so insistent that Mr. Edison set to work with his usual "slow but thorough and sure" policy and the result is what?

Well to make a long story short "Jane" was recorded from the manuscript, which means that the ink was hardly dry on the composers copy before Edison had it recorded on his wonderful instrument of Music's Re-Creation and was distributing it to the proud Edison owners all over the United States, Canada, Mexico and elsewhere.

This is only a mere taste compared with what the Edison Laboratories hold in store for Edison owners. Hits, recorded by the best of orchestras on the smoothest of records will be passed out to the public quite a while before any one outside of the music publishers, besides the composer, has even heard the song from the sheet music.

Edison first with the "Hits" is our motto. Blue Jeans, Sunny Side Sal, Watermelon Time in Dixie, Paper Doll, Down Yonder, Saturday Medley, are just a few of the latest hits scored by Edison. Watch our windows and the Ada Evening News for further and better news on Edison hits and know what they are singing and histling in little ol' New Yawk that is "New!"

Gray Whisenhunt Given Church and Military Final Honors.

(From Wednesday's Daily)

Last honors were paid to Ada's first dead in the World War today with the funeral services of Gray Whisenhunt, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Whisenhunt of 222 East

Tenth street, who was killed in action during the battle of the Meuse-Agonne on October, 14 1918. Services were held at the Catholic church on East Twelfth street with Father Charles in charge. Full Catholic ceremonies were carried out.

The remains arrived in the city Tuesday afternoon under escort and were carried to the home. From there they were taken to the church for ceremonies at 10 o'clock this morning. At the conclusion of the Catholic rites, the Ada American Legion took charge and proceeded to Rosedale cemetery where military honors were bestowed.

Coming north on Hope Avenue to Main street, the procession, lead by the band, turned west on Main and marched to Johnston avenue, then went north to the cemetery. The regular military procession with the band, escort and firing squad leading and the local Legion commander and a detail of soldiers following was formed. Sailors rode on the wagon with the body.

With a few words of tribute to the boy from the chaplain and Legion post commander, the firing squad discharged three volleys, taps was blown, and two echoes answered the sound of bugles as the soldier was lowered to his last resting place. Hundreds of people gathered at the cemetery and stood with bowed heads as the city's first boy, who has made the supreme sacrifice for his home and country was lowered into the grave. Whisenhunt refused an offer to be discharged after he had been wounded twice.

He was an only son and many kind words of sympathy were extended to his mother, father and sisters. Friends from a great distance came to join their sorrowing with that of the boy's family. Ada, in respect fo rthe dead, closed all business while the funeral procession passed.

George Littlefield accompanied his aunt ,Mrs. Gus Hicks, from Ada to her home in Fort Worth, Tex., for a visit this week. Mrs. Hicks was called here by the stabbing of her brother Joe McElreath recently.

COUNTRY FACES PROSPERITY IS ASSURANCE NOW

"Get Out of Pessimism" Harding Advises as Panacea.

CREDIT POLICY HARD

Some Banks Have Reserve Borrowing Power,But Others Don't.

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Explaining the difficulties of establishing a credit policy because of the varying practices of the 30,000 member banks of the federal reserve banking system, President Harding today told a congressional commission that progressive interest rates had been necessary as measure to penalize the heavier borrowers.

"Some banks," he said, "have a reserve borrowing power, while others in time of credit astringency go to the federal reserve banks and get widely, even dangerous, extended credit."

Credit policies of the federal reserve system continued under examination of a congressional commission Thursday, in a continuously stormy atmosphere, with Governor Harding of the reserve board as the sole witness.

Not Board's Fault.

"The federal reserve board didn't create this financial depression," Governor Harding exclaimed toward the end of the day. "It saw it coming, and got ready to protect things and people ought to be grateful it did so. Now all we need is cessation of pessimism, which marks bad times as foolish optimism marks good times. We all know now everybody was going crazy in the boom during the fall of 1919.

"This situation is going to work out. There's no comparison between the condition a year ago and conditions today. Take cotton, with a low yield, and exports picking up. Banks everywhere are fully justified now in carrying loans.

Quit That Howling.

"All we've got to do is to get out of ever-lasting pessimism, and quit saying everything is going to the dogs. Why, a man has to put up a good cheerful face if he wants credit. You can't talk to the banker like you do the tax assessor."

Previously a sharp passage had taken place in which Representative Funk, republican, Illinois, Representative Mills, republican, New York, and later Governor Harding participated.

"I'm keenly disappointed," Representative Funk said, "because the reserve system has been challenged, complained of, criticised and charged on one ground, that it has discriminated against agriculture. And we've not heard one word from this witness."

FARMERS ARE HIT HARD BY WEATHER

Late Corn Suffering From Heat in All Parts of Oklahoma.

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, August 10.—The week ending yesterday was declared unfavorable for crops in Oklahoma in the weekly crop and weather report issued here today by the United States weather bureau. Excessive heat was declared to have caused deterioration in all crops, early planted corn which is nearly matured being the least affected.

"Late planted corn suffered in all parts of the state, especially in the southwest where the drought is acute," the report states. "Cotton generally made satisfactory progress but deterioration was reported in some sections on account of scant moisture and intense heat. The condition of cotton is still fair to excellent in the north and western portions and generally poor in the south central and south portions.

Grain, sorghum, broom corn, sweet potatoes and peanuts continue in satisfactory condition but need rain in most sections, the report said. The broom corn harvest was reported to have begun in the west central area.

THE MEANEST PROFITEER

AUTO IS LOCATED; 2 UNDER ARREST

Missing Car Found Tuesday at Calvin and Brought Back to Ada.

(From Wednesday's Daily)

Clues which county officers expect to lead to the ending of another chain of automobile robberies were picked up yesterday when Joe Brown and O. J. Sheers were arrested. The two men are being held in the county jail today in connection with the disappearance Sunday night of a 1919 model Ford touring car belonging to S. H. Nowles from his residence on North Beard avenue.

The car was located yesterday by officers at Calvin and was returned to Ada after being identified. Links of circumstances which Sheriff Bob Duncan believes connect Brown and Sheers with the robbery are being followed out.

The men became stranded in Calvin, it is said, and aroused suspicion by their attempts to borrow money and buy gasoline.

Unknown persons took the car from almost directly under a window near which Mr. Nowles slept, sometime between 10 o'clock Sunday night and 6 o'clock Monday morning.

A reward of $25 for the car and $25 for the thief or thieves was offered.

ARMED BANDITS GET $25,000.00 IN FACTORY RAID

HACKENSACK, N. H., Aug. 5.—The county prosecutor's office was notified today that six armed bandits held up the paymaster of the Barrett Manufacturing company at Shadyside about eleven o'clock and escaped with a payroll of $15,000, to $25,000.

The paymaster, accompanied by an armed guard of five men, was traveling in an automobile when the holdup occurred.

SENATE COMMITTEE VOTES NEWBERRY CLEAR TITLE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Republicans of the senate privilege and elections committee today voted Senator Truman Newberry, republican of Michigan, whose election in 1918 was contested by Henry Ford, democratic nominee, a clear title to his seat. Democratic members of the committee all voted in opposition and the long contest now goes to the senate for the final decision.

H. C. Stephens, county commissioner, made a business trip to Oklahoma City today.

ASSAULT TO KILL IS CHARGE FILED

Welch and Son Will Have Preliminary Hearing August 19.

(From Wednesday's Daily)

Preliminary hearings of D. C. Welsh and his son, Edward, farmers of near Ada, charged with assault with intent to kill Joe McElreath on the streets of the city July 23, will be held Friday, Aug. 19, Justice of the Peace H. J. Brown announced this morning.

Filing of charges against the two men was delayed until only recently pending McElreath's recovery from a knife wound in the heart. Last week, however, when walking from the hospital down to the street Joe McElreath made it evident that his recovery was certain, County Attorney Wayne Wadlington filed charges. Bond in the case of D. C. Welch was fixed by Justice Brown at $3000 but Welch was released upon depositing $1500 in cash for his appearance. Edward Welch made personal bond for $2,000.

Upon being informed by the county attorney that the charges against him would be assault with intent to kill, D. C. Welch is said to have declared himself ready to put up a cash bail. When the amount of his bond was announced by Justice Brown, Welch counted out the sum in bills. He is said to have had about $100 in bills in his pocket at the time he was arrested.

Edward Welch's connection with the stabbing is said to lie in the fact that he stood by his father with an open knife in his hand and watched D. C. Welch assault the ranchman. After the stabbing, Welch and his son got into a farm wagon and were leaving Ada when they were arrested, according to Sheriff Bob Duncan.

Hailstorm at Alva Follows Scorching Day for All State

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, August 5.—Yesterday was the hottest day of the year in Oklahoma, according to a report compiled today at the United States weather bureau here. The average temperature over the state was 100.5 degrees .The previous record was 98.8. Lawton and Mangum were the hottest cities, with each recording 105 degrees.

Light to heavy rains fell over the northern part of the state last night and a hailstorm is reported at Alva. Temperature at Ada was slightly over 99.

PLUNGE IS NOTED IN LIVING COSTS

Federal Statement Shows Prices Dropping to Level of 1913.

(From Wednesday's Daily)

For the first time since August 1917, the retail price of food articles has hit a mark as low as 50 points above the market quotations back in 1913, a chart contained in the July, 1921 monthly labor review of the bureau of labor statistics indicate.

The peak of high prices was reached in June and July of 1920 when retail prices on food stuff hit a mark as high as 125 points above the 1913 basis.

Food in general had increased in price 119 percent from 1913 to June 1920, but in May of this year showed an increase of only 44.7 percent. The same period comparison for clothing shows a peak of 187.5 for June 1920 which had been reduced last May to 122.6. Housing has been the striking exception, it showing a gradual percentage increase in price until in May it stood 59 percent above the 1913 figure. Fuel and lights were at their highest in December, 1920, at which time they were 94.9 percent above 1913 prices. These have now gone down to about 80 percent. Furniture hit its high point also in June, 1920, with a rise to 192.7 percent above 1913 and last May had gone down to 147.7.

Miscellaneous articles were higher in May, 1921, than at any time since the increase in prices started early in 1913, the chart shows.

A survey of prices in 19 largest cities of the United States, representing all sections of the Union, shows an average percent decrease in the cost of living of 16.7 percent from June, 1920, to May, 1921 and an average drop of 10 percent from December, 1920 to May, 1921.

Greater Love Hath no Man; He Went Behind Bars With His Friend

CHICAGO, August 5.—When he found he could not get his friend, John Spencer, out of jail, C. H. Egan decided to go to jail with him and said some very uncomplimentary things about the police department when he got there.

Both will be given a hearing soon. Spencer visited Egan in the latter's room and Egan later missed $60. He had Spencer arrested but on returning to his room found the money tucked away in a dresser where he remembered putting it.

He tried to get Spencer out of jail but learned that a bond of several hundred dollars would be necessary. So he made remarks about the police department until officers locked him up for disorderly conduct.

LOWER REVENUE BILL WILL CUT TAXES TO CORE

$600,000,000.00 Decrease Is Planned by Harding in New Draft.

EXPENDITURE IS CUT

Treasury Estimate for Government Cost Being -- Butchered.

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—President Harding, having intervened to straighten out the tax revision differences between leaders of the house of representatives, treasury officials, and ways and means committee republicans, set to work today to draft a new revenue bill to yield $3,075,000,000 or approximately $600,000,000 less than had been suggested by Secretary Mellon.

This total was agreed upon last evening at a White House conference attended by the treasury secretary, Speaker Gillette, Representative Mondell, the republican leader; Chairman Fordney of the ways and means committee ,and other prominent house republicans.

At the same time a decision was reached, it was stated officially, to cut $520,000,000 from the estimated expenditures for this fiscal year, leaving the total at $4,034,000,000 as against the treasury estimate of $4,054,000,000. This will be accomplished, it is explained, by somewhat drastic slashes in the estimates for the war, navy and agricultural departments, the shipping board, railroads and the refunding of $170,000,000 of disbursements, on account of the public debt.

Chairman Fordney said his committee probably could have the bill ready for consideration at a conference of house republicans next Tuesday and leaders generally thought the measure probably could be passed by the house August 20, permitting congress to recess on that date for a month.

TWO MEN KILLED IN ATTEMPT AT ROBBERY

(By the Associated Press)

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 19.—Two men, one a policeman, were killed and another was seriously injured in an exchange of shots with four masked men who attempted to rob an employee of the Ford Motor company of a bag containing $8500 as he was entering the assemblying plant here this morning.

CAR STOLEN NEAR WINDOW OF OWNER

Sheriff's Office Seeks Lone Robber Who Took Nowles Auto.

(From Tuesday's Daily)

County officers are searching today for a clue that will lead to the detection of the thief or thieves who last night took a 1919 model Ford touring car from S. H. Nowles of North Beard avenue, sometime between 10 o'clock last night and 6 o'clock this morning.

The car had a glass broken out of the back, was equipped with shock absorbers and an extra sized steering wheel and had a complete set of new tires. Twenty five dollars reward has been offered for the car and $25 for the thief.

Mr. Nowles bought the house on North Beard avenue recently and was building a garage. The automobile was parked close to the house, almost directly under the window near which the owner slept. Neighbors said they heard a car cranked close to the Nowles house at about 3 o'clock this morning and saw one man drive off in a touring car that resembled the one missing. It is not known which direction the thier took, but a close search being made in surrounding counties by the sheriff's office.

Report on the Complete Boche Frontier Probe Ready Today.

PARIS, Aug. 10.—The Allied supreme council put the Silesian question, now apparently near a definite settlement, temporarily aside today while awaiting the report of experts engaged in drawing the boundary lines between Poland and Germany in this area, agreed upon in principle between England and France yesterday.

The experts informed the council that they expected to be ready to present their conclusion, embodying the complete frontier, by seven this evening. Thereupon the council decided that it would meanwhile discuss the Greeko-Turkish situation and the German disarmament question.

FEED CROPS BEST IN OKLAHOMA FOR YEARS IS ADVICE

From Friday's Daily

District Farm Agent T. A. Milstead was in the city from Stillwater today looking after various matters connected with the farm work in his territory. He was pleased with the crop conditions in the county after spending a part of the day in the Stonewall community.

"Farmers have made the best crop of corn and feed stuff that I ever saw in the state. These crops are already made and most of the farmers are in good spirits as a result of the success of crops this season. With the continued hot weather, activities of the boll weevil have been checked and a fair crop will be made, especially on the highlands," he said.

"I find that many farmers are looking around for hogs to feet this winter for market. A scarcity of hogs is reported, however, and many of those wanting them are unable to locate any for sale. With a bumper feed crop farmers in the district will be able to raise better livestock next year," Mr. Milstead added.

"Pussyfoot" Johnson Will Leave England for India at Once

(By the Associated Press)

COPENHAGEN, Aug 10—William E. "Pussyfoot" Johnson will sail from England for India the first week in August. The trip of the famous American prohibition leader is in response to numerous invitations from various temperance organizations and natives.

"Pussyfoot's" itinerary includes Bombay, Poona, Baroda, Lahore, Amritsar, Delhi, Cawnpore, Lucknow, Allahabad, Benares and Calcutta and has been mapped out by the temperance forces in India From India Mr. Johnson will go to Ceylon for a brief visit, in response to invitations from temperance organizations there and then sail for England.

Among the temperance organizations arranging Mr. Johnson's itinerary are said to be some of the most prominent persons in the social and civic life of India. The various native religions of India are what may be termed "prohibition religions." While native liquors are made and sold, and drinking has increased to a great extent even among many of the people whose religious tenets are opposed to the use of intoxicants, the temperance forces of India say they must combat the operations of the drink traffic which is largely in the hands of foreigners.

TWO NARROWLY ESCAPE INJURY AS CAR SKIDS

From Saturday's Daily

Oscar Gladden of this city and Earl O'Neal of Oklahoma City barely escaped serious injury when a light car being driven by Gladden "nose dived" 20 feet off a high graded road into the ditch below, on the road between Milo and Graham, 40 miles out of Ada Friday afternoon.

Neither of the men was injured. Gladden received minor bruises. The frame of the car was dented and the steering gear twisted. The accident happened when the bolt that holds the spindle came off, allowing one front wheel to run off the car.

PRISONERS LOCK JAILER IN CELL

Atoka Keeper Overpowered and Four Men Flee; Others Stay.

ATOKA, July 8.—Covering Jailer Ward with a revolver, four white men escaped from the Atoka county jail at about 5:30 this morning after locking the jailer in a cell. The fugitives have been trailed to North Boggy river bottoms to the west and appear to be heading for the mountains in the vicinity of Stringtown.

Ward, on entering the jail, located in the basement of the court house, started to release the prisoners from the cell where they were kept during the night. He was not molested until he opened the door. One of the men immediately covered him with a six-shooter and another threatened him with a steel bar.

Ward says he argued with the men fully ten minutes before they took the keys from him, pushed him inside locked the door and fled. The courthouse janitor saw them later running from the building.

Four other prisoners occupied the same cell. They refused to escape, although released from the cell when Ward was made a prisoner. They declined to accompany the others.

NURSES TO KNOW FATE THIS WEEK

Verdict in Devereau Murder Case Expected Before Saturday Night.

(By the Associated Press)

TULSA, July 8.—Judge Reckman Cole this morning overruled a demurrer offered by the defense to the testimony of the state in the trial of Mrs. Jesse James and Goldie Gordon, on trial for the alleged murder of Judge John Devereux, former member of the state supreme court commission, who died under mysterious circumstances. The ruling followed a lengthy argument.

Following the ruling the defense again protested against the admission of the testimony of Mrs. G. E. Thomas, given at the preliminary hearing, and Judge Cole again ruled in favor of the state that the evidence be admitted. The defense then centered their attack on th ruling of the court that the purported dying statement of Judge Devereux that he fell off the bed and struck the radiator be not admitted. The court ruled early in the trial that alleged statements made by the jurist while reported to be in a semi-conscious state could not be admitted as they were not spontaneous utterances.

The admission of this statement provoked a long argument and was occasioned by the return of W. Martin, chief counsel for the defense, who was absent during the last two days of the trial. Mr. Martin quoted from Associated Press account of the Kaber case at Cleveland, wherein dying statements of Daniel F. Kaber that his wife had plotted his murder, were purported to have been admitted into the evidence.

(By the Associated Press)

TULSA, July 8.—A verdict before Saturday night is believed possible when the court opened on the trial of Mrs. Jesse James and Miss Goldie Gordon this morning. They are on trial for the alleged murder of Judge John Devereux, former member of the supreme court commission, who died under mysterious circumstances. Judge Cole announced that he would hold night session tonight if necessary to bring the case nearer an end.

The two accused women were the jurist's nurses at the time he was found drugged and suffering from a wound.

Late yesterday Judge Cole admitted the testimony of Mrs. G. E. Thomas, who is in Minnesota at the bedside of her son. After temporarily ruling out the testimony she gave at the preliminary hearing Judge Cole deided to admit it when the records of the justice court were produced. She testified as to alleged threats against Judge Devereux's life by Goldie Gordon.

Expect Corn Crop to Be Biggest in 20 Years Record

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 8.—A reduction of twenty-one million bushels in the nation's wheat crop during the last month, probability of a record production of corn with the condition of he crop of July 1 better than it has been in more than 20 years, and a tobacco production of some 400,000,000 pounds less than last year's record crop featured the government monthly report issued today.

The forecasts of production and conditions was as follows:

Winter wheat: production forecast, 574,000,000 bushels; condition 77.2. Spring wheat: production 235,000,000 bushels; condition 80.8. All wheat production 809,000,000 bushels, condition 78.2.

Corn production: 3,123,000,000 bushels; condition 91.1; acreage 108,901,000.

Oats production: 1,329,000,000 condition 77.6.

Get Fight Results.

Disabled war veterans at the University hospital at Oklahoma City were given instant fight returns, round by round, last Saturday when Dempsey and Carpentier battled for the world's heavyweight title. J. C. Chatfield, assistant state adjutant, took bulletins direct from the Associated Press wire and relayed them by telephone to the soldier ward where the men received them as they sat in their wheel chairs or lay in their beds. No cheers greeted the announcement that the French war hero had been defeated by Dempsey.

MANY ARE BLOWN FROM SHIP DECK INTO THE OCEAN

Explosion of Boilers Sends Passengers From Sinking Boat.

SURVIVORS TALK

166 Saved From Alaska Tell How Ship Struck the Reef.

(By the Associated Press)

EUREKA, Cal. Aug 8.—Passengers and crew of the steamer Alaska were blown from the decks of the vessel into the ocean when the ships boilers exploded as the Alaska started sinking after twice striking on Blunt's Reef Saturday night, survivors brought here said today.

The steaer Anyox today brought 166 survivors of the wreck to Eureka. Seventeen dead were to Eureka. Seventeen dead were also brought here, including three women and a child. There were 31 others missing and believed dead. Twelve of the dead have been identified.

The full story of the sinking of the Alaska did not become known until survivors landed here. It was brought out that the Alaska was proceeding toward San Francisco in a dense fog when she struck a submerged ledge of the reef, the shock being almost instantly followed by another as the vessel struck an outcropping of the reef above the water.

The Alaska struck the reef shortly after nine o'clack. Immediately a wireless asking aid was flashed. Five miles away the steamer Anyox of Vanvouver, B. C., picked up the message and disregarding the fog and the danger of finding the same rocks as the Alaska, put on full speed and came to the rescue. At 9:30 the Anyox received the Alaska's last message.:

"We are sinking by the head."

Before the Anyox could reach the stricken Alaska, the latter had sunk

In the fog the Anyox came upon a lifeboat with survivors from Alaska. The boat was partly filled with sea water and oily scum. The oil, the survivors said, had been blown over them and in their boats by the explosion of the boilers, which wrecked the midship.

DIRECTOR WANTED FOR STATES VETS' BUREAU

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Senator Harreld of Oklahoma announced Thursday that he wants the organized former service men of Oklahoma to get together and agree upon a man for appointment to the new position created under the Sweet bill of state director of veterans' bureau.

The senator said action must be taken quickly since the pie hunters already are coming to Washington with an eye on the job and that if they should get a large number of indorsements it may embarrass him in indorsing the man selected by the former service men.

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace promised Thursday Representative Swank of Oklahoma that he would refer his warehouse bill to the bureau of markets for an opinion. The bill introduced at the beginning of the session provides federal aid for the construction of warehouses by the various states as a means of aiding the agricultural situation.

The postmaster general asked Thursday the civil service commission to hold an examination to fill a vacancy in the postmastership at Afton, Okla., a presidential appointment office.

AUGUST NINTH CELEBRATES AUTO MAIL ANNIVERSARY

From Monday's Daily.

August 9 marks the passing of a year since the first automobile ever permitted to carry first class mail from coast to coast arrived in New York from San Francisco in the remarkable time of 4 days, 14 hours and 43 minutes.

The return of this date brings the event very much to mind because the motor car quality demonstrated so convincingly then, is needed today, to even a greater extent. That quality is reliability.

If reliability and endurance under severe strains was ever proven, it certainly was in August 1920 when four Essex cars dashed across the continent, two east bound from San Francisco to New York and two west bound from New York to San Francisco. In each car were pouches of first class U. S. Mail and thus the automobile took its place as a history maker, along with the renowned pony express rider, the old stage coach and the first overland steam train.

PARENTS SUFFERING FROM LONG ABSENCE OF SON

(By the Associated Press)

MUSKOGEE, Aug. 6.—W. E. Ethridge, father of missing Malcomb Ethridge, was today confined to his bed unable to see friends as a result of the shock of his sons' continued absence. Mrs. Ethridge has been confined to her bed also, due to a nervous breakdown caused by worry over the fate of her son, who has been missing since last Tuesday.

Do You Know All Flag Etiquette? Here Are Some Rules That May Be Of Assistance to You as Patriot

Do you, Mr. Patriotic American, know exactly what to do when the American Flag goes by?

And do you, Miss or Mrs. Loyal American, know how to act when the National Anthem is played or the Stars and Stripes is carried by in a parade?

If you do, you are better informed than some of the neighbors in your block.

This is the belief held by members of the local post of the American Legion who as individuals have raised a protest to the behavior of many onlookers of Ada as the Flag draped over the coffin of the city's first returned soldier dead, passed down Main street Wednesday morning.

One former service man in the parade declared that of the hundreds who lined the main thoroughfare of the city, he counted, from his position in the parade where he could see over the entire crowd, only fifteen persons who conducted themselves exactly as they should though many, he said, attempted to show their respect.

Just to help everybody understand just what to do in the future, especially when Ada citizens come together to pay their respects to the body of another veterna killed in action, Legion men have cited a few simple rules of etiquette in the presence of the Flag. These apply only to civilians and are not offered in the spirit of criticism but of helpfulness, they said.

Just To Help You

When the flag goes by remove the hat with the right hand and hold it against the left shoulder If the weather is bad, in such cases as rain or snow, raise the hat a few inches from the head, continuing to make use of it for shelter. The same rules apply to civilian courtesy when the Star Spangled Banner is being played or when "To the Colors" is being sounded by a bugler.

It is improper for a civilian to snap into a military salute when the Flag goes by or the National Anthem is being played.

What a woman should do—stand at attention for a few minutes as the colors pass or the Anthem is being played.

"When in doubt, just remember that the place of honor always is claimed by the national colors and in peace as well as in war we cannot be too respectful to the Flag," a Legion man said.

OKLAHOMA BOILS IN RECORD HEAT

Bartlesville Is Hottest Point at 110 Degrees; Fall Expected.

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, August 6.—Temperatures throughout Oklahoma yesterday mounted to the highest levels of the season, the maximum being at Okemah where the mercury climbed to 109 degrees, according to a report to the United States weather bureau here today. The state average was 102.5 degrees and the lowest temperatures at Chickasha and Vinita; where the thermometer showed 100.

Officials at the bureau said that reports had not been received from all points in the state and that Okemah's record might not be the highest. They also said that from scattered reports from all over the United States, Oklahoma seemed to be the hottest state in the union.

Oher points in the state reporting excessive heat were Altus, Lawton, Mangum, Newkirk, and Woodward, with 107 degrees.

Today is not expected to be so hot and cloudy weather with scattered showers will probably reduce the temperature tomorrow considerably, officials of the bureau said.

Bartlesville Tops All
(By the Associated Press)

BARTLESVILLE, Aug. 6.—Yesterday was the hottest day of this season for Bartlesville, the mercury reaching 110 degrees, according to the weather bureau here. The intense heat of the day was followed by a windstorm last night which did no material damage.

U. S. Note to Mexico Believed Favorable to State Officials

(By the Associated Press)

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 6.—George T. Summerlin, the United States charge d' affairs here yesterday delivered a note from Washington to the foreign office, declared the Excelsior this morning. The newspaper claimed that it learned of the presentation of the note from an "authoritative source." Mr. Summerlin could not be reached for confirmation.

It was declared by the Excelsior that the demands of the United States incident to recognition have not been changed but that the new note contained a certain important stipulation which is acceptable to the Mexican government.

Hot Weather Diseases.

100 WOULD LEAVE RUSSIA FOR U. S.

American Officials Make Up List of Citizens Held in Prisons.

(By the Associated Press)

RIGA, Aug. 6—American officials here have prepared at the request of Washington a full list of all American citizens in Russia, including those in Bolshevik prisons. This list will be turned over to Walker L. Brown, European director of American relief, who will confer here with the delegates of the Russian soviet government.

Whether the United States will demand that all these Americans be sent out of Russia, or that only the six or seven persons imprisoned be liberated, is not known. It is certain that at least 100 claiming to be Americans are in Russia and are seeking to leave the country.

France Offers Help
(By the Associated Press)

PARIS, Aug. 6.—France, according to the Petit Parisienne today, recently asked the American government if it intended to administer the proposed relief measures for soviet Russia, and offered her own participation with the United States in a ration provisioning movement that might be under advisement.

The French government was informed by Washington, however, adds the newspaper, that the United States had no intention of participating officially in the relief movement, but would leave the whole problem in the hands of the American relief administration and other American relief bodies.

GEORGES WASN'T ONLY FRENCHMAN TO LOSE LAUREL

(By the Associated Press)

PARIS, Aug. 6.—Carpentier was not the first Frenchman to have the honor of competing and of being defeated in a world's boxing championship match, French statisticians have discovered since the knockout administered to Georges by Dempsey.

On July 28, 1751, a Frenchman named Petit, weighing 260 pounds and standing six feet four met Jack Slack of England, then the undisputed champion of the world. The purse was $500.

Petit, a combination of wrestler and boxer, jumped in the center of the grass ring as soon as the word "go" was given and seizing Slack by the throat with his left hand, began placing his right with great force upon various parts of Slack's anatomy. History does not record why the Harry Ertle of the time did not immediately disqualify the Frenchman but goes on to relate that "Slack swung a mighty right into Petit, much below the belt and that the Frenchman went down writhing in pain.

When he could summon enough strength to regain his feet, he immediately used one of them to send a well directed kick into Slack's shin. The Briton then swung right and left to the chin and the Frenchman was out cold.

"They were giants in those days and did not use eight ounce gloves" concludes the historian.

PELLAGRA "CURES" FLOOD STATE HEALTH OFFICE

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 6.—"Kill or cure" and mostly kill, is the title Dr. A. R. Lewis has given a score or more "cures" for pellagra, which have been received at his office since the announcement that the state contained about 500 cases of pellagra.

Among the "cures" many formulae for which were written by evident illiterates, were some which guaranteed to stop pellagra, tuberculosis and typhoid, within a week. All the promulgators of the medicines asked the sanction of the health commissioner.

SEVERAL MAY BE IN PRISON PLOT

More Than One Helped in Killing Demmer and Kolze, Belief.

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—The poisoning of Mrs. Marietta Kolze and John Demmer, eight years ago, was the work of more than one person, according to the testimony of two unnamed witnesses yesterday before coroner Peter Hoffman.

The Kolzes and Demmers lived in the same house in Sphieler Park, Illinois, it was said, Fred Kolze and Mrs. Demmer consolidating their families after the two deaths, with Mrs Demmer acting as housekeeper.

The last week Mrs. Demmer admitted, it is said, that she was jealous of Kolze's attention to another woman and that he told her that he had "done away" with his wife. She said she thought that Kolze used white powders.

Upon the death of Fred Kolze on July 18 an investigation was begun which has disclosed, it is said, that he, his wife and Mrs. Demmer's husband, had all been poisoned, the poison being slowly administered, probably through food.

Mrs. Demmer was arrested and released temporarily on a writ of habeas corpus. A report is expected today on a fourth body exhumed by Coroner Hoofman, that of Mrs. Lena Kolze, mother of Fred. Chemists have been seeking traces of poison in Mrs. Kolze's body.

AUGUST BUSINESS IS STRONG SAPS REPORT

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, August 6.—August business has started out with a boom throughout the state, according to C. J. Kendle, acting secretary of state. Since August 1, new business ventures including the addition of stock to established concerns, has reached $32,700,000 swelling the state treasury with $32,700 in fees.

The greater increased activity is found among the building and loan associations with increases allowed Friday in capital stock amounting to $1,500,000, Kendle says. The Home Building and Loan association of Tulsa increased from $4,000,000 to $5,000,000 capital, the Pauls Valley Building and Loan association from $300,000 to $400,000 and the Cleveland Building and Loan association from $400,000 to $500,000.

NOTE OF HOPE IS LEFT BY PACKERS

Business Cannot be Ruled by Artificial Means, Wilson Says.

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—The packing industry has about completed its post war readjustment and the condition of both producers and packers should rapidly improve, Thomas E. Wilson, president of the institution of American meat packers, told hundreds of packers from all sections of the country in opening the three day annual convention here today.

Mr. Wilson presented a survey of 170 non-packing industries which he compared with a survey of packing companies to show that the non-packers did less than four times as much business as the packers and made more than a hundred times as much. The packers complete survey showed an earned profit of $7,218,068 on an investment of approximately $590,000,000 and failed of $3,013,022,000, he said.

He also presented a list to show the price decline in wholesale meat products during the past year ranged from 60 to 47 percent. Practically all byproducts are lower than in 1913, he asserted.

"The decline of packing house products," Mr. Wilson said, "would be conclusive proof of the statement made by the packers that the business is governed by the law of supply and demand and is not and cannot be artificially controlled."

DAVE HYBARGER GIVES CHICKASHA BARBECUE

From Tuesday's Daily

Dave Hybarger, formerly of Pontotoc county but now chairman of the county commissioners of Grady county, gave a barbecue recently for county officials at his farm east of Chickasha, according to word just received here.

Following is an account of the barbecue taken from the Chickasha Daily Express:

Friday evening at his farm three and a half miles east of Chickasha Dave C. Hybarger, chairman of the board of Grady county commissioners, entertained the county officials and employees, with their families, at a barbecue supper.

"About 150 guests were present to do ample justice to the menu, which consisted of barbecued beef and mutton, with all the "trimmings," plus a treat of honey taken from the Hybarger hives.

Several talks were made in which there ran strong plea for co-operation among the officers of the county. Among those who talked were J. Roy Orr, assistant county attorney; J. E. Shelton, county judge; Tom McElroy, county commissioner and H. F. Allen, county superintendent.

Four American Boys Got 1 Cent As Reward for Deck Service on Way to Instruct French Scouts

(By the Associated Press)

PARIS, Aug.4—After 14 days labor as regular seamen on the United States Shipping Board freighter McKeesport, four American college studeuts have arrived here to assist in the instruction at boy scout camps which the American Committee for Devastated France, in conjunction with the three French organizations. The four, who have volunteered their service and who worked their way across the ocean are Barrie Rich of Yale and Poul North, Jack Danforth and J. Woods, all juniors at Princeton.

"I am sure we could qualify as first class painters and deck scrubbers after serving that two weeks apprenticeship on the McKeesport" said Barrie Rich. "We four were the only seamen on the ship who could understand English and as the officers couldn't speak any of the foreign languages which the other seamen understood they concentrated all their orders on us. We scrubbed and painted from dawn untill sunset and I guess we about painted the whole ship. At the end of the trip the captain gave us each one cent in American only as a reward for our good work. We all intended to frame it."

The men who have just arrived are part of the contingent of 16 Americans who will assist in the direction of the two summer scout camps which Lorne W. Barclay, National Director of Education of Boy Scouts in the United States, has come to France to establish, at the invitation of the French government. They will teach swimming, first aid, tree study and American scout games to the French boy scouts.

The two camps now open at La Croix St. Ouen, near Compiegne (Oise) and at Corey (Aisne) are the largest ever held in France and will continue until September 6. Under the direction of Dr. D'Eliscu of Temple University, Philadelphia, a model swimming pool has been formed at La Croix St. Ouen.

About 500 boys from villages in the devastated area are being sent to the camps as guests of American boy scout troops who are defraying the cost of $25 each for the maintenance of one boy for two weeks.

Modern Moses Leads New Yorkers Out into Idaho "Promised Land" By Long Caravan of Motor Cars

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—William D. Scott, modern Moses, led followers out of the captivity of New York toward the promised land of Idaho today in twenty-eight motor cars, each with a folding bungalow trailer.

They are the advance guard of 128 families, all city dwellers, who are "fed up" on brick walls, asphalt streets, subway smells, crashing elevated trains and all the rest of metropolitan prequisites. And their promised land is a new state-supervised irrigation project in Twin Falls county, Idaho.

The 40-acre tracts, which will be taken by the trekkers, were allotted recently in a drawing held at Scott's home in Brooklyn. On these irrigated tracts, these fleeing city dwellers hope to win new happiness and prosperity and enjoy the quiet of the wide places, where views are interrupted only by mountains and not by towering skyscrapers and apartment houses. They are inexperienced in the role of farmers. But they are pressing toward their goal with as much eagerness and enthusiasm as the Mormons under Brigham Young when they set out to cross the "Great American Desert" long years ago.

The land, they know, will be rich under irrigation. Other similar projects in Idaho have proved that. And these "exiles" will have expert help in planting their orchards and crops and in getting them to market. The state agricultural college of Idaho will supervise the work for the first year or so, until the emigrants "get the hang of it." Only 10 per cent of those making the trek ever have had experience on farms.

Today at the Brooklyn borough hall officials delivered farewell addresses, wishing the emigrants godspeed and presenting them the flag of the old city of Brooklyn.

A "Buffalo Bill" Gun.

The Winchester Arms Company gave Mr. Scott a silver mounted rifle, a duplicate of the favorite arm of "Buffalo Bill" Cody. The weapon is symbolic, but may be needed to ward off the advances of chambers of commerce along the route who are expected to persuade the emigrants that they should go no further. After the ceremonies in Brooklyn the emigrants proceeded to Manhattan, where Mayor Hylan pronounced official benediction on the adventure.

The route to Idaho has been mapped by the American Automobile Association and civic organizations will provide entertainment for the caravans at each night's stop. The distance between Brooklyn and Buhl, Idaho, where the party will arrive September 9, is 3,093 miles. The schedule includes the following stops: Chicago, August 11; Ames, Ia., August 15; Omaha, August 17; Grand Island, Neb., August 19; Cheyenne, Wyo., August 25; Cody, Wyo., September 1. They also will travel through Yellowstone National Park.

Same Old Story But a Good One

Mrs. Mahala Burns, Savanna, Mo., relates an experience the like of which has happened in almost every neighborhood in this country, and has been told and related by thousands of others, as follows: "I used a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy about nine years ago and it cured me of flux (dysentery). I had another attack of the same complaint three or four years ago and a few doses of this remedy cured me. I have recommended it to dozens of people since I first used it and shall continue to do so for I know it is a quick and positive cure for bowel troubles." (adv)

AMERICAN CONSUL GETS THREATS FROM DOPE MEN

(By the Associated Press)

PEKING, July 3.—(Delayed)—Courageous action by American Vice Consul water A. Adams at Changha, which resulted in the breaking up of a nest of opium dealers operating under the American flag, caused threats to be made against his life, necessitating a guard of American soldiers in the consulate.

Dr. A. Linscheid and Prof. E. H. Nelson of the East Central State State Normal, accompanied by Prof. Vaughn of the Durant Normal, will return tonight from Pittsburg, Kansas, where they were called to institute a chapter of the Red, Red Rose.

CITY'S HEALTH IS GOOD FOR SEASON

Little Contagion and Fevers Reported Say Local Doctors.

From Friday's Daily

General health conditions in the cty and county were described by local doctors today to be unusually good for this season of the year.

No contagious disease has been reported in the city, there are few cases of continued fevers, and other forms of sickness are limited to isolated cases, doctors declare. It has been several years since Ada was so nearly free from contagions, fevers, and miscellaneous sickness in August as now, one doctor said.

Typhoid fever has not reached an epidemic state in the city, it is said. A few cases that have been reported in the last two weeks are under careful attention, it is said, and precautions taken are expected to keep down the outbreak of more cases. Good drinking water and generally good sanitary conditions about Ada are attributed as some of the reasons why health is above the average during the hot months.

"Health in Ada and the county is good as far as I can learn," Dr. Sam McKeel said. "Only two cases of typhoid are known to me and there is one case of tonsilitis that has been reported. I can't say as to the condition in past years but the health here seems remarkably good for this time of year." Then in a humorous vein he added "distressingly good for the profession."

This report was substantiated by Dr. B. B. Dawson. "No sickness, no contagion, no continued fevers—health unusually good for this time promise for the future, of year," he summarized.

Health of the county as a whole is better than for the city, Dr. I. L. Cummings, county physician, said this morning. Although comparatively few cases of sickness have been reported to him from Ada recently, the number is still smaller, in proportion over the county he said.

"Only a few cases of typhoid have come to my knowledge lately, Dr. Cummings said. "I think health of both the city and county is pretty good. Much of the sickness that has been thought typhoid has proved to be only bilious malaria, which is over the second week. That has been some relief."

Many Improving at Local Hospital Is Report Made Today

Favorable reports were given out by the local hospital today on the condition of patients. Four patients were allowed to return home Saturday. They are Joe McElreath who was recovering from a knife wound, Mr. Title of Shawnee, a traveling salesman taken suddenly ill while here last week, J. W. Flowers of Fitzhugh, recovering from an operation and Clem Wall, a boy taken to the hospital after an auto accident.

Other patients reported to be doing nicely were Mrs. R. Baughn, who is recovering from an operation and will return home in a few days, Mrs. W. M. Parrott of Konawa, who entered the hospital last week and Miss Myrtle Atkins, who underwent an operation last Monday.

WHITE SOX WILL BE BARRED FROM SMALLER LEAGUE

AUBURN, N. Y., Aug. 5.—The White Sox players who were involved in the baseball scandal in Chicago will not be permitted to join minor league clubs, J. H. Farrell, chairman of the board of the national association, said today.

"The jury tells us that crookedness in sports is not a crime in Cook county, Ill., in spite of confessions of guilt," said Mr. Farrell. "The jury should now be placed on trial for libeling the moral atmosphere of the people of Cook county, Illinois. The players will not be permitted to join minor league clubs."

SATURDAY TO BE NORMAL HOLIDAY

Change in Schedule for School Days Announced by President.

From Thursday's Daily

Preparations for the fall term at the Normal are continuing without interruption, according to a report from the office today. The holiday each week will be on Saturday instead of Monday as has been the custom, President Linscheid announced. Following are reasons given for the change.

By having the holiday on Saturday it will afford a better opportunity for athletics as games can be held on Friday afternoon and players will have to lose only a short time from their studies instead of a day and a half as they did last year.

It will also give students who work their way through school an opportunity to work on Saturday. More work is open on Saturday than Monday, which makes it possible for these students to get work. It will also allow students to make preparations for the coming week better than they could on Monday, Dr. Linscheid said.

This will also put the Ada Normal on the same basis as other state institutions in Oklahoma. Until now the Ada Normal was the only state school holding school on Saturday. Practically all state schools and colleges in the country have gone back to the "school on Monday" policy.

Residents of Ada with children attending the high school or ward schools and the Normal will also benefit by the change in that they will have all their children home on the same day, Dr. Linsceid stated today.

STORM IS REPORTED IN OKLAHOMA TOWNS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 5.—A severe windstorm is reported to have struck several parts of Canadian county last night doing considerable damage to crops. Forty telephone poles were blown down near the city.

Vinita Houses Wrecked

VINITA, Aug. 5.—A severe windstorm from the northwest struck this city late yesterday. A wall of the Vinita National bank building was blown in and a part of the roof of the new courthouse was ripped off. Trees were broken all over town and electric wires were grounded. A hard rain followed the storm.

Local Man Captures Scholarship Honors in University Work

NORMAN, Aug. 8.—While some Sooners were making history for the University of Oklahoma on the foot ball field by winning the Missouri Valley grid championship and still others were working on the debate platform, 109 out of the total enrollment were successfully striving for superior grades.

And, according to registration office statistics just completed by George B. Wadsack, assistant registrar, five Sooners made straight "A" average in grades, or a perfect scholarship during the fall and spring semesters of the 1920-21 university year. Eleven other students made an "A" average for one semester, and ninety-three students made an "A" minus average for the entire year. A straight "A" average means that student made between 95 and 100 percent in each course taken, while "A" minus is equal to from 90 to 95 percent, according to the grade schedule used by the University of Oklahoma faculty members.

Among the students who made these superior grades is Elbert O. Davis of Ada, who made an "A" minus average for both semesters.

WEAK, NERVOUS, ALL RUN-DOWN

Missouri Lady Suffered Until She Tried Cardui.—Says "Result Was Surprising."—Got Along Fine, Became Normal and Healthy.

Springfield Mo.—"My back was so weak I could hardly stand up, and I would have bearing-down pains and was not well at any time," says Mrs. D. V. Williams, wife of a well-known farmer on Route 6, this place. "I kept getting headaches and having to go to bed," continues Mrs. Williams describing the troubles from which she obtained relief through the use of Cardui. "My husband, having heard of Cardui, proposed getting it for me.

"I saw after taking some Cardui . . . that I was improving. The result was surprising. I felt like a different person.

"Later I suffered from weakness and weak back, and felt all run-down. I did not rest well at night, I was so nervous and cross. My husband said he would get me some Cardui, which he did. It strengthened me . . . My doctor said I got along fine. I was in good healthy condition. I cannot say too much for it."

Thousands of women have suffered as Mrs. Williams describes, until they found relief from the use of Cardui. Since it has helped so many, you should not hesitate to try Cardui if troubled with womanly ailments.

BOY INJURED TODAY AS CAR HITS WHEEL

From Saturday's Daily

An accident, which might have proved fatal, occured on North Broadway at 1:30 this afternoon when the Ada Milling Co. truck hit a bicycle on which Ted Williams and Edwin Mulkey, two boys, were riding. The Mulkey boy was slightly bruised and cut, but Williams was not hurt. Those who saw the accident said the truck struck the wheel when it started to turn in at the Ada Service and Filling station.

Young Mulkey was rushed to the hospital where he was examined and attention given him. The wheel was badly damaged, the frame and front wheel being broken. The truck driver said he blew his horn and warned the boys, who, in turn, declare they failed to get any warning. The bicycle was going north on Broadway and met the truck which was going south.

Life in China Is Not Bad as Reported Says Crane Party Observe

(By the Associated Press)

CHITA, July 8. (Delayed)—Living conditions in Chita as observed by one who accompanied the Crane party thus far on the journey to America by way of Russia are far from being as desperate as might be imagined from the reports of the political upheavals continually coming out of Siberia. There is no scarcity of food and almost all of the commodities of personal and household consumption can be found in the bazaar and market, at prices lower than those prevailing in Pekin.

The currency of the country consists of Russian gold rubles and Russian silver small coins, the latter minted in Japan as long ago as 1915 for the Russian government.

The public gardens, which are a feature of almost all Russian and Siberian towns, are patronized by reasonably well dressed crowds. In the city garden two orchestras play and there are frequent vaudeville performances.

Russia Faces Dark Economic Life for Summer Is Report

(By the Associated Press)

RIGA, Latvia, Aug. 6.—All Russian news sources, Bolshevik and anti-Bolshevik alike, paint a dismal picture of Russia's economic condition this summer.

Soviet neuswapers themselves admit that the famine which threatens the country may even be worse than in preceding years of the Bolshevik regime. On the other hand, the bolshevik government contends that, notwithstanding the great difficulties attending the change of Lenine's policies during what it terms as the present period of transition from civil war to peace, Russia is slowly, yet steadily advancing on the road to restitution of her economic life.

The agricultural macinery which has arrived from abroad will be of little assistance, this year, it is admitted. The crop failures in many governments have affected so large a proportion of the area sown that the machinery already on hand will be ample to harvest this year's crop In fact there are more machines than live stock to draw them and because of the drought the already depleted supply of draft animals is threatened with further extinction because pasture lands are drying up.

What business seems to need just now is a cougle of college-cheer leaders.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

SCOUTS REVEL AT TISHOMINGO CAMP

Ada Boys Battle Mosquitoes But Outing is Declared Great.

Reports today from the Ada Boy Scout camp at Desperado Springs near Tishomingo, said scouts are having a great time swimming, fishing, camping, fighting mosquitos killing centipedes and exploring the country. Plenty of eats, the fresh open air camp and fine fishing and swimming have made the trip worth much to the boys, according to letters sent home.

A truck load of the boys left the city last Monday morning and arrived at the camp about 5 p. m. Camp was pitched and first preparations made for a week of real fun. From that time not a minute has been lost and every opportunity for enjoyment has been accepted, the report says.

Prof. D. T. Bradshaw, who accompanied the boys and Scout Executive Harry W. Miller, returned to Ada yesterday. He was unable to spend more time in camp because of business. He is high in his praise for the place selected and believes that the boys could not have enjoyed themselves better.

No accidents or sickness was reported. Work in camp has been turned to keeping away the mosquitos and satisfying the appetites of the hungry boys. Plenty of fish are being caught, it is reported.

The party will return to Ada next Monday night, just a week from the time they first pitched camp. This is the first annual camp the boys have taken since the six troops of scouts were organized. Several advancements in scoutcraft have been reported.

'TWAS A GAY CAR BUT ITS CRUISE WAS MADE SHORT

(From Tuesday's Daily)

As Richard Cozad and Elzie Cozad, the former of Byng and the latter of Steedman, "rocked merrily along in their little car with a gay cargo behind them" they prehaps did not dream of what awaited them—otherwise they might have turned back.

Because they did not turn back both are in the county jail this morning facing the double charge of stealing an automobile wheel and casing and of transporting intoxicating liquor. About half a gallon of liquor was taken from the men and the automobile was confiscated, according to county officers. They were met by members of the sheriff's force about four miles north of Ada and brought into town.

Liquor charges will be filed against the two men in county court and other charges listed before a justice of the peace. Brady Watson and Jim Stutson were arrested at about the same place yesterday and another half gallon of liquor captured, officers said.

150 PUMPKINS MADE ON 30-YARD STRETCH

(From Tuesday's Daily)

A plot of ground 30 yards long and 60 feet wide has yielded high in pumpkins for S. W. Price, a farmer of the Lovelady community, according to a report made by him yesterday. Mr. Price was in the city with his first load of marketable pumpkins, ranging from 25 to 50 cents in value.

On this plot of ground he will have at least 150 good pumpkins, he said. This number will bring in enough money to double the amount any other crop would have made, not counting the smaller pumpkins which he will have for his own use. He stated that there was a good market for this product here and that he had met with success in his experience with them.

MAN IS CHARGED WITH LARCENY OF HARNESS

(From Tuesday's Daily)

Marion Allen, who lives west of town, was arrested yesterday by the sheriff's force and brought to Ada on a charge of grand larceny. Allen, it is alleged, stole a set of harness from a neighbor recently.

Charges of indecent exposure were filed in county court yesterday against Jeff Pegg and Tom Bennett.

JAPAN ASKS ONLY FOR SQUARE DEAL

"Challenge of Orient Is Not to Fight" Missionary Says.

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—America's policy toward Japan is one of unfair and un-Christian discrimination, the Rev. Dr. Frank Herron Smith, a Methodist missionary in Japan for 16 years, declared here today as he left to return to the Orient.

"Just so long as we persist in our attitude, just that long will there be a dark cloud of possible trouble hanging in the Oriental sky," he added.

"The challenge of Japan is not a challenge to fight. I was sent to America by our mission and by the Japan Methodist church to tell you that Japan does not want war but a square deal."

Dr. Smith suggested that the solution of the question might lie "in the decisive limitation of all immigration and in requiring all who come to the United States to become truly naturalized, honest-to-goodness American citizens," Japanese are now forbidden naturalization.

The missionary intimated that he endorsed Japanese expansion in Manchuria and Siberia, a movement which has disturbed American thought. "Is it not right," he asked, "that Japan should find outlet for her surplus population in the vast open spaces of Manchuria and Siberia? What has Russia with her penal colonies and her Bolsheviki ever done for Siberia any way and by what right does she hold it?"

The final remedy for all friction, Dr. Smith said, will be in Christianizing Japan. He said the way for missionary effort was especially clear there. "No mission field treats missionaries as well as Japan treats us," he said, "and no people love their missionaries as the Japanese love us.

"The anti-American feeling does not seriously interfere because the leaders of the Christian movement today are Japanese, and because the Japanese know that the American missionaries know them best and are thus their best advocates."

Santa Fe Railroad Sends Cinders for Use on Cotton Belt

From Saturday's Daily

Three cars of cinders have been given and delivered by the Santa Fe railway to be used on the Cotton Belt highway where it crosses the hill near the Oklahoma Portland Cement company, according to an announcement this morning by N. B. Stall, president of the Good Roads Motor club.

A request for this donation and service was filed with the railroad less than a month ago, Stall said.

The cinders were delivered to the crossing west of the cement plant and dumped yesterday. Workmen are busy today distributing the material over the road and putting it in good shape. The donation was secured through J. H. Shackelford, local Santa Fe agent.

"We are indebted to the Santa Fe and to Mr. Shackelford for this kindness. It shows an interest in the welfare of the city and county and the Good Roads Motor club appreciates the road's promptness," Mr. Stall said.

FINANCE NOW ON MEND IS BELIEF

Tulsa Banker Says Peak of Readjustment Has Been Reached.

TULSA, Aug. 9.—Confidence that the peak in financial readjustment especially in oil, has been reached in Oklahoma is expressed in a review issued here today by R. P. Brewer, president of the Exchange National bank, the largest in the state, and an official or director in 30 other banks scattered throughout the state. Brewer's bank is also the largest in the Mid-Continent oil fields.

Following is his optimistic summary: "In my opinion financial conditions in Oklahoma and the oil country in general have passed the high peak of readjustment and banking here is slowly but surely returning to a normal constructive basis predicted on readjustment values.

"Business in the oil country cannot open entirely on a forward basis until finances are on such a base, so it is highly important that all who depend upon oil, directly or otherwise should know the situation financially and gauge themselves accordingly to assist in the recovery of normalcy.

"That the peak has been passed in oil finances readjustment can but mean that the day is approaching when all lines of business in the oil country will feel favorable effects and corresponding benefits.

"It must be understood though, that there is yet a long road to travel before the desired can be fully attained. Just how long will depend on the co-operation given by those who should help banks attain this essential readjustment.

"Much of the trouble has been due to a general misconception of financial problems. People have talked about tight money, meaning that the banks alone had tightened up, a viewpoint which has caused many to devote valuable time to fault finding, which should have been given to solving individual problems of liquidation and credit readjustment.

Depression Is Explained

"The reason for tight money here as in all financial centers, is very simple though it seems not generally understood. As market values dropped it took more collateral to protect loans and a larger percentage of the earnings received from properties had to go toward meeting previous obligations based on higher valuations. Thus collateral held in reserve for new ventures had to be used to cover shrinkage and money turned over at a slower pace. This, in brief is the real cause for so called tight money.

"This situation brought about a period of business stagnation, pending slowed up liquidations, a situation which has been handled carefully and with a rather small percentage of actual loss.

"Each day sees the solving of problems. Each day sees the payment of more loans of the inflated period and the consequent release of more money for new ventures and purchases on the new market basis. This process is slow but it is surely occurring.

"I believe that business in Oklahoma will be on a progressive and steady basis by winter. I base this on my knowledge of general business conditions and the rapidity with which business is changing to a profit instead of a loss basis.

COTTON BELT HIGHWAY BECOMING POPULAR

From Saturday's Daily

From the Wetumka Gazette.

Since the marking of the Cotton Belt highway has been practically completed south of here to Sherman, Texas, tourists are coming over it almost daily. It will be the best marked highway in the west, and for this fact it is going to be the most popular highway in our state. On last Thursday morning a party driving a big Packard car left out of Dallas and were here at 9 o'clock, coming over this road.

But in order to make this road popular there must be some work done on it between Wetumka and Calvin, on the south, and Dustin on the east. Now that crops are out of the way there might be considerable free labor, secured, and with the aid of Good Roads Motor Club, some substantial work could be had.

If this road can be put in good shape and kept up, within twelve months time tourists will be coming through daily.

When the subject of adding 1c per gallon on all gasoline sold in the town, the revenue from the sales to be used on working and maintaining our roads, some were skeptical, believing the receipts would not be sufficient to do any good. However, the plan was adopted and put into effect on the 4th of July, and for the first four weeks ending July 30th the receipts were $116.75. This exceeds the amount expected and will go a long ways toward keeping up the roads, and those who pay the extra one cent do not feel it.

It has been suggested that the business men close their places of business one day each week for two weeks and work these places, also that the farmers along the road join in and give two days work.

Cause of Appendicitis

When the bowels are constipated the lower bowels or large intestines become packed with refuse matter, that is made up largely of germs. These germs enter the vermiform appendix and set up inflammation, which is commonly known as appendicitis. Take Chamberlain's Tablets when needed and keep your bowels regular and you have little to fear from appendicitis.

CONVENTION vs. PRIMARY

We believe the action of the Democratic state committee is turning down the proposition to make nominations for state officers by conventions instead of by the present primary system will meet the hearty approval of the people. The convention plan is a fine thing for the politicians who in bygone days dominated all parties, but the people seldom had much voice in naming their candidates. Just as a small group of delegates behind closed the doors agreed on the nomination of Harding for the presidency, so it used to work in other conventions. Instead of getting his nomination from the people the candidate got it by favor of the bosses. Referring to the national conventions, how many members of either of the big parties have in the past century had a voice in naming the candidates? Just a handful attended the precinct conventions which named delegates to the county conventions, a small bunch and the delegates elected to the national conventions usually went their own sweet way, regardless of instructions, and the majority simply follow the dictates of a group of manipulators. Consequently the men who actually name the candidates are very few.

Some years ago we made the round from the precinct to the national convention. About a dozen of us composed the precinct convention named ourselves as delegates to the county convention. When we arrived we found everything cut and dried and a fight useless. At the state convention a delegate simply came around and told us what the program was, who was to be elected officers of the convention and everything went through as per orders. At the national convention the rank and file of the delegates were permitted to parade and yell for their favorites, but the leaders were behind closed doors mapping out a program. When the time came the others were told what to do and they did it.

The primary system has its disadvantages and the people often make deplorable blunders in mistaking rank demagogues for patriots, but at all events the bosses have a harder time in controlling the situation and that means something, for the bosses are always strictly for themselves, and their nominees are men they know they can control. In one case the nominees are responsible to the people and in the other to the bosses.

It makes a big difference whether one is on the outside looking on and criticising the other fellow or on the inside trying to handle the job himself. When the Republican congress was elected in 1918 it was amid a blare of trumpets about how they were going to revise the tax laws and enact other needed legislation. President Wilson called an extra session and told them to get busy, that he was with them in this needed work. The session was spent in wrangling and nothing was done. The same thing followed at the regular session. The party was returned to power in 1920 with a big majority in both houses. President Harding called another special session and nothing yet has been done and is not likely to be done soon. Congress finds itself confronted with a big job in cutting expenditures on one hand and equalizing the taxes on the other. The job is not half as simple as it looked when the Republicans were in the minority and then there is the election of 1922 just ahead. That some sort of tax legislation is imperatively needed is admitted by all, but every time an attempt is made to shift part of the burden from one shoulder to the other a howl goes up and there you are.

Buck Campbell, who has edited the Waukomis Hornet since the memory of man runneth not to the contrary, and who has represented Garfield county in the legislature the past three or four terms, has been appointed register of the government land office at Guthrie. We have always insisted that nothing is too good for a newspaper man, so we congratulate our friend Buck on his preferment. John Golobie, editor of the Guthrie Register and state senator, wants to be appointed minister to Jugo-Slavia. John is an '89er and during all these years has been engaged in the newspaper business and has not starved. We don't suppose the Republican powers that be will call on the News for any advice, but again we say there is nothing too good for a newspaper man and naturally our sympathy is with John in his ambition to return to the country of his birth as the representative of the country of his adoption.

The News constantly urged the importance and necessity of a county fair for years before it was organized and now the people of various communities have gone one better by pulling off district fairs which do much to increase the interest in the county fair. Keep the good work going, for there is no other means as effective in giving the people a chance to compare methods and results.

AN ARGUMENT FOR DISARMAMENT

Almost every paper one picks up these days contains an account of the return of the bodies of soldiers from the battlefields of France. Every one of these cases is a silent appeal for universal disarmament, a league or association of nations, or anything that will lessen chances of war in the future. It was the flower of American manhood that fell and every funeral of one of these youths stricken down when life was sweetest and the future most promising strengthens the desire of the people for eternal peace.

The first step to be taken in this direction is for the great nations to agree to cease their mad race for military and naval supremacy. A large part of the burden of taxation will be removed when these senseless expenditures cease and the temptation to appeal to arms will be lessened when nations are forced to settle their differences by arbitration or in an international court of justice. If congress and the president heed the voice of the people the United States will continue to take the lead in the matter of disarmament and consequent removal of the constant temptation to deal with other nations on the basis of mutual suspicion and distrust. The world has seen enough of an armed peace with each nation straining to the limit to outdistance its neighbors in the matter of being prepared to start a whirlwind of destruction and devastation at a moment's notice.

One of our exchanges says it will neither support nor vote for a candidate for legislative office next year unless he is a stauch friend of the farmer. Well now brother, we fear you have tackled a hard proposition. All candidates are friends of the farmers before election, but that is about as far as they go with it. You can tell the age of a horse by looking at his teeth, perhaps, or judge the breed of a cow by her color, but that does not apply to political demagogues. They flourish because they know that the memory of the average voter is very short and that ten to one a crooked record will be forgotten before the next election rolls around or else he can dig up plenty of explanations that will pull the wool over the eyes of the voters.

Speaking of comebacks, Senator Tom Watson of Georgia is about the most striking example of the kind in the field of politics today. He was elected to congress in 1890 but defeated for re-election and also two or three more times when he sought to regain his seat. A candidate for the vice-presidency on the Populist party, Watson stayed out of the democratic party as long as there was anything left of the Populists. Then after having been a private citizen for thirty years he was elected senator from his state as a democrat. If Watson has changed his views, the public has not heard about it, but he is very much in the saddle just now. However radical he may have been in some lines, Watson has always been a bitter enemy to socialism.

Farmers are bringing produce to town in greater quantities than ever before, according to reports from housewives and grocery stores. The groceryman should co-operate with the local growers and assist in marketing their stuff at home. If this section can become fairly independent of other sections for food products, more money will be released for other things A prosperous country is one that provides its essentials first and makes money for luxuries second.

The EDITORS OWN COLUMN

By BYRON NORRELL

The News appreciates the assistance of its rural correspondents and would like to have something from every community in Pontotoc county. This is the best possible means of keeping in touch with one another and of keeping your community before the people. However, the editor must plead guilty to a piece of inexcusable carelessness. The day afer the paper came off the press last week a communication arrived and as it was too late for publication I laid it aside to be run this week and put it away so carefully that I have not been able to find it since. I regret this and if the correspondent will pardon me this time, will try to be more careful in the future. However, I would like to have these letters sent in early as possible, by Tuesday afternoon, if possible, but they must be here by Wednesday noon, for the News goes to press early Thursday morning.

The boll weevil is still the absorbing topic throughout the county. I made a trip through some fields Saturday where the number of new blooms indicated that the pest was not working quite so vigorously, but the effect of the rain Monday remains to be seen. However, there is one redeeming feature in the situation. There is an abundance of feed in the county. In times past we have seen the proceeds of a big cotton crop and all the money the banks would loan sent to Kansas for feed on which to make the next cotton crop.

A fair sized crowd was in the city Monday taking advantage of the bargains offered by the merchants in honor of Trades Day and doing some trading among themselves. Texans recall the big first Monday deals that have been pulled off since there was a state of Texas. Every trader in the county knows the rest of the fraternity and many others will be at the county seat and these days always mean a crowd and all sorts of trading. We would like to see the custom as firmly established here. When this is done every man will know when he may expect to sell his horse or cow to advantage and the merchants can be relied on to meet everybody half way in the matter of special prices.

A feature of Trades Day was an address by Mr. Mobley, demonstration agent for the International Harvester Co. Mr. Mobley went broke raising cotton exclusively and turned to his cows for support. He made a fair sized fortune shipping cream and he told how this was done and how others may do the same thing. He is not worried about an oversupply, for he says there is too much work involved to attract everybody, although he has found much less work attached to it than to raising cotton. He does not advocate confining one's self to dairying any more than any other one line, but as a meas of diversificatio he contends that it cannot be excelled. Being a Southerner himself Mr. Mobley dealt with problems faced by Southern people and did not give a lot of high sounding plans involving expenditures of heavy sums. Further mention of his address will be found in another column.

The Lehigh News makes the following very pertinent observation with which we heartily agree:

It is commonly remarked that the great majority of the men who have gone on to big success were bred in the country. There is a reason for that. From early life country boys and girls are given tasks to perform. The idle kid and street loafer, is an unusual character in rural community. Young folks get the habit of work ingrained into them. Faithful, patient industry produces results, and if the young folks have it in them to rise, they are not held back by the handicap of loafing that is acquired in city life.

Ada Baptists Enjoy Annual Outing With Sport in Mountains

(From Wednesday's Daily)

Several cars of Ada people have returned from the Baptist Encampment at Price's Falls on Falls creek in the Arbuckle mountains. They report a fine time and that the encampment is a great success. The daily programs, backed by swimming fishing and outing pleasures on the stream and mountains was as good as could be found in the country, according to those who attended.

Among the Ada people to return were Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Crowder, J. E. Harris and family, and J. C. Hynds and wife. Other Ada people attending the camp were Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Ellison, L. A. Braly and family, Judge Braly and family, Rev. and Mrs. C. C. Morris and others. Between 1200 and 1500 persons are in attendance at this encampment it is reported.

In speaking of the mountains, their streams, swimming facilities, views, and in general that which entices the pleasure hunters from the city, one man said, "I can not see why any one would want to leave this state to spend his vacation when every outdoor pleasure that is to be found anywhere is at hand. Oklahoma is equal to any state in the union in natural scenery and vacation requirements."

NEGRO SMASHES SPEED RECORDS IN HOT ESCAPE

(From Wednesday's Daily)

All previous records for speed, agility and successfully dodging city cops were broken yesterday when Ray Brown, alias Roy Smith and a few dozen other names, barely escaped capture by shaking the dust from a pair of fast feet.

This same fellow a "gentleman of color" with many names and a mania for forging checks is said to be the same that broke the speed limit last Saturday afternoon following an attempt to cash a "hot" check at Shaw's Department store.

The "alias" man had succeeded in passing so many hot checks around the city that officers were on the lookout for him. When he returned to the city yesterday, it did not take them long to get on his trail. Their success was at first assured, but the negro did the impossible, he escaped almost after the hands of the law had closed on him. Officers said that he ran as he had never run before, dodging, leaping, in fact did everything short of flying in making his escape.

SIX AMERICANS GIVEN FREEDOM TO QUIT RUSSIA

RIGA, Letvia, Aug. 10.—Soviet Russia has released six of the American prisoners who arrived at Narva, Esthonia, but the fact that only this half-dozen of the Americans were sent out of the country was said here today to threaten a long delay in and perhaps the abandonment of the negotiations for American famine relief in Russia.

The prisoners were released under a promise made by the soviet authorities at the time help was accepted from American relief organizations for famine suffering Russia.

In The Oil Fields

Producers and Refiners well, in the nw nw of section 6-3-6, went into a 15-foot gas sand late yesterday that produced about a half million feet of gas ,according to an official report from the well this morning .This was at a depth of 1138 feet. Drilling was continued and today had reached a depth of 1200 feet.

A depth of 2300 feet had been reached yesterday afternoon in drilling on the Transcontinental well, in the ne ne of section 14-5-4 a report this morning said. A job of underreaming was completed yesterday and satisfactory progress is announced.

The Carter well, an offset south of the producer, is reported drilling today at a depth of about 400 feet. This is in spite of considerable difficulty for the last few days caused by the necessity of repairs and rig building. Good headway was expected to be resumed this morning.

Abernathy's well, in section 8-4-5, about a mile south of the discovery well, was reported shut down yesterday for fuel. Drilling is expected to be resumed today or tomorrow, however.

MUTT AND JEFF—Some Autoing Experiences Are Better Left Unsaid. By BUD FISHER

Thomas' Machine Is Found at Ardmore and Brought to County.

The county sheriff's office reaped some harvest of weeks of hard work and thorough investigation into automobile robberies yesterday in the return ow two stolen cars, long given up as lost, to their owners.

Three months ago a Ford touring car was stolen from George Wilfong, a farmer living near Ada. Yesterday Wilfong identified the car which was found abandoned near the cemetery here. The automobile was located by a local garage man who took it in tow and notified the sheriff's force. Thieves who took the car abandoned it to escape being caught with the stolen property, it is believed.

A new Buick touring car, stolen about three weeks ago from Joe Thomas of Roff, was found yesterday at Ardmore. Buck Garrett, sheriff of Carter county, notified Sheriff Bob Duncan that the car had been found. Thomas identified the machine by private markings and it was returned. A garage man there said he had bought the car from a man at Duncan. The case will be investigated.

Negroes May Change "Boarding House" to State Penitentiary

From Saturday's Daily

At least two county prisoners will change their boarding house from Ada to McAlester Monday it was indicated this morning by County Sheriff Bob Duncan.

This will come when two negroes facing charges of grand larceny, plead guilty and are sent to the state penitentiary. Their pleas are expected to be entered before District Judge Al Johnson of Shawnee when he visits here. Although they have filed notice with the county attorney that they will admit the charge and change their eating place, they still have an opportunity to change their mind, instead. These with several others are contemplating pleading guilty to charges in the district court, it is said.

This will reduce the population of the county jail. With 34 in the Pontotoc bastile, accommodations are becoming somewhat limited. This is the greatest number in years that have inhabited the jail, according to the sheriff.

SNEADS RETURN FROM LONG TRIP TO TEXAS

From Friday's Daily

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Snead returned last night from a four day trip to Byars, Texas. On the trip they visited several places including Wichita Falls, Burkburnett and Ardmore, taking dinner yesterday with Mrs. Snead's parents at Daughterty, Oklahoma.

Mrs. Snead reports that in Clay county, west of Waurika, there is an abundance of fruit, especially peaches, and excellent crops. There is no trace of boll weevils and the cotton is in good condition. At one place they saw 1200 acres of cotton, with no boll weevils. She also stated that there were good rains while they were there, and that the watermelons were the sweetest she had ever eaten.

NEW STOCKTON AVENUE PAVING IS COMPLETED

(From Tuesday's Daily)

Finishing touches are being made today on the pavement job on South Stockton avenue. Tonigirt will see the work completed and after a matter of fifteen days the street will be opened to traffic, it is said. Only a small amount of work was left for workmen to complete today and it was wound up early in the afternoon.

More than 25 men have been used for this work. It is reported that work on the adjoining alley be started Monday or as soon there after as arrangements can be made.

TEMPTING "CHOC" SINKS IN EARTH AFTER THE DRAG

From Saturday's Daily

One of the biggest "finds" local police officers have made this year came to light last night when more than 40 gallons of first class "choc" was found in Dark Town. Chief J. P. Gotcher, J. A. Shirley and Jim Lillard made the raid.

No arrests were made and officers were unable to find a clue as to who "brewed the brew." A 16 gallon keg of the stuff was found in one barn and other quantities of it was found in cans, fruit jars, jugs and other containers. It was hidden under tubs, in weed patches, and stored away in barns. The entire drag was collected in an hour.

It was all poured out in the alleys of Dark Town, where the original owners could get a last smell, officers said. The long period of inactivity on the part of "choc" makers and bootleggers is said to be the cause of the raid. Officers suspicioned that a quantity was stored away. They are not sure as to whether they captured the entire store, as it was scattered in several places. They believe, however that only a small quantity, if any, remained after the "choc" was poured out.

QUAID TO HEAD A SCHOOL AT TULSA

From Saturday's Daily

Prof. T. D. D. Quaid, former superintendent of public instruction of Johnston county and also superintendent of the schools at Tishomingo, has accepted the position of principal of the University of Tulsa Academy. Prof. Quaid for many summers has been an instructor in the East Central Normal and has a wide acquaintance in Ada. He has recently taken his masters' degree from the University of Oklahoma.

In his new work, Mr. Quaid will be associated with Dr. J. M. Gordon president of the University of Tulsa.

Farm Short Course May be Given Soon at Aggie Congress

(By the Associated Press)

STILLWATER, August 8.—Short courses for farmers and farm women including study of a score or more subjects, have been outlined for the first four days of the Oklahoma Farm Congress, to be held at the A. and M. college here August 24 to 31 inclusive, according to an announcement made here today.

The short course plan is said to be new, insofar as it is applied to the farm congress.

Soil acidity and commercial fertilizers will be the subjects in agronomy to be studied the first day of the congress. Other subjects outlined for that day are: in animal husbandry, rations for brood sows and principles of feeding; in poultry, culling; in dairying, milk and cream testing; in entomology, rodent control; in horticulture, pruning; in engineering, terracing; in veterinary, importance of tuberculosis eradication and control; disinfection, agricultural economics, the relations of farm products; in home economics, clothing.

Short courses frothe second day include studies in soil moisture and organic matter, care and management of livestock, rations for beef cattle, poultry marketing, how to obtain good dairy cows and bulls preparation of spray material for horticultural products, farm water system, newer methods in jelly making.

Crop rotation, hog judging, queen bee raising, apple and strawberry culture, farm motors, preventation and cure of parasitic diseases in sheep and hogs and sanitation and health in the home, will feature the third day's study.

For the fourth day, study in cammercial graned of small grain, cattle judging, poultry diseases, testing skim milk and manufacture of dairy products, tomato and potato growing, sweet potato storage house construction, farm buildings, anthrax prevention and demonstrations in modern water and lighting systems, home decoration and simple steps in home improvement.

COTTON PRICE ON GRADUAL INCLINE

Alarming Crop Reports from Texas Force the Market Higher.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 6.—The continuance of unfavorable crop accounts from the interior, especially from Texas, and the continuance of dry weather in that state, with showers east of the Mississippi river, influenced values to a higher level today.

Crop advices from Texas are alarming, further deterioration reported heavy in localities claimed since July 25 when returns to the government indicated a production for that important state of only 2,443,000 bales vs. 4,326,000 last year.

Rain is claimed to be badly needed now in west, central and north Texas to check deterioration and revive the plant, but if rain should develop, it is likely increased activity of insects would likely follow. A traveling crop expert has expressed the opinion that unless conditions improve in Texas, the state will hardly make 2,000,000 bales.

In west Texas the drouth has been on for some time past, and reports indicate that the want of rain is beginning to tell on the crop in central and northern Texas, and there are no indications of rain for that state in the immediate future. As a result there are some complaints of hot winds injuring the crop already.

To the east of the Mississippi river damage from weevil activity continues and the return of showery weather in that section makes the outlook there more unfavorable.

Business in cotton goods is increasing and exports of raw cotton remain free.

Jobbers and spinners, likewise retailers, until now were afraid that prices would decline owing to the large carryover, but are commencing to realize that the smallness of the indicated crop, 5,163,000 bales less than last year against a carryover of 2,978,000 more than last season, is likely to result in higher prices ultimately, especially since prospects are for an increase in consumption this season of about 2,000,000 bales, consequently are buying more freely of the raw and finished product of late for export.

Washington press advices are to effect that Eugene Meyer, head of the war finance corporation, told the United Press that business is going to boom some.

It is becoming more difficult to buy spots in the south owing to the small crop prospects, and any demand of consequence will probably be reflected in higher prices.

GIRL REVOKES CHARGE AGAINST HER FATHER

(From Tuesday's Daily)

Charges of assault to rape were dismissed yesterday in the case of the state against C. D. Dodson, of near Vanoss, on the strength of a recounting statement entered by Mildred Dawson, his 13year old daughter who was the complaining witness. An affidavit revoking her charges filed a week ago before Justice Brown was signed by the girl. Dodson was under $500 bond.

Onie Knight, of near Lula, was bound over to the district counrt yesterday by Justice of the peace H. J. Brown and his bond fixed at $100 on a charge of cruelty to animals. Knight killed a horse belonging to J. A. Patterson, it was set forth in the complaint. He made bond.

CHIHUAHUA CITY, Aug. 6.—Warren C. Spurgin, missing Chicago banker, who arrived in Chihuahua City July 22, is in hiding not far from here ,according to M. E. Clinton, who declared here today that he knows the whereabouts of Spurgin but is waiting for word from Chicago before turning him over to authorities.

PLEA OF GUILTY OVER PHONE AND DEAL IS CLOSED

From Saturday's Daily

How a justice of the peace can do a thriving "mail order" business and at the same time keep the machinery of his own office running smoothly was demonstrated yesterday by Judge H. J. Brown.

Arthur Clark and Walter Carrell of Allen were in the county jail charged with carrying weapons and the former running an automobile without a license. Their bonds were set at $300 each awaiting a hearing August 16. Clark put up a heavy model touring car with Sheriff Bob Duncan for bail and the two men were about to go free. At this juncture, however, a phone call from Atwood, Oklahoma, revealed the fact that Clark was wanted there on a charge of grand larceny.

To secure his release, Clark plead guilty to the Atwood charge, the justice there fixed his fine and cost at $28, Clark wrote Justice Brown a check for the amount, and the deal was closed. Brown mailed the check to Atwood and a telephone order for Clark's release was given.

SOLDIER ALLOWANCE CHECKS MOUNTS HIGH

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—In carrying out provisions of the War Risk Act relative to payments of allotments and family allowances, which ceases to be effective after July 31, the Bureau of War Risk Insurance from November 1, 1917, to June 30, 1921, mailed out 19,487,503 allotment and allowance checks amounting to $604,032,807.37, it was announced by Director Forbes today.

This discontinuance of payments of allotments and family allowances by operation of law on July 31, 1921, means that neither allotment nor allowance will be paid by the War Risk Bureau covering an period from or after August 1, 1921, but does not preclude payment on an amount of allotment or allowance or both, due an alottee covering any period between November 1, 1917, and July 21, 1921, which may be made at any time hereafter by the Bureau of War Risk Insurance.

An ordinary letter asking for payment of any allotment or allowance within this period is a sufficient written application. In calling up a case, however, care should be taken to give the full name and address of the enlisted man, the organization in which he served, the army serial number and the allotment number of the case, also the full name and present address of the writer. The communication should set forth briefly, but as definitely as possible, the reasons why the alottee believes payments in the case are due.

After August 1, 1921, all allotments of pay made by enlisted men will be voluntary and will be made under regulations to be prescribed by the Secretary of War or the Secretary of the Navy, as the case may be, and in the future no family allowance will be paid.

ACHILLE BANK LOSES BONDS TO ROBBERS

COW IS SHOWN AS HELP TO FARMERS

"Oldest Teacher of Human Race" Teaches Thrift and Economy.

"Make the Cow Your Partner on the Farm," was the keynote sounded by H. S. Mobley of the agricultural extension division of the International Harvester company in his talk to a large crowd of farmers and business men at the county court house this afternoon. He encouraged home owners, and especially farmers, to take the cow into partnership, explaining how this would prove profitable.

Chart illustrations were used to emphasize his remarks on the milch cow and diary industry in general. He showed that the same amount of time spent by a man and wife and two children with 15 cows and 30 acres of land would bring in more each day than a cotton crop on the same amount of ground, eliminating the element of chance that is an important factor in raising a cotton crop.

Cow Oldest Teacher.

"The cow is the oldest teacher of the human race," he said at the begining of his talk. "She shows that the little accumulations each day, while they do not amount to much themselves, assume amazing proportions when added together.

"Farmers on average have not acquainted themselves with the numerous principals of economy and thrift to the extent they should," he said. "My experience that the cow is a greater help in economising than any other domestic animal. The reason farmers fail to study and care for milk cows is that it takes work, and lots of it."

The departmentized farm is the thing for modern farmers he believes. "The plan I would advise for departmentizing the average farm would be crops, chickens, hogs, cows and children," he stated, explaining things to consider in selecting an animal for dairy use.

Mobley is a practical farmer, having made a success of his farm life. He now owns a farm in Arkansas and lives on it. He is also proud of the fact, according to a statement made today. He was president of the Farmer's Union of Arkansas for several years, and is recognized as an authority on cattle throughout the United States.

MR. AND MRS. REED GIVE BARBECUE

From Monday's Daily

H. F. Reed and wife of seven miles south of Ada entertained about 35 guests from Ada and neighbors of the community in an all day picnic and barbecue at the farm on Jack Fork creek Sunday.

From the time the crowd began assembling early in the morning until late in the afternoon, the Reeds kept the chain of entertainment and hospitality unbroken. At the noon hour, big tables were spread along the cool banks of the creek and these were laden with barbecued mutton, fried chicken, all the vegetables of the farm, pies, and cakes. In the afternoon, cold watermelons were brought from hiding and the entire party was fed again. Later, an immense freezer of ice cream was tapped as a finale for the picnic.

Swimming in the natural tank near the farmhouse furnished afternoon entertainment for the party.

Besides neighbors of the Reeds who enjoyed the picnic, the following from Ada were entertained: Mrs. Lura Skinner, Mrs. E. L. Hawkins and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Riddle and family, Miss Rubye Andrews, Mrs. J. K. Reed and daughter, Magdalene, John Skinner, Powell West, George Erwin, and Dewey Neal.

WATER, WATER IS EVERYWHERE BUT BATHTUB IS DRY

TULSA, Aug. 6.—It's probably true that all Tulsa wants a bath and it also is probably true that nearly all Tulsa needs a bath. But how it will get it is the question.

The murky water of the murkier Arkansas river continued to ooze out of the faucets in all buildings, homes, hotels and restaurants today, putting the average housewife up against a new problem in domestic management.

Hotels and restaurants, perhaps, are the greatest sufferers of the "mud era". Only a few hotels of the city have their own private supply from wells. Guests in those hostelries which depend upon the municipal waterworks were going bathless today and probably will follow the same schedule for some time as Commissioner C. S. Younkman, water boss, announced this morning that the water will continue muddy until it rains. The river water is charged heavily with ash and the filters are unable to handle the extra burden. Yesterday only 5,000,000 gallons of water was handled by the filters while the average output for a 24-hour period is between six and seven million gallons. Mains will have to be flushed by a rain before water is clear.

HOW TO FIGHT THE BOLL WEEVIL

From Monday's Daily.

The extreme hot weather of the past week did much to check the ravages of the boll weevil and with proper attention a good cotton crop may yet be made. There are not enough of the old weevils to sting all the squares and if the young ones now in the larva stage can be killed, and the cotton kept growing and putting on more squares a fair crop can be expected.

It requires from fifteen to eighteen days for the weevil to develop from the egg. Loose dust is hotter than the hard dirt and if the squares falls on this it is pretty certain that the square will dry up and leave the larva without food on which to develop. Therefore, it is necessary to keep plowing the cotton, just enough to keep the cracks filled up and a mulch on top. Unless the cotton is high enough for the cultivator to shake off the stung squares a brush should be attached, thus knocking off the squares where they will dry up, instead of leaving them on the stalk where they will be shaded and the larva protected. This will also keep the cotton growing and putting on more squares and a crop can be made in spite of the presence of the weevil. This is the method employed in places where the weevil longasaF m h menace and crops are made there. There is no use talking about killing the weevil after he is fully developed, the only chance is to keep the ground stirred and kill the weevil in the larva stage before he can develop and increase to such an extent that it is impossible to deal with him.

LOCKE TO BOOST INDIAN SCHOOLS

Eight Tribal Institutions Expect Big Gain in Enrollment.

(By the Associated Press)

MUSKOGEE, Aug. 5.—An improvement in the maintenance of the eight Indian boarding schools of Oklahoma has been announced as the object of Victor M. Locke, Pr., commissioner of the Five Civilized tribes.

It is reasonably certain, he said today, that the Indian female academy at Tuskahoma will reopen this fall, after a year of idleness because of lack of funds.

At Cherokee Training school at Tahlequah, Okla., 250 students have declared intentions of attending the coming fall session, in comparison to the 150 who attended last year. This increase in student body has made possible, it was explained, by the erection of a dormitory costing $55,200. An assembly room costing $24,743 has also been erected. The students of the school erected a barn, and remodeled the school laundry during the last term.

At Bloomfield a dormitory and an academy dining room costing $70,000 has been constructed, and $6,000 has been used in building a barn. A new school is to be established at Euchee, and at Jones a new school building, laundry building, and assembly hall have been built.

In 2,306 public schools of Oklahoma, in forty counties there are 25,505 Indians of school age, according to information received by the superintendent from the state school board. The table shows 7,141 Indians in the restricted class.

Superintendent Locke stated that there is a growing sentiment among the full blood Indians for exclusive Indian schools.

French Farmers Earn Implements as Prize From American Board

(By the Associated Press)

PARIS, Aug. 4.—Fifty farmers from the cantons of Anizy and Coucy in the devastated area of the Aisne (northern France) are today the owners of agricultural implements given to them as prizes by Miss Anne Morgan and Mrs. A. Murray Dike of the American Committee for Devastated France in recognition of efforts they have made to restore their farms to their pre-war state. The prize winners were selected by a jury of French agriculturalists from 110 entries in two agricultural competitions.

The first prize, a seed planter from Louisville, Ky., was won by Albert Delan and his wife, 68 and 58 years old respectively, peasants from Allemant (Aisne) who, altho their fields were classed as "irreclaimable" by the government, returned to their farm, lived in a dugout and after two years hard labor succeeded in putting their entire farm under cultivation.

Cash prizes totalling 4,000 francs were also given by Miss Morgan and Mrs. Dike to the 30 farm hands in the cantons of Anizy and Coucy who were most meritorious. The first prize of 300 francs was won by an aged couple named Thuillet who served for 40 years on the same farm and who after the war, worked a year without wages because their mistress could not afford to pay them.

Through the co-operation of the American Committee with farmers of the Aisne, 25,000 acres of land ravaged by the war have been reclaimed and are at present under cultivation. The Committee has organized 32 agricultural syndicates among the farmers and has placed 40 tractors at their disposal. The two agricultural contests with prizes worth more than 20,000 francs is one of the ways in which the American committee is stimulating the farmers to do their utmost.

WIDE SWATH GONE IN TAXABLE LIST

House Committee Resolves to Make Sweeping Cut in Nation's Burden.

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Chairman Fordney and other republican members of the house ways and means committee will confer with President Harding late today on the general subject of tax revision. The discussion, it is understood, will center particularly upon what of the present estimated expenses can be provided for through other means than through taxation.

Secretary Mellon, Speaker Gillette, chairman of the house and senate appropriations committee, and probably some other republican leaders will participate in the conference.

Widespread Cut Planned.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Having agreed to the elimination of the soda fountain, ice cream and social luxuries taxes as well as those on wearing apparel and a 50 percent cut in the levy on sport goods, republican members of the house ways and means committee returned today to the job of revenue revision resolved to make further reductions in the total taxation the American people will be called up on to pay this fiscal year.

A 50 percent cut in the transportation levies, both passenger and freight, was declared to be practically a certainty. Those members who heretofore have urged immediate repeal of all these taxes were understood to be prepared to press the point with the argument that this could be done readily if the repeal of the excess profit and higher surtaxes is delayed until next January 1, as is now proposed.

The total loss of revenue involved in cutting off the transportation taxes was estimated at $260,000,000 or less, it was claimed, than the loss that would be entailed this year through making the repeal of the excess profits and higher income surtaxes retroactive to last January 1. It also was argued that the cutting off of the levy of freight and passenger traffic would prove of real ehlp to business through the saving in freight charges and the added expense of traveling salesmen.

Railway Shopmen Not to Strike and Force Compliance on Order

(By the Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, August 10.—Shopmen of the Pennsylvania railroad will not strike to force the company to comply with the order of the United States labor board to meet with their union employees and arrange the details for a new election of a committee to draw up a new schedule of working agreements.

The last threat of a strike disappeared today when H. S. Jeffrey of this city, chairman of the advisory board of the shop craft union of the Philadelphia-Camden district, announced today that the union would rely on American patriotism and public sentiment to force the road to obey the transportation act.

JAPS WILL HAVE OWN BLUE LAW ON SUNDAY

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Blue laws are having their powerful exponents in Japan as well as in the United States, according to information received by the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions at the Board's headquarters. 156 Fifth Avenue, New York City. Advices eceived bythe board are that the Tokio Chamber of Commerce has formally put itself on record by the adoption of a resolution favoring the closing of all shops on Sunday. Heretofore Sunday has been, as a rule, wide open.

Following this action a commission began studying not only of the Sunday problem ,but also of plans for improving the hours of labor through the week. The project calls for a weekly rest day, shorter hocrs and more considerate treatment of employees. This commission designs to provide a weekly rest day for all employees except in hotels, eating houses and public baths and also that working hours shall be restricted to 9 1-2 hours per day, with 8 hours only for young persons employed.

Another important piece of news reported from Japan to the Presbyterian board is the tendency of the priests of every denomination of Buddhism to popularize the Buddhist belief by participation in every sort of social service, which up to this time has been neglected by them. As a result a chair of Sociology has been established at the Jodo Sect College at Sugamo, at Setagaya and at Osaka, where every scheme and measure of social service is to be investigated. A social Service Bureau has also been established where relief work, special missionary work and other forms will be undertaken. The new temple of Zojoji, now under construction, will be the headquarters on its completion in 1924 and a special organization for social services will be formed by the priests of the Jodo sect, where funerals will be conducted for the poor families free of charge.

Prayers for the peace of the spirits of the fowls killed for the tables of Tokio residents will be offered by 300 poultry dealers of Tokio at the Hachiman shrine in Tomikawasho, Fukagawaku, twice a year hereafter. Heretofore this ceremony has taken place annually on September 20.

"KIT CARSON TREE" IS MARKED BY MONUMENT

(By the Associated Press)

CARSON CITY, Nev., Aug. 5.—Unveiling a monument near here, the Native Sons of California on Sunday will mark the site of the "Kit Carson Tree."

The California tree, a pine on which Kit Carson carved his name in 1844 when acting as a guide to Col. Fremont, has been given a place in the Hall of Fame for trees with a history by the American Forestry Association, following its nomination by F. N. Fletcher of Carson City, Nevada.

It was on this trip that Col. Fremont discovered Lake Tahoe. The pine was in a pass through the Sierra Nevada mountains. The tree was cut down in 1888 by William Thornburg and J. F. O'Gorman, the association's data shows, and the trunk with Carson's name cut in it was moved to Sutter's Fort, where it may now be seen. A full account of the tree's history has been sealed up in a container in the monument by Native Sons.

The hickory tree that grew in the fireplace of the Kansas log cabin of John Brown of Osawatomie and Harper's Ferry has been nominated for a place in the Hall of Fame by Miss Eleanor M. Freeman of Seattle, Wash. In 1875 Miss Freeman's father visited the John Brown farm, accompanied by a son-in-law of Brown. Only the log foundation of the cabin was left but from the fire place was growing a hicktory tree which Mr. Freeman trimmed and from a branch made a cane, which his daughter now has.

From Guilford College, N. C., has come the nomination of the New Garden Oak by Mark C. Mills. This oak saw history made in the Revolutionary war and near it the grand father of Joseph G. Cannon is buried. "Uncle Joe" was born at Guilford, May 7, 1836. In nominating the New Garden Oak Mr. Mills says:

"After the battle of Guilford Court House, Marcn 15, 1781, near what is now Greensboro, North Carolina, both General Green and Lord Cornwallis withdrew, leaving their wounded. These were cared for by the people of the Quaker settlement of New Garden, four miles and a half southwest of the battleground. Soldiers that died were buried in the shade of what is now a magnificient old white oak. Here in recent years has been erected a simple monument."

AGED ADMIRAL IS DEAD AFTER LONG NAVAL ACTIVITY

SAN FRACISCO, Aug. 10.—Rear Admiral George Fink Kutz, U. S. N. retired, second oldest living admiral in the navy, died here last night.

Admiral Kutz was 86 years old. Kutz was born in Wilkesborough, Penn., July 14, 1835. During the Civil war he was engaged in important tasks and received teh rank of rear admiral for his services. He retired from the navy in June, 1898 after 40 years of service.

YELLOW PERIL IS MENACE TO WORLD

"Asia at Door of White Man Nine Hundred Million Strong."

(By the Associated Press)

PARIS, Aug. 10.—Dr. A. F. Legendre, a French writer on Chinese and Asiatic subjects gained from 25 years of travel and observation in the Far East, warns the world in his latest work that "Asia is at the white man's doors, 900,000,000 strong." The biggest cloud on the horizon of the future, he says, is the "yellow peril."

The white race, Dr. Legendre says, "lost face," as the Oriental puts it, when Japan defeated Russia. During the great war he writes, Japan multiplied her resources and saved her strength while Europe lost 20,000,000 men and today suffers depressing, intellectual, moral and economic debility. Great Britain, the author holds, erred in supporting Japan through her "marriage of reason" with the Pacific empire, an alliance "now proving so embarrassing."

"Imperialistic Germanism and sovietism now are a union," he adds, in expounding his theory that Japanese and German expansion, each toward the other, threaten to bridge the old Russian bulwark against Asiatic invasion of Europe and call for prompt action by the white man to save himself from the domination he sees impending in the steadily increasing crystallization of "Asia for the Asiatics" sentiment, particularly among the Mussulmans. Russia, he says, cannot save herself; she must be helped with a new brand of statesmanship.

Detailed studies of Asiatic economic resources are given by Dr. Legender to support his assertion that the yellow race may become sellers instead of buyers unless the white race develops its commerce in every way and seeks to produce cheaply, anticipating Asiatic competition by establishing factories in Asia and by increasing production in all of Europe's colonies.

Among many illustrations of Asiatic resources, the author cites Siberian exports of butter that went from 36,000,000 pounds in 1913 and much of which was sold as "Danish" butter.

PARENTHOOD COURSE TO BE GIVEN AT O. U.

NORMAN, Aug. 5.—(Special)—Old theories that girls should know nothing about themselves physically, and that married women should blindly obey orders of a physician without acquiring any information for themselves, are not to be tolerated in the University of Oklahoma, since a course covering the pyschology of parenthood, the health of a mother before and after child birth and the rearing of children will be taught in the school of home economics beginning Sept. 15.

And married co-eds are not going to have a private monopoly on this course, as married women, old maids and pretty young innocent girls all will have an equal opportunity to get this information, at the same time relieving what doctors claim is an unhealthful curiosity. But you may be sure the course will not be taught by old maids, as Mrs. Cordelia Kent, mother of a 15-year-old daughter, will teach the course under supervision of Mrs. Vera I. Moore, mother of a 14-year-old son, who will be director of the school of home economics. Mrs. Kent is studying this course this summer in Chicago university.

Prevention of children from being condemned by parents to eternal damnation, as Mrs. Alma Louise Binzel of Minnesott and Cornell universities expresses it, will be taken up. In this course stress will not be placed so much upon how often and what to feed the baby, as upon the psychology of rearing children. The course will cover right of children to be well born, care of child during infancy and youth, management, play and recreation, child labor and juvenile delinquency problems and special needs of defective and dependent children.

BOY IS INJURED AS SERVICE CAR GOES OVER BODY

From Friday's Daily

The little son of Mrs. Lila Wall, employee of the Ada Steam Laundry, was injured on West Main street yesterday afternoon when a car driven by Virgil Buchanan, service car driver, passed over his body. Although his injuries are painful the boy will recover, doctors at the local hospital said this morning. He was taken there for treatment immediately.

Those who saw the accident said this morning that the boy was struck down as he jumped from the end of a wagon. He failed to see the approaching car in time. One wheel passed over the boy's body crushing him to the pavement. Buchanan is well known here. His car was going at a moderate rate of speed, it was reported. The boy's father is dead.

NUMBER AND TENURE OF FARMS IN U. S.

WASHINGTON, August 15.—The Bureau of the Census, of the Department of Commerce, announces subject to correction, the preliminary figures from the 1920 census of agriculture for the United States, with comparative figures for 1910.

Of the total number of farms in the United States on January 1, 1920, as shown by the Fourteenth Census (6,448,366), 3,925,095 were operated by the owners, 68,525 by hired managers, and 2,454,746 by tenants. Of the total number of farms, 60.9 per cent were operated by their owners, 1.1 percent by managers, and 38-1 percent by tenants. In 1910, 62.1 percent of the farms were operated by owners, 0.9 percent by managers, and 37 per cent by tenants. The distribution in 1900 was, owners, 63.7 percent; managers 1 percent and tenants 35.3 percent; in 1890, owners and managers together, 71.6 percent; and tenants 28.4 percent; in 1880, owners and managers, 74.4 percent; and tenants, 25.6 percent. It is evident, therefore, that there has been a gradual decrease in the proportion of farms operated by their owners and a corresponding increase in the proportion operated by tenants.

Farms Operated by Their Owners

The number of farms operated by their owners in 1910 was 3,948,722. The 1920 figures given above thus show a decrease in this class of farms during the decade amounting to 23,627, or 0.6 percent.

In the census reports a distinction is made between farmers operating their own land only and farmers who hire some land in addition to that which they own. The former are classified as "full owners," the later as "part owners."

The number of farms operated by full owners in 1920 was 3,366,546 and the number operated by part owners, 558,549. In 1910, 3,354,897 farms were reported as operated by full owners and 593,825 by part owners. There was therefore an increase of 11,649, or 0.3 percent, in the number of farms operated by full owners, and a decrease of 35,276, or 5.9 percent, in the number operated by part owners.

The states in which 80 percent or more of the farms were operated by their owners in 1920 include Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Nevada, Utah, Montana, Vermont, New Mexico, Wyoming, Wisconsin, Rhode Island, Idaho, West Virginia, Michigan, Arizona, Washington, and Oregon.

Farms Operated by Managers

The number of farms operated by hired managers in 1920 was 68,525, as against 58,104 in 1910, representing an increase of 10,421, or 17.9 percent. The states reporting the largest numbers of farms operated by managers were: California, with 4,949; Pennsylvania, with 4,490; New York, with 4,376; Illinois, with 3,410; and Ohio, with 3,065.

Tenant Farms.

The number of farms operated by tenants in 1920 was 2,454,746, as compared with 2,354,076 in 1910. The increase in tenant farms during the decade was 100,070 or 4.2 per cent.

The proportion of farms operated by tenants is highest in the Southern states. The states with the largest percentage of tenant farms in 1920 were as follows: Georgia, 66.6; Mississippi, 66.1; South Carolina, 64.5; Alabama, 57.9; Louisana, 57.1; Texas, 53.3; Arkansas, 51.3; and Oklahoma, 51.0.

-- Have Bees on the Farm

I am a strong believer in the desirability of every farmer owning from one to five colonies of bees. The labor incident to the production of honey by such a number of colonies is insignificant when the value of the return is considered. It is understood, of course, that no bee owner should entertain the idea that bees will take care of themselves and that the only thing necessary for him to do is to purchase the bees and hives and then take out the honey as desired. But the point I wish particularly to make is that the outlay for materials and in labor is small if proper care is given the bees.

I do not wish to recommend that any general farmer have more than a few colonies of bees. Leave such work to the agricultural specialist. But leaving out of consideration the value of the honey made by five colonies of bees, I believe there would be a good return, particularly to those who grow alfalfa for seed, from taking care of them.

Many farmers have not succeeded with bees. Rotting-away hives are too commonly seen. This only goes to prove that unless a farmer has a liking for bees and resolves before he gets them to give them careful attention in accordance with the best instructions he may obtain, there is little chance for success with them. But, the question arises, "How many farmers succeed with anything they do not like?"

Money in Hughes County Cream

The possibilities of Hughes county as a live-stock and dairy center were shown in Holdenville last Saturday when Prothro and Son paid J. M. Durbin $9.07 for 9 gallons of cream. This was the equivalent of almost a half bale of low middling cotton based on recent prices. It is easy to see that there is no comparison between the cost and worry of producing a half a bale of cotton and 9 gallons of cream. It would cost $9 to pick a half bale of cotton after it had been brought through the crab grass and boll wevil periods.

The same day Prothro and Son paid W. H. Griffith $10.20 for 25.5 bushels of corn.—Holdenville Democrat.

1920 COTTON SELLS WELL IN LOCAL POOLS

OKLAHOMA CITY—Local pooling and sale of 1920 cotton has been accomplished at several points in the state with most satisfactory results, according to C. F. Mitchell, specialist in cotton classing for the Bureau of Markets. Mr. Mitchell has been assisting in conducting the sale of these local pools through the co-operation of the Oklahoma Cotton Growers Association.

This service is being rendered in connection with 1920 cotton now on hand. It will be discontinued as soon as the new crop begins to move.

A most satisfactory sale was held at Vian on July 26. This sale is said to have netted the growers a good margin over the local market price. This pool contained 132 bales.

At Meridian a few days later a pool of 138 bales was sold unedr the same plan at what was declared by a local banker to be $5 per bale more than the growers could have received selling individually.

Under the plan for conducting these pools, the cotton is assembled in lists of 100 bales or more and weighed into a public cotton yard or warehouse. The tickets are placed in the hands of a local banker who has power of attorney on the cotton. The cotton is then classed and a market found agreeable to the attorney.

Sales at points other than those mentioned have been conducted or are scheduled as follows: August 6, Carney; Aug. 9, Waurika; Aug. 11, Lawton; Aug. 13, Guthrie; Aug. 16, Sallisaw; Aug. 19, Lookeba; Aug. 23, Chandler; Aug. 25, Agra, Aug. 27, Warlick and Aug. 29, 30, 31 at points to be determined in Muskogee county.

Vanoss.

Ray Auten has returned home from Anadarko where he has been visiting his sister, Mrs. V. B. Lynn.

Mrs. and Mr. Sutherland from Center have been attending the revival here.

Henery Dees has been discharged from the navy and is now at home.

The East Central Oklahoma Singing convention was held at Lightning Ridge last Sunday. The attendance was good, but the dinner was equaled only by the good singing.

W. C. Auten is at home again.

The children's choir meets every afternoon at 4:30 at the M. E. church. Mr. June Collier og McAlester has charge of them.

Mrs. Jennie Lee Payne is visiting her uncle, W. G. Collier, and family, Mrs. Payne lives at Tulsa.

Gene McClary has been visiting his old friends at Vanoss during the past week.

The Baptist Association closed last Sunday, many people had come from a long distance to attend it.

Ray Auten, Sybil Lynn and Carl Lynn visited school Monday morning.

BUYING HOUSE IS ESTABLISHED BY FARM FEDERATION

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—Establishment of a live stock commission house at East St. Louis was announced today as the first tangible result of the study of co-operative livestock marketing by the American farm bureau federation's committee of fifteen. The committee in session here announced that the co-operative house will be started at the national stock yard, Illinois, immediately.

A committee of five was named to organize the commission house.

"The committee will charge the regular commission for selling livestock," said H. W. Mumford, Illinois, member of the committee, "but the earnings will be prorated back to the producers on the basis of business done. At Omaha this amounted to 50 percent. A stocker and feeder company for fattening will also be established as a subsidiary. --

CHICKASHA WELCOMES LOCAL TEACHER THERE

Chickasha high school is rejoicing over the fact that Miss Alberta Carney, formerly of the East Central State Normal faculty, will be on its list of teachers next year, an announcement of Miss Carney's appointment to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Miss Violet Hughes, head of the English department, indicates.

Miss Carney is a former member of the Pauls Valley high school faculty. During the 1920-21 school year she was assistant in the English department of the East Central Normal. In addition to her regular work as head of the department, Miss Carney probably will take up duties as debate coach and instructor in declamation and oratory, a capacity that was filled by her predecessor.

LODGE PLANS EARNEST FIGHT FOR DISARMAMENT

The figures for domestic animals in 1910 are not very closely comparable with those for 1920, since the present census was taken in January, before the breeding season had begun, while the 1910 census was taken in April, or about the middle of the breeding season, and included many spring calves, colts, etc.

HOGS THRIVING IN CORN AND PEA FIELDS

Ed Cotton of Maxwell has 140 to 150 acres in corn and peas, in alternate rows on which he is pasturing his drove of hogs. The corn is usually good as a result of the rows being so far apart and the peas are well loaded. The hogs are thriving and his prospects for getting excellent returns are fine.

H. F. Reed, on the road from Ada to Byrd's Mill is likewise fattening his hogs on a similar crop. H. G. Foster, of the Blue Valley farm at Roff is running more than 100 head of hogs in his corn field. With plenty of green stuff, peas and corn the hogs get a balanced ration and gaining accordingly.

McMILLAN BOUND OVER ON CHARGE OF ASSAULT

From Monday's Daily

Clarence McMillan was bound over to the district court this morning under $500 bond by Justice of the Peace H. J. Brown on a charge with assault with intent to kill Alonzo Franklin, at Jack Fork, on June 19.

McMillan was making arrangements at noon to furnish bail.

He is alleged to have met Alonzo Franklin on a railroad track near where the two men live and to have opened fire with a revolver.

RAILROADS ARE ASKED TO CUT STOCK RATES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15—Freight rates on live stock in the western and mountain Pacific territory were found by the interstate commerce commission today to be not unjust and reasonable, but the commission suggests to the railroads that the present rates be cut, the reduction not to be less than 50c a hundred pounds. Rates as suggested may be published to become effective on not less than five days notice, the commission said.

Old Civil War Discharge May Bring Widow Pension

Almost 60 years of War Department records were turned back and scores of pages of musty Civil War service volumes were thumbed over before the local chapter of the American Red Cross represented by Mrs. Orville Snead, county chairman, got the certificate of discharge of Alexander Shaw, now long dead, for his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Harrel, 74.

Mrs. Harrell lives at Royal, Oklahoma. Nephews of her second husband, who is also dead, learned of the Red Cross service while attending the East Central State Normal here. They made investigation and secured the promise of Mrs. Snead to help in the long search that is intended to bring a Civil War pension to Mrs. Harrell.

Several weeks ago Mrs. Snead wrote to the Adjutant General at Washington about the discharge. Then followed a series of questions, telegrams and queries that led to a search through Kansas and Oklahoma for the widow's marriage records. These were obtained and a certificate of Shaw's discharge is being held here now for the woman. The Union Army veteran upon whose discharge the investigation was made was quartermaster in Company "A", Eleventh Regiment of Kansas Cavalry. He enlisted August 15, 1862 and was discharged September 26, 1865.

Mrs. Harrel's first marriage was recorded in 1866 in the county court clerk's office at Kansas City. The wedding was April 17, 1866 and documents were filed three days later.

Compensation for Mrs. Harrel is expected to be $50 a month, or the regular amount paid Union Army veterans.

MOTHERS ASK FOR KIDDIE CLOTHING

Many Children Depend on Local Red Cross to Attend School.

Urgent appeals for clothing or even material to making clothing for their children have been received in great number by the local Red Cross chapters from destitute mothers of Ada within the last week, Mrs. Orville Snead, in charge of the chapter headquarters said this morning.

With the opening of city schools only a few weeks off, many mothers are appealing for old shirts or materials of any kind to make blouses for their children.

Speaking on these appeals, Mrs. Snead said: "This is the only hope many children have of attending schools this year. This appeal should be considered by young men of the city who have shirts worn out only at the collars and cuffs but which would make excellent stuff for a little shirt or a tiny middle blouse."

All such clothes should be sent to Red Cross headquarters over the old Guaranty State bank.

A report of activities carried on by the county Red Cross this week shows the following work done: 1 loan made to former service man; 6 claims filed for compensation; 2 Victory medals applied for; 27 services rendered by writing letters, etc.; 1 application for reinstatement of insurance; 1 state aid war rant received 28 called for information; 1 application for certificate in lieu of lost discharge; 1 certificate in lieu of lost discharge of civil war veteran received and pension applied for in behalf of the wife.

Civilian Aid Given.

Financial relief was given to eight families, 4 visits were made to homes, clothing was given to five families, and other miscellaneous duties performed by the chapter.

GIVE HIM MULES AND WAGON SAYS MARTYR GROCER

A team of mules and a wagon are sufficient for one Ada groceryman, so far as having a delivery outfit is concerned. It was only recently, however, that this grocer came to such a decision.

Feeling that he was out of the mule and wagon class, he decided to buy a light auto truck, believing that he would be able to give quicker and better service. The purchase was made with the result that any old delapidated car was furnished him. It refused to run after the first try-out.

On taking it to a garage for repairs he was told that it needed a new radiator, which he purchased for the sum of $13. It still refused to run and he was advised that it needed a new crank case. He bought it. And still the flivver would not run. The groceryman scratched his head and finally decided to put it in the hands of the garage men, giving them instructions to fix it, whatever the cost.

It was several days before mechanics reported on his pet car. When it was delivered a few days later, he was shocked at the amount of the bill, presented with the car. It was over $82. The man paid the bill and put the car back into use, trying as hard as possible to realize something for the sum he had been paying for its services.

Then, to add to his pleasure, came a car tax collector and sent him up to the justice's office for not having a new tag on the thing.

The grocer prefers his mues and wagon now.

HENRYETTA, Aug. 12.—Coal mining operations are slowly being resumed in the fields near here. Operators predict sixty mines in this immediate vicinity will be in full operation this winter.

STATE TO COMBAT PELLAGRA CAUSES

Educational Campaign Is Planned to Break All Chance of Epidemic.

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, August 15.—An educational campaign to prevent pellagra, and malnutrition in the poorer families of southern Oklahoma is planned by the state board of agriculture, in co-operation with the state board of health, according to an announcement made here late today by John A. Whitehurst, president of the state board of agriculture and Dr. A. R. Lewis, state health commissioner.

The south is not inflicted with famine conditions to the extent that relief from outside sources is necessary, but pellagra and other diseases caused from lack of proper diet are on the increase this year over the same period in 1920, according to a report of J. P. Folan, assistant health commissioner, submitted to Dr. Lewis today. Folan recently returned from a conference of southern health department representatives with the United States surgeon-general at Washington.

However, the cases estimated for the remainder of this year fall far below the average for the years 1914 to 1918, according to the report.

The plan of the departments to combat the spread of the malady, is similar to that already inaugurated by the federal department of agriculture which is sending out instructions to every home demonstration agent in the south, to provide an educational campaign among all farmers in the cotton districts, dealing with conservation of foods.

Although nearly every one of the five hundred cases reported by August 13, this year, was the result of an improper diet, caused by lack of money with which to buy proper food, nearly every case could have been prevented, had the farmer or his family known how to preserve vegetables and meats from last year to this, according to Dr. Lewis.

Each farmer should raise some corn, peas, beets and other vegetables and small grain, in quantities enough to can during the winter, according to the courses mapped out by the department of agriculture. In several families where actual conditions of starvation and malnutrition were found, milk, eggs and chicken had been sold to buy soft bacon, corn meal and syrup in bulk, according to the health officers.

JUSTICE RULES ON WHO LICKED IN WORLD WAR

GALVESTON, Aug. 15.—What is believed to be the first judicial opinion on the question of whether or not the war between the United States and Germany was terminated by the congressional resolution approved by President Harding on July 2 was rendered recently by Justice of the Peace Alex Gomez.

The action was a suit for possesion of property, brought by the owner against the lessee which in 1917 has been leased for one year or "until the present war between the Uniter States an dthe central powers is over."

The contention of the plaintiff that the President's approval of the peace resolution terminated the war insofar as that conflict had to do with transactions involving only citizens of the United States was sustained by the court.

TRUCK DRIVERS DETOUR HOME OF SICK WOMAN

Truck drivers for contractors on the Ada-Allen road are now detouring the three hundred block on West Sixth street on account of the illness of Mrs. Bingham of 311 West Sixth.

Mayor Kitchens asked the contractors to go around with trucks, and the request was granted at once. Noise made by the passing trucks disturbed the woman, doctors said.

HAMILTON HOLT ASKS LEAGUERS TO BE PATIENT

Pro-League Leader Says Followers Must Give Harding Chance.

MAKE OWN CHOICE

President Must Choose the Makers or Those Whom He Made.

(By the Associated Press)

LAKE JUNALUSKA, N. C., Aug. 11.—Calling upon all true friends of the League of Nations to give President Harding every opportunity to perfect the suggested association of nations, Hamilton Holt of New York, one of the leaders of the pro-league republicans speaking here tonight at the Laymen's Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church south, declared that the president soon must choose between 'the pro-leaguers in his cabinet whom he made and the bitter enders in the senate who made him."

"Let our political leaders make no mistake," said Mr. Holt. "The league issue will not be settled until it is settled right. Every friend of international peace and progress therefore must withhold final judgment until Mr. Harding sees fit to disclose the detailed plans of his association. But this is clear. If he wants the permanent support of most of the American people his association must be more than a mere group of nations agreeing to be good and peacable and all revolving about a court.

Root's Plan Landed

"It is inconceivable that Mr. Harding could get the world or the senate at the present moment to consent to establish a better court with wider jurisdiction than the admirable one just created largely by the genius of Elihu Root and already adopted as the chief tribunal by the present League of Nations. And if Mr. Harding's association is under no compulsion to do anything except when the spirit moves, the nations would be no better off than they are now with or without an association.

"The present League with its forty-nine members and its truly admirable record of things accomplished in the one short year of its existence is well worth preserving. Indeed, it is better to have the present League continue as it is without the United States during the term of the present administration than to emasculate the League in order to get the United States to enter it.

"But we cannot wait much longer. The world is on the verge of revolution, famine and pestilence. Mr. Harding must choose between the pro-Leaguers in his cabinet whom he made, or the bitter-enders in the senate who made him. The decision must be made reasonably soon. If not, all friends of the League must organize so as to capture Congress in 1922 and the presidency in 1924. They must tread the path of the opponents of slavery, who continued fighting even though election after election went against them.

"Nearly all the democrats and more than half the republicans—a clear majority of the American people—want the United States to enter some kind of an association with enough teeth in it actually to lessen the probabilities of war. They can win if they unite."

SECOND SCOUT TRIP WILL START AUG. 19

Another camping trip for the benefit of Boy Scouts who did not go on the first outing to Desperado Springs near Tishomingo, will start August 19 and will be for only three days, Scout Executive Harry Miller stated today.

The place where the camp will be held has not been publicly announced but will be made known to Scouts when they register with the executive.

Boys who make the trip will furnish their own eats and the cost will be small, only enough to pay for transportation to and from the camp, Mr. Miller said. Scouts who wish to go are asked to report to headquarters at once and a list of things which will be needed on the trip will be furnished.

Cause of Appendicitis

When the bowels are constipated the lower bowels or large intestines become packed with refuse matter, that is made up largely of germs. These germs enter the vermiform appendix and set up inflammation, which is commonly known as appendicitis. Take Chamberlain's Tablets when needed and keep your bowels regular and you have little to fear from appendicitis.

$1800 IN LOOT FOUND CACHED IN OLD TREE

(By the Associated Press)

WAUKOMIS, Okla., Aug. 15.—A tin can containing $1800, all but $100 of the loot secured by the bandits who Saturday robbed the Waukomis National Bank, was found late yesterday by a searching party in a fork of a tree seven miles southeast of here. The cache was discovered a quarter of a mile from the cornfield where Ralph Foster and E. N. Katz, the alleged robbers, were captured late Saturday by a posse.

Indigestion

Many persons, otherwise vigorous and healthy, are bothered occasionally with indigestion. The effects of a disordered stomach on the system are dangerous, and prompt treatment of indigestion is important. "The only medicine I have needed has been something to aid digestion and clean the liver," writes Mr. Fred Ashby, a McKinney, Texas, farmer. "My medicine is for indigestion and stomach trouble of any kind. I have never found anything that touches the spot, like Black-Draught. I take it in broken doses after meals. For a long time I tried pills, which griped and didn't give the good results. Black-Draught liver medicine is easy to take, easy to keep, inexpensive."

TRIBE SUBMITS LAST CLAIM FOR PAYMENT

MUSKOGEE, Aug. 15.—The executive committee of the Cherokee Indian tribe was to meet in Muskogee today at the call of Chief Levi Gritts of this city, to hear the report of Frank J. Boudinot, tribal attorney, on the claims of the tribe against the United States government, in event the jurisdictional bill is passed by congress.

The claims amount to $15,150,000 and involve what is represented as the final settlement of the tribe with the government.

Briefly the claims include:

Lands in Beaver, Texas, and cimarron counties, with the estimated claim value at 3,700,000; rental of six million acres of land known as the "Cherokee Strip Leases" west of the Osage nation, claim estimated at $800,000; Freedman's claims, aggregating $4,500,000. These claims are for lands the federal government is alleged to have taken from the tribe for participation of some of its members in the cause of the Southern Confederacy. For amounts alleged to have been taken by the federal government from the tribal funds, between 1902 to 1918, $1,500,000; allotments for new borns, $4,500,000; interest of 5 per cent for years as part of the East Cherokee controversy, $914,000; payments due 160 intermarried white, $85,000; payments to Wallace roll negroes, $75,000; payments to 1701 members but non-citizen negroes, $500,000; interest on outlet fund, $250,000; reservations due Cherokees for river beds and wandering streams, $100,000.

The purpose of the meeting is to approve or disallow the claims of the attorney. These claims already have been approved by the Ka Too Wah society, an organization of full-bloods.

The committee also is expected to make a recommendation for the appointment of a vice-chief to succeed the late Levi Cookson, of Cookson, Okla.

STRATFORD NEWS
(From the Leader)

Mr. Stone, the one-arm man who recently bought the A. B. Forehand farm near Startford, mysteriously disappeared early Monday morning about daylight. Tuesday was the day Mr. Stone was to wind up the deal for the farm or lose a $200 forfeit which the Stones had up in one of the local banks.

W. S. McCulloh, who had been sick for several weeks, died at the family residence Thursday morning.

A. P. Gibson and family left this week for a two weeks visit to Hill County, Texas. The trip is being made in their Ford.

Mr. Baker, father of Mrs. Bayless, who had been for sometime at Paris Texas, returned home Monday.

Stratford went over to Roff last Sunday and defeated that swift ball team to the sweet tune of 10 to 5.

LOCAL MEXICAN KILLED SUNDAY NIGHT AT PARK

Bill Estinello, Laborer, Is Shot Through Head; Bennett Held.

OVERSEAS VETERAN

Interesting Facts on Life of Dead Man Told Here Today.

From Monday's Daily.

Bill Estinello, a Mexican, about 35 years of age, said to have an overseas war record with the American armies covering a period of 18 months, was shot and instantly killed in Glenwood park about 10:30 Sunday night.

Lloyd Bennett, 17, is being held in the county jail today in connection with the murder.

Information on incidents leading up to the shooting were meager this morning. Estinello, known here as "Mexican Bill," was taking recreation in the park in company with several other men. Bennett is said to have come upon the party and demanded a seat on the bench which was already near full. Good natured attempts were made to move the Mexican who refused to be shoved. At this point Bennett is alleged to have declared he could move him and to have shot Estinello squarely in the face.

The bullet entered the right side of the Mexican's nose and ranged upward through the head, coming out at the back. He die dinstantly. A crumpled bit of paper in the Mexican's shirt pocket bore the name "Bill Estinello," written with a scrawl in pencil. This was the only identification he bore. He was well known in Ada, however, having lived here for more than 20 years and worked as a laborer, carpenter, and cement mixer. Employers gave his name today as Bill Castinello.

Bits of the life history of the murdered Mexican and war hero told at the undertaking parlors of Criswell and Myers where Estinello's body lay today, reveal some interesting things in connection with the man's life.

His parents are said to live at Bay City, Texas, and efforts are being made to get into touch with them. His father was an Indian and his mother a Spaniard. The mother died when "Mexican Bill" was only three months old and his father later married an American woman. It was she who raised the boy. Bill came to Ada almost 20 years ago and enlisted in the American army almost immediately after war was declared, it is reported. Undertakers were making an attempt this morning to learn where he enlisted but it is believed that he entered the army at the Ardmore recruiting station.

Estinello is said to be a naturalized American.

Roff Guard Battery Is Mustered in and Starts Drill Today

ROFF, Aug. 15.—Forty-seven men, forming Headquarters company of the first field artillery, Oklahoma National Guard, the second guard battery for Pontotoc county, was mustered in here with appropriate ceremonies last week.

Men were sworn in by Adj. Gen. Charles Barrett who came here from state headquarters.

The company was marched into the high school auditorium in charge of First Lieutenant S. J. Kuykendall, under the direction of Capt. W. O. Pratt. The ranks were opened and an inspection made by General Barrett, who then addressed the company on the purpose of the National Guard and its relation to pure and unadulterated Americanism. Judge Bullock then addressed the company and the visitors in an able and a very much appreciated manner.

Capt. Pratt after addressing a few remarks to the men, announced that the next meet would be held on Monday night, August 15th for the purpose of organizing the company and appointing non-commission officers.

Several men will be kept on permanent duty and will be paid a good salary.

MAKING A SMALL PLACE A PAYING PROPOSITION

One of the new suburban homes which is paying its way is that of J. O. Tipton on the outskirts of the city on the Center road. The home is nestled among a score or more of oak trees. All of the twenty-one acres of ground is taken up in fruit trees, grape vines, melons, berries and other permanent means of adding to the family income. This season Mr. Tipton has sold a quantity of melons, small fruits and garden products.

The orchard has been started only a short time, but the trees have some fruit this year and it is of a superior class.

New Prohibition Head Here Figured in Many Thrillers

Announcement today of the recommendation of T. E. Brents for appointment as head of the prohibition enforcement division of Oklahoma recalls many stirring and interesting bits of history, which have meant much to the state and the prohibition movement. Mr. Brents has been connected with the bringing to conviction of some of the strongest bands of conspirators, whisky men, outlaws, and bottleggers in history and hundreds of interesting incidents mark his career.

He has more than 2,000 individual liquor cases to his credit.

Among the more important cases was the Creekmore conspiracy case, conviction of Bill Creekmore being made possible by evidence gathered by Brents. The Keystone case at Keystone Okla., was another noted case in which Brents figured prominently. This place was said to be the inlet to the Old Indian territory. Settlement of the Bond-McKnight case at Shawnee was also brought about through efforts of Brents. It was in June, 1917 that Ben Bond, Clarence Squires, Frank Cole, W. B. Grant, Charles McKnight, Albert Kerskwoitz and others were sentenced on conspiracy charges.

Opened First Court.

He organized the first district court here which convened on the fifth day of December, 1902, and remained head of it until the territory was admitted to the union in 1907, holding his last day of court on Oct. 14 of that year. He made his first appearance in this country from Sherman, Texas, in 1887, being connected with the federal forces since 1891.

Mr. Brents has letters of congratulations, recommendations and commendations from superiors from all parts of the country. He has received letters of recommendation from friends in London, England, Honolulu and every state in the union, dating back many years. His work with the department for the suppression of the sale of liquor among Indians, under the direction of the Director of Indian affairs at Washington, has made him well known at the nation's capitol as well as over the entire country.

Friend of "Pussyfoot"

He is a friend of the noted William E. (Pussyfoot) Johnson, having served under him for several years. Johnson has been high in his praise for the service rendered by Brents while under him. Brents is a registered pharmacist, having liscenses in both Oklahoma and Texas. He has also been admitted to the bar in Oklahoma and has admission to the bar open to him in 18 other states. He practiced law in the United States supreme court.

In discussing his recommendation for the new office today Mr. Brents said, "I intend to give the best in me to the new work. I have always done my best, and I will continue to do so. I have pledged myself to Mr. Meaders to give the best in me and I will not break it."

If he is appointed it will not only be a much more important one than he formerly held, but will also mean more in a financial way.

TAX BURDEN WILL BE WELL DIVIDED

Weight to Fall Where the Taxed Is Able to Pay Is New Plan.

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Repeal of the express tax of one cent on every 20 cents of value was decided upon today by the ways and means committee.

The committee also voted to levy a flat tax of $10 on all retailers of soft drinks and to fix the manufacturers' tax on cereal beverages at 12 cents a gallon in place of the present manufacturers tax of 15 percent on the sale prices.

Repeal of the 8 percent tax on the amount paid for the transportation of oil by pipe lines also was voted by the committee. By this action all of the transportation taxes were eliminated.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—An official statement explaining the administrative tax program was issued today at the White House, saying that it was "the aim to establish a plan that would raise the needed revenue within a reasonable time." This would make the collections sure and inexpensive and will properly distribute the burden of the tax among all classes of people.

The plan, it is claimed, will show the necessity of repealing the transportation tax and the substitution of the manufacturing taxes for the so called "nuisance" tax, according to a message to the state committees.

The war tax reform program contemplates changes from the plan that has been found to paralyze and restrict business. It will encourage to its utmost the resumption and continuance of business removing every possible chance for evasion and fraud. They will endeavor to place the tax burden among all classes of people, keeping in mind to compose the larger share to those best able to pay.

Ozark Trail Branch May Be Put Through County by Boosters

From Saturday's Daily

More than $2,000 has been raised through co-operation of Pontotoc county retailers of gasoline with the Good Roads Motor club, a statement just issued by H. B. Roach, secretary, shows. This revenue came from member garages giving a cent on each gallon of gasoline sold. This money is used in improving roads of the county.

Attention of the club is now being centered on the Lawrence road.

In addition to its other work, the Good Roads Motor club will make an effort to route a branch of the Ozark Trail through Stonewall, Tupelo, Centrahoma, Coalgate, and on to Atoka, it is understood. Roads between Stonewall and Tupelo, which are reported to be in bad condition, are expected to offer the only discouraging prospect for the highway. Organization of motorists in Stonewall and Tupelo to secure the Ozark Trail branch is already in progress.

MARKET CENTERS ARE OPTIMISTIC

M. C. Wilson, Brings Cheering News From Marts of Trade.

M. C. Wilson of the Stevens-Wilson company has just returned from St. Louis, Chicago and other market centers where he has been buying fall and winter goods. When questioned today as to the business outlook in those centers, he said that most of the business men are optimistic over the business future. It is the general belief that all staple farm products and manufactured articles have reached the bottom and that business is now on a sound foundation. While they do not look for war time prices any more, they do look for a general business revival and the trend will be upward, particularly for farm products such as cotton, corn, and cattle.

Mr. Wilson returned to Ada with a more pronounced feeling of optimism and with greater confidence in the future. He believes this section will revive just as rapidly as any section in the country.

Same Old Story But a Good One

Mrs. Mahala Burns, Savanna, Mo., relates an experience, the like of which has happened in almost every neighborhood in this country, and has been told and related by thousands of others, as follows: "I used a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy about nine years ago and it cured me of flux (dysentery). I had another attack of the same complaint three or four years ago and a few doses of this remedy cured me. I have recommended it to dozens of people since I first used it and shall continue to do so for I know it is a quick and positive cure for bowel troubles." (adv)

POLICE RAID NETS NEW QUANTITIES OF CHOC

Police were successful in getting another small quantity of "choc" in a series of two raids made Saturday night and Sunday. Several gallons of the "yellow water" was found in the home of Minerva Howard, officers said. Other quantities were found hidden in the alleys.

Warrants have been issued for the negress who will be prosecuted Mayor Kitchens said early today. She will be charged with unlawful possession.

Hot Weather Diseases.

Disorders of the bowels are extremely dangerous, particularly during hot weather of the summer months, and in order to protect yourself and family against a sudden attack, get a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. It can be depended upon. Many have testified to its excellence. (adv)

PLAN EXTENSIVE MOVING LIBRARY

$5,000 Provided for Making Big Supply of Books Available in State.

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 16.—Oklahoma library commission has completed orders for the purchase of $6,000 worth of books, $5,000 of which are to be used in swelling the state traveling library, which is made available to every family in the state, the secretary of the commission announced today.

The remainder of the $6,000 fund is to be used for reference books which will be kept at the library headquarters at the state capitol, according to the secretary. In addition to traveling libraries, plans are now under way for a library in every school in the state, and an extensive campaign looking toward completion of this project is being planned by the secretary, with C. M. Howell state high school inspector.

The state traveling library, which sponsored the plan under which the extension library of the University of Oklahoma at Norman, is operating, now contains authoritative works on practically every vocation or occupation, from that of steamfitter to housewife, and besides has several completed sets of works of fiction.

Every vocation is represented by persons making application for books, from every part of the state. The commission supplied families located in the farthest southwest county, and numbers two families in the farthest northeast county among its regular applicants. The service is entirely free.

It is the plan of the commission, according to the secretary, to make the traveling libraries the nucleus for libraries in every county seat and in every town of more than 100 population. The real work of the commission lies in the future, the secretary said. There are fourteen counties in Oklahoma without public libraries of any kind. The problem of the commission is to aid in establishing libraries there.

When a request is received for any book, if it seems likely that it will be repeated by any other family the volume is purchased, and becomes a part of the state traveling library, the only library of its scope in the southwest.

WILSON APPEARS FOR FIRST TIME AT LAW OFFICE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Woodrow Wilson made his first appearance yesterday at his law office here. This is taken by friends as evidence of the former president's improved physical condition. EXCISE BOARD AWAITS REPORTS FROM STATE

(From Tuesday's Daily)

After being in session but a few minutes yesterday the county excise board adjourned to await action of the state board of equalization on the valuation of county public service corporations and utilities, fixed by County Assessor Nick Heard in his new tax report.

Although the state board has approved the valuation set on both personal property and read estate in the county, it has not returned any decision on public service corporations of the state, it is understood, and probably will not report on those in Pontotoc county until the last of this week. The county excise board was promised yesterday, however ,that final reports from the state board would be here by August 18 and the board will go into session again next Monday to determine tax rates.

One of the principle tasks to come before the county excise board at its meeting is trimming the city estimate to make it fall within the six mills limit. The estimate as submitted by city commissioners calls for approximately $6,000 more than the millage limit will allow, it is understood. Just where the cut will be made has not been intimated.

Expenses of running an efficient city government to say nothing of meeting needed improvements made necessary the fixing of a high city estimate, Mayor Gary Kitchens explained.

In The Oil Fields

Estimated production in the fields of the Mid-Continent at the close of the past week was as follows: North Louisiana, 65,355 barrels; Arkansas, 72,000 barrels; Oklahoma, outside of Cushing, Shamrock and Healdton, 229,500 barrels; Cushing and Shamrock, 26,500 barrels; Healdton and Hewitt, 67,500 barrrels; total, 731,410 barrels, a gain of 10,730 barrels in comparison with the preceeding wek.

The estimated daily production of heavy gravity oil in the Gulf field was 101,660 barrels.

Transcontinental, in the ne ne of section 14-5-4, is at a depth of 2315 feet. Drilling went past some lugs in the hold last night and operations are expected to progress today.

The Pontotoc Petroleum Trust compapy, drilling with a rotary out fit on the Hatcher farm, in the sw sw of section 4-4-5, has received new drill stems and expects to start up again today after being shut down for some time.

Drilling on the Nance test in the northeast corner of section 4-4-5, is down 1110 feet today, according to a report from the well. They are still carrying a 10-inch bit.

After considerable difficulties, the Carter offset well south of the producer, has reached a depth of about 500 feet and is underreaming today.

J. A. Hart, who lives seven miles north of Ada, sent the News seven very fine specimens of his Gano apples. The largest of these weighed a pound and was 13¼ inches in circumference. The combined weight of the other six was 4½ pounds.

Mr. Hart has 200 of these trees and this is the first time they have borne. He also has other fruits all which are thriving as a result of proper care and cultivation.

FORMER SOLDIER MUST GET PAPERS

Men Seeking Hospitalization or Training Should Have Affidavits.

Former soldiers who appear before the "mop-up squad" being sent through Oklahoma to aid them in obtaining hospitalization, compensation or vocational training must bring several important papers with them as evidence if they expect to obtain results, it is announced by Earle M. Simon, state adjutant of the American Legion.

The clean-up squad will start tomorrow at Woodward and after making about half of the counties of the state will be at Ada September 8 and 9 to hear cases from Pontotoc, Johnston and Coal counties.

"All applicants must bring their army discharges," Simon said.

"If compensation or hospital care is desired, papers must be prepared and brought along to prove that the present disability of the soldier was caused by his service. If possible, a statement should be obtained from a physician that he examined the man immediately, or soon, after his discharge from the service and found the condition to exist. The doctor should state whether the disability was caused by service.

"If it is impossible for the applicant to obtain the physician's statement, he should obtain affidavits from two disinterested persons who know him. These should state that the soldier did not have the disability when he entered the army and that he did have it on his return. The statements should be detailed, giving incidents where known.

"In case applicant cannot obtain affidavits of that character, he should obtain a statement in affidavit form from one who knew him before entering service stating that the soldier was not troubled with the disease, and another affidavit from a different person who has known him since his discharge stating that the man has been sick or disabled since that time.

"Men desiring vocational training should have affidavits from their employers before entering service and since leaving the army stating what the man's disabilities were and whether he has been able to follow the same work as before."

FITZHUGH WILL WORK COTTON BELT HIGHWAY

From Saturday's Daily

It has been announced here that citizens of Fitzhugh will spend part of next week working the Cotton Belt Highway stretch which passes through the Chimney hills, at which time 15 or 20 teams will be used. When this work is completed the road through this part of the county will be in excellent condition.

The new road around the Lawrence hills has been opened and is nearly completed. This road, which up to this time has been one of the worst leading out of the city, is now in good condition and has greatly changed traffic conditions in this district.

RED CROSS WILL HELP "MOP UP" SQUAD WORK

All claims for Pontotoc, Johnson and Coal counties' ex-service men for compensation, vocational training, medical or hospital service, and other questions pertaining to former soldiers will be heard September 8 and 9 at Ada, Okla., by a committee representing the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, according to a report made public today.

The committees will consist of a representative from the Bureau of War Risk, regarding compensation and insurance claims, an examining doctor, a representative from the federal board, a representative from the American Legion, and one from the Red Cross.

This committee has full authority to authorize hospital care or vocational training and to arrange for settlement of claims. The Red Cross is eager to have all veterans who are interested to appear before the committee.

Mrs. Orville Snead, secretary of the local chapter of the Red Cross, is desirous that all the boys take advantage of this opportunity. Those who feel they have not been getting a square deal and have a complaint to make should voice it at this time.

FAMOUS FRENCH MARSHAL PLANS STOP IN STATE

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 12.—Informal word has been received by Governor J. B. A. Robertson to the effect that Marshall Foche of France will probably make Oklahoma City a stopping point on his trip through the United States this fall. He has been invited to stop in Oklahoma by Governor Robertson ,in conjunction with the Oklahoma City chamber of commerce.

News from Allen

(From the Democrat)

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Pitzer will leave Saturday for Oklahoma City where they will reside.

A large party of Allen people drove to the Ford lake south of Ada Tuesday afternoon and enjoyed a swim. Car trouble developing in some of the rolling stock, some of the party were compelled to remain in Ada over night, returning home Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Redwine and Miss Olive left Sunday for a week's fishing trip on Coal Creek north of Calvin. They were joined at Atwood by Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Lay. The party went prepared for a splendid outing and were expecting the time of their young lives.

E. W. Garrett returned to his home at McAlester the first of the week after visiting the Reese and Jones family here for several days. Mr. Garrett's son, Forest Garrett, is one of the real newspaper men of Oklahoma, publishing the Pittsburg County Guardian at McAlester.

J. D. Allen, who with his wife and daughter has been visiting Mrs. Allen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Fitzhugh, left Saturday for his home at Paris, Texas, Mrs. Allen and the young lady remaining for a further visit here. Mr. Allen is a printer and is connected with one of the job plants of Paris.

W. E. Holly has been appointed night watchman by the city council, taking up his new duties Tuesday night.

W. M. Pegg and family passed through Allen Tuesday enroute to their home in Ada after spending some time visiting in Arkansas.

Charlie Donaghey, Ike Turner and Jim Turner left Sunday morning for a several weeks' trip thru Colorado, Wyoming and other western states.

Last Friday the Boy Scouts went to Boggy on a fishing and camping trip. The camp was made by the creek bridge. After swimming the boys set their fish hooks and went to supper. After supper the time was spent in telling stories and singing songs.

Mrs. W. Y. Caruthers and children left Thursday for Tupelo to visit a few days with relatives, and from there they will go to Centrahoma to visit Mrs. Caruthers' parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Lovelace.

Rev. A. A. Pace left Tuesday for Sulphur where he will be engaged in a revival meeting for several weeks.

SAFETY PIN IS NOT SAFE WHEN MONEY IS NEAR

(By the Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 15.—It is not always safe to trust a safety pin. R. Hines of Grand Rapids, Michigan, was raised to regard the safety pin as being true to its name. But that faith is now broken.

When he came here to visit recently he brought $51.000 in currency and certified checks in a hip pocket secured by a safety pin. Two days after his arrival he appeared at the police station and exhibited his pocket which was neatly cut and minus the money—but with the safety pin in place.

Now he wants to donate the pin to an orphanage.

BOARDS ARE BUSY ON FAIR EXHIBIT

Grounds to be Improved for Record Entry of County Products.

Estimates as to the amount of improvements needed at the Pontotoc County Free Fair grounds have been made and it is reported that work will be started soon. It was found that considerable work will be necessary to put the grounds in condition for the fall exhibit, which fair officials promise will be the best in history.

The fair catalogue, containing a list of the prizes offered, judges, directors and other officials is now in the hands of the printers and will be ready to send out in a few days. More prizes than ever before are being offered this season.

Among the officials are D. A. Crumley, W. M. Pegg, J. R. Floyd, Joe Rushing, Roy Harris, R. I. Pollock, R. F. Welborn, J. B. Self, E. W. Cotton, T. B. Bond, Doc McCauley, J. J. Copeland, S. B. Mayfield and J. W. Denton, who compose the fair board. E. W. Cotton, B. A. Pratt, R. F. Welborn, R. I. Pollock, B. A. McCauley, Doc McCauley, S. B. Mayfield are members of the executive board.

R. F. Welborn will have charge of the livestock division, J. R. Floyd will have charge of the horse and mule stalls, Bruno Mayer will have charge of the cattle department, W. B. Johnson will have charge of the cattle department, W. B. Johnson will have charge of the sheep exhibit, J. B. Hill and Roy Harris will look after the farm products entered, and Mrs. Elva Duvall, the home products.

Club exhibits for boys will be in charge of J. B. Hill, assisted by James Walby and Curtis Floyd. The Girls' Club exhibits will be in charge of Mrs. Elva Duvall and Miss Myrtle Curry. Poultry club exhibits will be under A. L. Huber and Wylie Blanks and the collective school exhibits will be directed by Supt. A. Floyd and Supt. Huff. B. A. Pratt, J. H. Hill and Mrs. Elva Duvall will have charge of selecting exhibits for the state fair at Oklahoma City.

11,000 TICKETS HERE FREE TO SCHOOL KIDS

(From Thursday's Daily)

Eleven thousand free tickets for School Day at the Oklahoma State Fair at Oklahoma City Friday, September 30 have been delivered to County Superintendent A. Floyd By the state Free Fair Association to be distributed to all school children of Pontotoc county who wish to attend that day.

In addition to these, about 250 tickets have been sent here for free use of teachers who wish to attend at the same time. One free pass, good for an entire week, has been given to each county superintendent in the state. It is understood that many schools of the state will dismiss for free fair day.

YANKEE FARMERS SETTLE IN PERU

More Than 200 Families May Form Agriculture Colony.

(By the Associated Press)

LIMA, Peru, Aug. 19.—A group of American farmers, comprising the advance guard of a colonization scheme said to involve more than 200 families from the western United States, arrived here recently enroute to the Pampa del Sacramento valley along the eastern head waters of the Amazon river, in northern Peru, where the colony is to be established.

The party is in charge of J. B. Schoenfelt, of Okmulgee, Okla., formerly United States Indian agent for Oklahoma territory, who obtained, for colonization purposes a grant of 650,000 acres of agricultural and forestry lands from the Peruvian government last October.

After the preliminary location of the lands in the concession is completed ,it is planned to bring the remaining colonists, numbering about 800, to the settlement via Para, Brazil and the Amazon and Ucayali rivers. The former is navigable from its mouth on the Atlantic ocean to Iquitos, Peru, about 2,000 miles.

In an interview published in the West Coast Leader, Mr. Schoenfelt said that, owing to drouth and crop failure, a number of farmers in the central west had expressed their desire to seek more fertile and profitable fields.

"I decided to look over South America," he said, "since most of the American government's vacant lands, that could be obtained at a low price, have been allotted to foreign immigrants. The colonists, who are chiefly from the west, are farmers of some means and they can secure their farms at a cost of a few cents per fee simple to their lands, as soon as 200 families have been settled on the concession."

About half of the tract, according to Mr. Schoenfelt, consists of grassy plains, rolling hill land and valley. The remainder has forests. The land is said to be suitable for producing all kinds of agricultural products, especially sugar, cocoa, cotton, jute, indigo, and tobacco. The farms will be divided into tracts of from 500 to 5,000 acres with an average of about 1000 acres for each family.

Books for Blind Are Sent Out From State Library Commission

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 20.—Books for the blind are being circulated extensively from the state library commission, according to Mrs. L. R. Dale, secretary of the state library commission.

One difficulty in the buying of the books for the blind, is the many systems of "languages" in which they are printed, Mrs. Dale said. This necessitates the buying of several different systems, aften for the same boy, she said, but the department has decided to buy nothing now but a revised system adopted recently at a meeting of national publishers of such books.

"Heretofore,' 'Mrs. Dale said, a blind man often had to learn to read in six or seven different 'languages' in order to get any extensive reading course whatever. Nearly a score of calls for books printed in the revised system have been received by the commission, which superintends the state traveling libraries, Mrs. Dale said.

LIQUOR CHARGES FILED AGAINST THREE MEN

Triple charges of violation of the liquor law were filed in the county court yesterday against Lawrence Sapp and Claude Gray, arrested by the sheriff's force several days ago. Specific counts listed were unlawful possession, manufacturing and selling intoxicating liquor.

Charges of furnishing liquor to another were filed in the county court Wednesday afternoon against Alex Angel. All the hearings will be docketed for the October session of the county court.

SEVEN CANDIDATES ARE AFTER POSTMASTER JOB

Seven Ada men are candidates for the postmaster's position here it became known this morning on advice from the secretary of the civil service commission.

The place may be filled at any time now, it is understood. The commission of J. W. Westbrook, present postmaster here, expired the first of the year. Mr. Westbrook is not a candidate for the position again.

Highway Into Texas Would Connect City With Big Territory

The Ada Good Roads Motor club has been informed that a proposed highway from Ada to Paris, Texas, is now being considered and boosted along the proposed route of the highway. This road would connect Ada with some of the best country in this part of the state, together with a large district of northern Texas, it is said.

Running from Paris, Tex., to Hugo, Antlers, Farris, Atoka, Lehigh, Coalgate, Centrahoma, Tupelo, Stonewall, to Ada, the road would open up a highway for northern tourists enroute to New Orleans or other southern cities. It is also proposed to connect the highway on the north with others leading to Colorado Springs.

OLD SPEED KING OF RAIL WORKS SLOW ROAD NOW

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 20.—Pulling a slow local passenger train in Georgia is the "ten wheeler" which one day twenty years ago traveled at a greater speed than that of any steam locomotive ever built, 120 miles an hour.

This engine, now Atlantic Coast Line No. 210, was Plant System No. 111 when it set the world's record for sprinting. At the same time it won a United States mail contract between Washington, D. C., and Jacksonville, Fla.

The Seaboard Air Line and the Atlantic Coast Line Plant System in March, 1901, were conducting tests under observation of postal authorities. Each road, it was agreed, should run three trains to determine which could handle the Florida and Cuban mail the quecker. It was while pulling the third test train between Savannah and that No. 111 of the Savannah Florida and Western, just delivered to the railroad by her builders and still stiff from lack of use, unexpectedly set its record that still stands.

MEN ATTEMPT TO KEEP TEXAS CAR

Bill of Sale Presented by Alleged Thieves; Auto Goes Back.

From Friday's Daily

In spite of an alleged bogus bill of sale which they presented, purporting to show that the automobile with which they were caught was sold to them from the factory in July, Arthur Clark and Walter Carroll, now being held for the second time on a charge of car theft, lost a Buick touring car yesterday. The machine was identified by W. B. Wait, who arrived here from Wichita Falls, Texas, and was turned over to him by Sheriff Bob Duncan.

Wait, according to Sheriff Duncan, said the car was stolen from him on July 10. Unable to find a clue to the disappearance, he sent out telegrams hoping to catch the thief or thieves somewhere in Texas or Oklahoma. For more than a month he was unable to get word on the missing machine. Then he was advised by officers that a car meeting the description of his Buick had been seen in Oklahoma. Shortly before he sent a telegram here describing the car, Clark and Carroll, who had been arrested on a suspicion of car theft, were released by the sheriff's office because of a lack of evidence.

Sheriff Duncan said the bill of sale which the men showed in attempting to prove possession of the automobile was signed before a notary public and bore all indications of having been carefully prepared. It was not known whether the men will be tried here or in Wichita Falls for the alleged theft.

WOULD YOU MAKE A GOOD WITNESS IN MURDER CASE?

Can you see straight, and if so, can yau hear as "straight" as you see?

If you can, you're the exception and on the witness stand you'd be worth than the 99 others that might be picked up at random. This is the opinion held by local attorneys who declare that the vacillating, "wobbly" testimony of witnesses who either are "not sure" or "purely speculative" is one of the most disheartening things of the court-room.

One Ada attorney cited a specific instance. A murder case in whoch five shots were fired at peculiar intervals is being tried. Out of ten witnesses who heard the shooting five probably will swear they heard three shots. At least three will swear there were seven, one will not be certain and prehaps the remaining one will give postive testimony as to the correct number. And in addition to this, each probably will give a different story as to the interval between shots.

The majority of indifferent individuals don't look closely, lawyers declare. Unless there is something about a man's face, not one witness in five can positively identify him after meeting him on the street, it is said. And almost all witnesses will throw up their hands in horror when asked to describe minutely how a particular man walked. If he was one-legged or bald headed, they may remember these features. But such a thing as color of the eyes, the shade of the hair, outline of the face, angle of the nose and other facial characteristics are beyond the ordinary observer.

PICTURE OF SOLDIER TUBERCULOSIS CAMP SENT

A panoramic view of Fort Bayard, New Mexico, where between 800 and 1000 former service men are undergoing treatment for tuberculosis, was received in Ada Thursday by Mrs. Orville Snead, head of the Pontotoc county Red Cross. The picture, which is in colors, was sent by Edgar Briscoe, war veteran who was sent there by Mrs. Snead. Briscoe lives in Nowata.

The hospital camp is described as a beautiful retreat nestling between protecting hills in the highlands of New Mexico. Scores of former soldiers are regaining health in the delightful surroundings of the camp, Briscoe said.

MEXICAN MURDER LAID TO BENNETT

Boy of 17 Faces Charge of Killing Veteran of World War.

From Friday's Daily

Charges of murder were filed yesterday against Lloyd Bennett, 17 year old boy, held for the killing in Glenwood park Sunday night of "Mexican Bill" Costello, laborer and overseas war veteran.

Since about 10:30 Sunday night when he was arrested and placed in the county jail in connection with the murder, young Bennett has made no statement. His attorneys said Friday morning that they would not be ready to make a statement in the case for some time. Filing of charges was delayed several days to allow for time in collecting evidence in the case, the county attorney said.

Preparations were being made this morning for bringing Bennett before Justice of the Peace H. J. Brown for arraignment. In the meantime, no hint of the motive that lay behind the alleged murder has been made. Witnesses named by the state to appear in the preliminary hearing which will be held soon are J. U. Criswell, undertaker who handled Costello's body, Ed. Stapleton, Horace Earhart and Virgil Branstetter, eye witnesses to the tragedy, Dr. M. M. Webster, Sheriff Bob Duncan, and W. H. Elam, Thomas Ashby, W. F. Brundrett and a boy whose last name is Curry. Announcement of grounds upon which the defense will base its plea is expected to be reserved until the preliminary.

Costello's discharge from the army was to be added Friday to the state's evidence.

RAISING SUGAR BEETS IS TESTED IN COUNTY

Pontotoc county may add a new industry to her string if tests in the growing of sugar beets, now being conducted in at least eight places in the county, prove successful, according to O. N. Walker, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

Last February, ten pounds of sugar beet seeds were secured by O. W. Mattison, manager of the Oklahoma Light and Power Company here, free for tests to be supervised by the Chamber of Commerce and J. B. Hill, county farm agent. The seed was parceled out and planted in practically all kinds of soil found in Pontotoc county. Careful attention is being given the plants and one sample was brought into Ada by Agent Hill Friday. This will be sent to the Salt Lake City sugar plant for a test for saccharine content. The sample in hand was raised on Horseshoe Ranch.

If the sugar content is high enough, more seed will be ordered and the growing of sugar beets undertaken on a bigger scale, Mr. Walker said. Samples of the beets raised in all places here where tests are being made will be tagged with labels under which they were grown, and considerable care taken to learn the place in the county best suited for their cultivation.

Speakers Are Listed to Address Congress of Oklahoma Farmers

STILLWATER, Aug. 24.—John A. Whitehurst president of the state board of Agriculture, H. T. Blake of Duncan, president of the Oklahoma Shorthorn breeders' association, H. C. Lookabaugh of Watonga, W. A Knipe of Perkins, John T. Kramer of Tulsa and A. N. Campbell of Geary will be the principle speakers at the shorthorn breeders' meeting to be held here Thursday, the second day of the Oklahoma Farm Congress.

Whitehurst will speak on Oklahoma agriculture, Lookabaugh will discuss the value of a purebred sire, and Kramer will present ideas on the northern business of the future. Among other subjects to be discussed is "ensilage as a factor in beef production, by W. L. Blizzard, head of the husbandry department of the A. & M. College.

ADA SHOULD GET CREAMERY, LOCAL MEN ARE AGREED

Efforts to locate a creamery in Ada will prove successful, local men who are behind the movement predicted Tuesday. Farmers have signified their willingness to furnish all the cream a good creamery could handle.

This will be the chief obstacle to overcome, it was said. "If farmers can be interested in raising more milk cows, the location of a creamery here would not be a difficult matter. Of course we will have to work up enough interest in this before any man or groupe of men will be willing to put out money for installing a creamery," one man said.

A creamery in Ada would open the path to better times for all farmers, it was shown. It would not only furnish a market for their cream, but it would also make it possible for them to have money on hand, and get some ready cash for the investment in milk cows and the feed required to keep them. It would also be a year-around proposition, it was pointed out.

BLINDNESS NOT DISABLING FOR THIS VETERAN

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—To Corporal Christen Poulsen of the United States Marines, his discharge from an army hospital in February, 1919, meant beginning life anew—the life of a blind man. In two years time, he has completed that readjustment and today Poulsen is in the fuel and feed business in Chicago, does a full day's work every day and, with the aid of his wife, is taking a correspondence course in business management.

Poulsen was with the Sixth Regiment of the Marines when a few thousand troops were chosen from the vanguard of the American army to help block the German advance on Paris in June, 1918. The Sixth Marines gave their aid to the allies, but among those who were left on the battlefield was Corporal Poulsen, fully conscious, but bleeding and sightless from the burst of a high explosive shell. Poulsen was wounded just one year to the day from the date he enlisted. He has been totally blind ever since.

STATE BUILDING RAPAIR STARTED

$905,500 to be Spent in Extending and Mending Structures.

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, August 19.—Oklahoma institutions are receiving repairs and extensions entailing a total expenditure of $905,500 and contracts for this work have been awarded, George F. Clark, chairman of the state board of affairs, announced today. The repair work has been in progress since the special session of the legislature adjourned, three months ago.

The works includes some in Oklahoma City, where a warehouse for the storage of trucks belonging to the state highway department and for use of the adjutant general's department is under construction on the capitol grounds, and the nurses' home at New University hospital, entailing a cost of $35,000 for the former and $50,000 for the latter.

At Muskogee, a ward building for the blind is being erected, at a cost of $47,000. At Talihina, the completion of the tubercular sanitorium is being reached, with an outlay of $37,500. Clinton is seeing construction of an administration building, two pavilion cottages, a farm house and extensions to the water, sewer and electric lines at the tuberculosis sanitorium, at a cost of $105,000. Two ward buildings and a dining room at the Central State hospital for the insane at Norman will cost $120,000. Ward buildings at the Western Oklahoma hospital for the insane, contracted for at $100,000, are under construction. The ward buildings at the hospitals for the insane at Vinita, are contracted for at $145,000.

Other items are: At Langston, heating system for negro A. and M. college, $20,000; at Chickasha, fine arts building for Oklahoma College for Women, $70,000; at Pryor, school building for the orphans home, $8,000; overhauling of heating lines and repairs to buildings at Pauls Valley training school for boys, $35,000; building for women, state gymnasium and swimming pool, at Oklahoma University, Norman, $41,000; Boley, residence for negroes at tubercular sanitorium, $6,500; building at the Granite reformatory, $12,500; barn at the state penitentiary, $10,000; a barracks at the Union Soldiers' home, near Oklahoma City, costing $3,500.

M'ELREATH CASE NOW SET FOR SEPTEMBER

From Friday's Daily

Because Joe McElreath, convalescent, was unable to leave his room this morning and undergo a gruelling examination in the court room, the preliminary hearing of D. C. Welch and his son, Edward, charged with assault with intent to kill McElreath here recently, was postponed this morning before Justice of the Peace H. J. Brown until September 2.

A request for the continuation until the state's leading witness is more completely recovered from the knife wound was filed by County Attorney Wayne Wadlington.

With two weeks more of rest, completely isolated from the world, the injured man may regain his speech and be able to give testimony, doctors say. At present, however, he is said to be suffering from a severly taxed mind, due to the clotting of blood on the brain after he was stabbed.

SWEET PRELIMINARY IS CONTINUED TO AUG. 29

From Friday's Daily

A continuation in the preliminary hearing of H. L. Sweet, charged with forgery, was granted late yesterday by Justice of the Peace H. J. Brown until August 29. Sweet is being held in the county jail in default of bond.

Testimony of a Shawnee banker, called here by the state to testify in the Sweet preliminary, was, on the consent of counsel for the defense, recorded and will be introduced as evidence when the case comes to trial.

Everything for QUALITY —nothing for show

THAT'S OUR IDEA in making CAMELS—the Quality Cigarette.

Why, just buy Camels and look at the package! It's the best packing science has devised to keep cigarettes fresh and full flavored for your taste. Heavy paper outside—secure foil wrapping inside and the revenue stamp over the end to seal the package and keep it air-tight.

And note this! There's nothing flashy about the Camel package. No extra wrappings that do not improve the smoke. Not a cent of needless expense that must come out of the quality of the tobacco.

Camels wonderful and exclusive Quality wins on merit alone.

Camels are made for men who think for themselves.

PONTOTOC OFFICERS GIVEN HIGH PRAISE

High praise for the efficiency of members of Pontotoc county sheriff force is contained in an article published last week by the Johnston County Capital-Democrat, published at Tishomingo, a copy of which has just been received here.

Following is the clipping:

"While in Ada last week Rube had the pleasure of again meeting Bob Duncan, sheriff of Pontotoc county. Bob is acknowledged to be the best sheriff in the state and a few hours visit around his office will convince anyone that he and his deputies are always on the job, night and day. His undersheriff Mr. Kennedy, is a fine, affable gentleman, always on the job and keeping tab on every case filed. Byars Chapman, Mr. Duncan's field deputy ,is known as one of the most fearless officers in the state, and besides, he is as accommodating as he is fearless.

"Mr. Chapman was formerly a United States deputy marshal and knows every angle of the game. Bob Duncan is to be congratulated upon securing the services of men like the above connected with his office and the people of Pontotoc county are rightfully proud of Bob."

SHAW STORE DISPLAYS GREAT HARVEST ARRAY

A beautiful and up to date windodow display is that of the Shaw Department store of East Main street. The three front display windows are elaborately decorated in keeping with the 14 day harvest sale which is just being started by the company.

Included with the many articles of clothing advertised, many farm products, such as wheat, millet, corn, fruit and other products have been used to blend the appearance to that of a real harvest display. To give this display the best effect at night, a special lighting apparatus owned by the Oklahoma Light and Power company, has been installed in the middle window.

This is said by E. L. Brown, representative of the light company, who had charge of its being installed, to be the first ever used in the city. Colors are blended together by this equipment in a manner that makes it beautiful after the shadows have fallen.

Memorial Arch May Be Started Aug. 25 Committees Expect

Plans have been received and passed on by the committee in charge of the Memorial Arch Gateway for the entrance to the Normal grounds and it is reported that work will be started on its construction early next month. When the plans were ifrst accepted, it was with the undertsanding that the architect would make several changes and compile an estimate of the cost.

At present the architect is making final corrections and as soon as members of the committee return from vacations, direct action will be taken. It is reported today by Dr. A. Linschied that work probably would start soon after August 25.

NEGRO IS GIVEN 2-YEAR STRETCH ON GUILTY PLEA

From Tuesdays' Daily

Bob James, negro, was sentenced to serve two years at hard labor i nthe state penitentiary at McAlester on a charge of forgery in the second degree, upon his plea of guilty before District Judge Hal Johnston here Tuesday morning.

Robert Frazier, another negro, is expected to enter a plea of guilty on the same charge later in the day. James will be taken to McAlester by Sheriff Bob Duncan within the next few days.

James and Frazier are alleged to have cashed a "bogus" check early in August for the amount of $7 at a local clothing store. Another charge against the men alleges that the yforged a check, secured the money, and then snatched the check from the merchant's hands to destroy evidence. James made no statement when allowed a chance to do so before sentence was pronounced.

Insurgent W. O. W.'s Refused Seats for National Session

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, July 8.—Unsuccessful in their efforts to obtain seats in the national convention of the Woodmen of the World, thirty so-called "insurgent" delegates from Texas, Nebraska and Missouri left for home today.

L. D. Green of Louisville, Kentucky, chairman of the credentials committee, said that the Texans to whom seats had been refused, had been delegated to this convention by a "rump" assembly in Houston last March after a bolt from the regular state gathering. Those from Nebraska and Missouri who were refused seats had declared themselves in support of the insurgent Texans, he added.

MUSKOGEE—The average cost of educating a child in the graded rural schools of Muskogee county is $20 per year; town graded, $35, and high school, $80, according to figures compiled by the county superintendent.

Why Should a Young Man Carry Life Insurance?

BECAUSE he wants to save money and this is the safest way to do it.

BECAUSE he ties himself with the definite agreement to make this payment every year to the New York Life. Otherwise he finds that his resolutions weaken and disappear.

BECAUSE he can only accumulate a handsome sum of money if he will start now and steadily put aside a small sum every year.

BECAUSE insurance is cheaper for him now that it ever will be again. Every year adds to the cost of it.

BECAUSE in an emergency he can borrow money from the Company on his policy (after three years) without having to borrow from friends or others..

BECAUSE if he goes in business for himself the policy is good collateral security. Banks and individuals will often loan money against a young man's character if they know he has protected them against death or disability.

BECAUSE he will probably marry and will be wise to get his insurance well started before he has another person to support.

BECAUSE a young man will take pride in telling his future wife that he has already provided a nest egg for the future.

BECAUSE he will feel happier knowing that there will be some cash payable to his parents or others if he were suddenly to die.

BECAUSE he is in good health and can pass the medical examination. The New York Life declined 16,000 applicants last year who waited too long.

BECAUSE a New York Life policy is a bill of health to any young man or future husband.

BECAUSE our new contract will pay him a monthly income if he should become disabled.

A young man proves his thrift and sound business judgment in taking a New York Life policy. He makes a real beginning for success in life.

Each of these reasons by itself is sufficient to cause a young man to accept the "New Offer" in the next issue.

IMMIGRATION AGAIN

Congressman Isaac Siegel, of the committee of immigration, suggests sending the surplus immigrants coming to this country to the Hawaiian Islands. He says the whites of those islands wants the Europeans to offset the growing Japanese menace. It is said there are now 100,000 Japanese out of a total population of 257,000 people in the Islands. Judging from the rapidity of the production of the yellow races, one can judge as to the seriousness of the situation.

While we do not know how the natives of our island possessions feel about the matter, we are inclined to believe that the congressman is right. At least, one of two things ought to be done. We ought to stop Japanese immigration into the Islands or we ought to encourage native Americans or well selected Europeans to go there. Some day, possibly in the dim future, trouble between America and Japan, is almost certain to come. When such comes, it will not be safe for our Pacific posessions, Hawaii, Guam and Philippines, to have more than a small percentage of Japanese population.

Of late years the Japanese in all these islands are going into industry and commerce. Formerly they were mostly agriculturally inclined.

If Congressman Siegel's plan will solve the growing yellow menace in the Pacific, we are for it. It is certainly worth considering and considering seriously.

A CREAMERY NEEDED

It is most gratifying to learn that Secretary Walker of the Chamber of Commerce is making progress towards securing a creamery for Ada. He is in correspondence with one in another state that wants to come here and he is very hopeful of a successful outcome of the negotations. He states that he has the sold backing of the business men of Ada and that there is every reason to believe that Ada will in the near future be the center of a big creamery trade.

Heretofore it has been impossible to induce enough farmers to keep cows to make a creamery profitable, but the country now faces a situation which differs from anything it has ever gone up against. There is an abundance of feed in the country, but high freight rates are keeping it from being shipped out, hence the only chance is to feed it at home and realize on the product. This will at all times afford a ready home market for feed and give the farmers something to sell the year around. The boll weevil bids fair to put cotton growers out of business and dairying offers the quickest solution to the problem. There may not be enough cows in the country now, but we believe this condition can be soon be remedied and that we can be put on a permament basis of prosperity. The dairy business has brought wealth to other countries, so why not Pontotoc county?

POWER OF THE PRESS

Not long ago the News called attention to the fact that a serious obstacle in the way of the disarmament conference was the prohibition laws of the United States and wondered how the delegates would worry along without their favorite brands. Evidently this put an idea into the heads of the foreigners, for press dispatches state that they are making inquiries at Washington about being allowed to bring a supply with them. If the News had not mentioned the matter, those diplomats might have forgotten all about it. Just think of what a fix they would have been in and how rantankerous the meeting would likely have been with nothing stronger than grape juice on tap.

According to press reports the principle reason assigned by the trustees of Lanier University for electing Col. Simmons, head of the Ku Klux Klan, as president of the university, is that his wide acquaintances and notoriety as chief of the Klan will enable him to raise some needed funds for the school. Nothing is said about his qualifications from an educational standpoint, from which it may be inferred that the university is more interested in cash than in scholarship.

Babe Ruth continues to hit homeruns with his usual frequency. Since no pitcher in the American League seems able to stop the might swatting of the erstwhile pitcher, we hope to see him in the world's championship games to determine if there are any pitchers in the world whose slants he is not able to solve with such precision as to send the ball yards over the park fenses.

The inhabitants along a section of the Kankakee river in Illinois are up in arms. They have declared war. An outlaw fish, said to be four feet long, has been playing havoc with the fisherman's lines. So they have formed a posse and are going after the criminal. It may be true, but the thing sounds like a fish tale to us. Here's betting two bits to the hole in a doughnut they never catch him.

AGE AND ACHIEVEMENT

Cato learned Greek at eighty. Sophocles wrote his living Oedipus when four score years had passed him by. Chaucer was sixty when he wrote the Canterbury tales.

There are some 100 or more other examples to prove that age isn't an indication of achievement or lack of it.

One of the old philosophers declared that he had no respect for an old man, unless he was a wise old man.

Brawn gives way before time, but the brain keeps on building up—if exercised.

EMMA IS DISSATISFIED

Emma Goldman is described as afraid of her life in Russia, to which she was deported from this country on account of her anarchy, that she scarcely dares open her mouth. It certainly must be torture for her not to be able to talk.—Pawhuska Capital.

And yet Russia is putting into practice the very things Emma advocated here for years and which we have on more than one occasion in times past heard preached on the streets of Ada by those of her ilk who denounced everything American. Yet if the Goldman woman and the others shipped to Russia were permitted to return they would again denounce the American government and do as much as ever to bring about its destruction. It is well to leave them amid the conditions they always advocated for America.

Another bidder for fame and fortune has appeared. His claim is based on his assertion that he has discovered a means of producing rain and that he has made millions of dollars this year for the farmers of western Canada by doubling the rainfall. In Africa the rainmakers make use of whistles made of antelope horns, some twenty-odd years ago the United States government had a handsome surplus in the treasury and a slice of it was appropriated to try the effect of dynamite explosions on the clouds. About that time a faker from Australia appeared with what he claimed was a machine that could bring rain just any old time, unless of course, his machine happened to get out of order just before the rain was due. A company was incorporated in Kansas which offered to banish drouth from the western part of the state for the small sum of five cents an acre. We had almost forgotten this ancient history, but here another catcher of suckers bobs up and asserts that he can handle the rainfall and will do it if the financial arrangements are satisfactory.

The president has appointed Senator Lodge as a delegate to the disarmament conference. Lodge is a monumental egotist profiting by Wilson's experience with Mr. Lodge, whose vanity was the mainspring of the opposition to Wilson's treaty. The president will give him a hand and a chance to sit in the game. If there are any qualities of a real statesman and diplomat in the gentleman from Massachusetts, he will now have a superb opportunity of demonstrating same to the waiting world. The country is solidly for universal disarmament and Lodge will have all the backing it can give him. It's up to Lodge to make good.

Those eastern women who have matched a scrap with Congresswoman Alice Robertson will soon learn that they have undertaken a big job. She did not grow up in the days of the Indian Territory and live here in the strenuous days following for nothing. Our advice to those ladies would be to call off the fight before they are considerably disfigured.

Japan wants to limit the talk to limit armaments to limit war to limit expense for the limited pocketbooks of the limited taxpayers.

And now Oklahoma City and Tulsa are imitating Ada in putting on trade days, only they call them interurban days. Strange how little places follow larger ones.

In The Oil Fields

--A little excitement was created Tuesday when the Producers struck an oil sand, but it proved to be only two feet in thickness and the excitement died away. The well is still drilling and it is hoped to find the sand at a lower depth.

The Transcontinental has a fishing job but will probably complete it today and resume drilling.

Drilling on the Producers and Refiners well, in the nw nw of section 6-3-6, had reached 1350 feet, according to a report from the well late Monday. Satisfactory progress is being made.

Estimated production in the fields of the Mid-Continent at the close of the past week was as follows: North Louisiana, 62,010 barrels; Arkansas, 77,825 barrels; North Texas, 177,270 barrels; Kansas, 95,000 barrels; Oklahoma, outside of Cushing, Shamrock and Healdton, 231,000 barrels; Cushing and Shamrock, 26,500 barrels; Healdton and Hewitt, 69,500 barrels; total, 739,105 barrels, a gain of 7,695 barrels in comparison with the preceding week.

The estimated daily production of heavy gravity oil in the Gulf Coast field was 100,065 barrels.

News and Views From the Locals of Farmers Unions

News of the activities of the Farmer's Union Locals will be given in the Weekly News from time to time. This does not necessarily mean that we approve every sentiment expressed, but, being a newspaper for the farmers, it wants to give all the news.

Ada, Oklahoma,

To the Farmers' Union and Public:

There will be a farmers' union picnic at Ford's Lake on Saturday, September 10, 1921. There will be stand concessions and all those desiring stand concessions can see committee at City Hall on September 10, 3 p. m. And further, we are expecting as grand a gathering and as great boosting time for the Farmers' Union of Pontotoc county on that day as ever went on record

Mr. Ed Reiger, of State Union Executive Committee will be there to address the people in regard to perfecting the organization of the Farmers' Co-Operative Exchange for Ada. All the members of the Farmers' Union who read this read it to some one else and be sure to attend. You will see and hear something that will be gratifying to you. Come to the picnic at Ford's Lake and hear something will do you good all of your life.

This picnic is for everybody. Come and enjoy yourself one day with the farmers and their families and let's all have a jolly good time. This will be the time to get acquainted one with another. We are looking forward and anticipate a great gathering of people from all parts of Pontotoc county and hope all who will and do come will be benefitted. There will be plenty of nice cool shade, plenty of good cool water and many other things to enjoy too numerous to mention. This will probably be the last picnic given by the Farmers' Union for this season and it is hoped that there will be a great gathering of the people present.

This gathering of the people on this day will be encouraging to the farmers and their families. Now with these words will ask everyone to come. Bring well filled baskets and enjoy yourselves once more in life.

B. V. HAMPTON,
Corresponding Secretary for the Pontotoc County Union.

SECOND SCOUT GROUP RETURNS FROM CAMP

After having a "rip-roaring" good time on Honey creek, in the Arbuckles ,said to be one of the most beautiful places in the state, another group of Ada scouts has returned home, glad to be back but pleased with the four days' trip to the mountains.

The boys were in charge of Scout Executive Harry W. Miller and Oscar Parker. Twenty-eight local boys went. They report that the part of the country they visited is the attraction for a large number of people.

The camp location was selected in a place where the boys had access to all the amusements afforded. Trips to Turner Falls, Crystal Cave and other places in the mountains were made.

BOLL WEVIL BEING KILLED ELECTRICALLY

Insect electrocution machines are being manufactured in Austin and are being put into practical use for the eradication of the cotton boll weevil and pink boll worm. It is expected the new invention will save cotton farmers many millions of dollars a year by the destruction of the insect pests which are the cause of enormous losses annually. The machine is the invention of Clarke Blanks, former student of the University of Texas, and at the present time living in Austin. Mr. Blanks has used the devise for several years and it has proven a uccess.

In brief, the new machine consists of a small gasoline engine, a generator and the necessary electrical apparatus for conducting the electrical from the generator to the cotton stalk and to the tround. The outfit is carried on the regular cotton cultivator and is constructed to be operated while plowing is being done with the cultivator. The arrangement eliminated the necessity for making a special trip over the field for the purpose of exterminating the weevils.

The generator provides an electrical current of several volts, which is conducted through a series of feelers to the ground and to the cotton stalk. The current kills all the eggs, larvae and pupa of the weevil, not only saving the crop is progress of growing, but also in the meantime destruction through inability of additional weevil to mature. No attempt is made to destroy the parent weevil, as that insect flies and makes it practically impossible.

It is stated, however, the actual crop can be saved by the invention and the parent weevil in time exterminated.

In the test that was given on farms near here recently, in the presence of several state officials, several feilds of cotton were gone over with the invention. The results in fields per acre of treated cotton and the untreated will be compared at the end of the season.

CONNALLY WANTS TO ENFORCE LAW

Commissioner of Labor Invited to Investigate Conditions Here.

That Claude E. Connally, state commissioner of labor is only carrying out the law of the state as he understands it is the substance of a letter received by the News from him today. Later in a telephone conversation with the labor commissioner, the News asked him to come to Ada and look over the situation personally to determine whether the eight hour law would apply in all cases in this county where it has been enforced or attempted to be enforced, particularly where it prohibits farmers from getting work with their teams.

"Mr. Connally," the reporter asked, " if a body of men want to have the street in front of their homes paved, make their own agreement with the contractor, and pay for it direct to the contractor, would the eight hour law apply?"

To this question the commissioner said the law would not apply as that would come under the same head as laying sidewalks. No tax money would be involved.

Mr. Connally fails to state in his letter whether a person hauling gravel by contract is in a different position from one working by the day. It is reported that a representative from his office stopped men from hauling gravel more than eight hours a day, even while they were working on a basis of so much per yard for gravel delivered on the road, thereby causing the contractors to cut off the men, many of whom were farmers and need the work, and substitute trucks.

The commissioner stated that he has nothing to do with the justice or injustice of the law, but that it is his duty to enforce it, regardless of consequences.

The letter:

"I have been reliably informed that a number of the citizens of your community are under the impression that the Commissioner of Labor is assuming an unreasonable and unwarranted attitude in the enforcement of the Labor Laws affecting public work in Pontotoc County, such as the construction of roads, bridges, public buildings and other work paid for with public funds, appropriated by the citizens of your community. Believing your paper does not wish an injustice done to any public official, I wish to make a brief explanation and request you to publish the same.

"The State law, (Section 3757 Revised Laws, 1910) provides that eight hours shall constitute a days work by and on behalf of the State, or any County, City, Township or other municipality thereof, and the only exception to this is in cases where it may be necessary to work in excess of eight hours for the protection of property or human life, and it is further provided in this law that not less than the current rate per diem wages shall be paid for such labor. The above law was passed for the purpose of Vitalizing Section 1 of Article 23 of the Constitution of Oklahoma which says 'eight hours shall constitute a days work by or on behalf of the State or any County or Municipality.' This law extends to contractors or sub contractors.

"There is a further provision in the above law which requires that all contracts made by or on behalf of the State, or any County or Municipality shall be made on the basis of eight hours constituting a days work. This law has been upheld by the Supreme Court of the United States.

"Now, the law makes it the fundamental duty of the Commissioner of Labor to see that the Labor laws of the State are enforced: In this instance a complaint was filed with this Department by laborers in Pontotoc county and the commissioner of Labor is merely exercising the functions of his office by the enforcement of this law.

"Finally, the contractors are the only persons that can possibly be benefitted by working long hours and with reduced pay on such public work. The money goes no farther because the contractor or subcontractor takes the job with the understanding that it is to be completed within a specified time, and he undoubtedly knows that his contract shall be made upon the basis of eight hours constituting a days work, etc.

"I hope the citizens of Ada and vicinity will understand from this that there is no intention whatever on our part to impose on any one. There is nothing in the law which compels contractors to submit bids on this work and when they do submit them, they are supposed to know what the restrictions are."

Let a News Want Ad Get it.

LEGLESS MAN WILL TRY 200-MILE WALK

ARDMORE, Aug. 23.—A walk 200 miles on his knees with the aid of his crutches is the task which "Shorty" Erwin of this city will begin early Monday morning—Erwin is going to Ranger, Texas, via Fort Wrth for a visit with relatives and is assuming this unique method "just to show the people that when a fellow loses his legs he is not handicapped."

The task is self imposed and he hopes to average seven miles a day, walking thirty days of the time and resting ten days.

By BYRON NORRELL

I visited the Center school Friday where Mr. Hill and Mrs. Duvall, the county demonstration agents had an appointment to meet with the boys' and girls' clubs. Center is very much alive in the matter of club work and the following have been organized: Sewing, canning, poultry, pig, calf, dairy, corn, cotton, peanut , potato, kafir and fruit. These are combined in a general club which meets one Friday afternoon in each month and renders a program. The big club is called the Work and Win Club. Its charter had arrived just before the meeting of Friday and was delivered to the officers by Mrs. Old, superintendent of the school. The club is composed of more than 100 wide awake boys and girls and these will prove a valuable asset to the community. Byron Rucker is the president, Craig Parker, vice-president and Lady May Austell, secretary-treasurer.

When Oklahoma entered statehood Center was one of the first communities to vote bonds and build a commodious school house. Since that time the school has stood in the front rank in Pontotoc county and the Center people hope to make possible a still further extension of its work by creating a consolidated district. At present the enrollment is 163. There are ten grades in the curriculum. The faculty is composed of Mrs. Amos Old, superintendent, Lester Medlock, Miss Pearl Perry, Miss Lana Perry and Mrs. Netta Qualls. I was very favorably impressed by the spirit manifested by both teachers and pupils. The school board is composed of J. J. Copeland, Mrs. Ethel Taylor and Sam Smith.

Active preparations are under way to participate in the township fair at Vanoss and the Work and Win boys and girls will do their best to live up to the name of their club. It is very plain that Center expects to carry off its share of blue ribbons both there and later at the county fair.

Demonstration work in Pontotoc county is a matter of comparatively recent growth. When first introduced there was no small amount of opposition and suspicion. The Chamber of Commerce of Ada paid part of the salaries of the agents when the work was first started, but today one finds altogether a different spirit. Mr. Hill and Mrs. Duvall are very much in demand in all parts of the county and Prof. Pratt has done much to help the work along since coming to Pontotoc county. While the work among the grown people has been excellent and an increasing number of these are all the time taking advantage of the opportunity placed at their disposal, the results among the younger people will be most striking when they grow up and put into practice on a large scale the things they are learning every day. Saturday afternoon I dropped in at the demonstration rooms of the Chamber of Commerce offices and saw a number of young girls under the direction of Mrs. Duvall packing some of their canned products. These girls were learning lessons right there that will benefit them as long as they live. Mrs. Duvall reaches many every Saturday that she does not have time to reach during the week and in this way extends the scope of her work.

I always favored demonstration work, and when two years ago I moved to a little farm I had a chance to test out the plan. Often I needed information and it was very easy to call up Mr. Hill and ask him about it, or have him drop in and look over what I wanted. On one occasion I wanted to terrace some land; I called on Mr. Hill and he gave us the grade an minute directions for the work. One of my hogs took something like cholera; I sent for the agent to look him over and then help vaccinate the entire herd. The same applied to planting and cultivating my crops. Farming is a much bigger subject than the casual observer might think and when a competent man devotes his entire time to studying and demonstrating the best methods, it means improvement all along the line.

The township and county fairs are not far off now. The catalog is out and all producers can judge what they stand the best chance of winning. Even if they can't hope to win on everything, it will help to merely exhibit the products of their industry. The more exhibits the better the fair. There is nothing so helpful as having an opportunity to compare the results of one's efforts with those of others. By all means let us have the best to be had. I expect to attend all of the township afirs in the county and I hope to be able to report a good interest everywhere.

Prof. Pratt, Mr. Hill and Mrs. Duvall attended a meeting at Vanoss school last week called to consider the township fair that will be held there September 9. Mr. Pratt reports an attendance of around 400 and says the people intend to make it something worth while.

It will interest our readers to know that the Ada Chamber of Commerce is working to secure a creamery. If this is done, it will help to relieve a very difficult and unusual situation. There is plenty of feed in the country, but it can't be shipped with profit because of the high freight rates, hence some means must be found to consume it profitably at home. The milk cow offers the best plan and the quickest means of relief. With cream checks coming in every week the farmers and business men will not have to worry about boll weevil next year. The great trouble in securing a creamery in times past has been the lack of enough cows to make the business porfitable, but more farmers than ever are now selling dairy products and others are ready to make a start as soon as possible. Keep the good work going.

Very frequently our correspondents fail to sign their names to their items. I don't want the names for publication, but I do want to know the author of each and every communication that comes in. This is a protection to our correspondents as well as the News, for otherwise some one might slip something that the regular correspondent would not want and we would not know but what is was work of the regular correspondent. Unless the communication s are signed we can never be certain of the authorship.

Facts are troublesome things that often mar a good story when a writer undertakes to confine himself to them instead of fixing up the story to make readable. Hence in the following account of my visit to R. F. Smith, who made his millions in the furniture business in Ada and then retired to enjoy a life of ease on a sixty acre farm and loafing in a small grocery store enough to escape the law against vags at Colbert school house, three miles north of Ada, I do not intend to be hampered by a regard for facts, but will give the story according to my own ideas of how it might or could be.

Tuesday, about 1 o'clock, I dropped into the store. Business was not rushing just then, and Mr. Smith was noozing on the counter. I called to him but he never moved. Then I took out the last three coppers that stood between me and starvation and rattled them. Instantly Mr. Smith was wide awake and hit the floor with both of his No. 11's, but collapsed when he saw who was there, for he knew from past experience that I never parted with a copper willingly and it was too hot to make any special inducement to spend them for any of his attractive bargains.

Conversation drifted around to farming operations. Of course I told him some great tales about how I handled things on Hoot Owl ranch but he refused to be bluffed. Presenting me with the last cigar in the show case, probably as a bribe to deal gently with him, he proposed that we take a look at his corn field. It was some crop, I must admit, but really I would not go on the stand and swear it was his. I maintained that it must be the field of some neighbor, but he stoutly denied the insinuation. However, I have no means of knowing whether those fine ears on the stalks along the road grew there or wehther he swiped them and wired them on the stalks for exhibition. Some of them bore a strong resemblance to ears that grew on Hoot Owl ranch last year. He claims that he raised five big ears on exhibition at the Oklahoma State bank. However, if he establishes his ownership to the crop there will be no danger of either himself or his span of mules going hungry before another crop is raised. He claimed to have plowed the corn seven times, hence the excellnce of the yield.

Such are conditions as they might be. When it comes to facts the Smith family is snugly established in a well built house just west of the school house, pleasantly situated in a grove of oak trees. They are supplied with an unlimited quantity of fine water from a well in the yard and with a concrete basement under the house fitted for housing potatoes and other produce, they are in a position to live in splendid fashion the year around. He has a good crop of potatoes coming on and a lot of peanuts as well as other crops. The orchard is young but promising, especially the berries of which he has several varieties. He also raised a fine crop of melons. Another convenience enjoyed is gas.

Mr. Smith has been offered some fancy prices for his place, but he and his family are too well satisfied to consider selling now.

Compiled by CHARLES W. MILLER
Vicksburg (Miss.) Herald

Honor thy father and thy mother: that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth three.—(Ex. xx: 12). Children, obey your parents in all things: for this is well pleasing unto the Lord. Fathers, provoke not your children to anger, lest they be discouraged.—(Col. iii: 20, 21). A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches, and loving favour rather than silver and gold. Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it.—(Prov. xxii: 1, 6). The rod and reproof give wisdom: but a child left to himself bringeth his mother to shame. Correct thy son, and he shall give thee rest; yea, he shall give delight unto thy soul.—(Prov. xxix: 15, 17). Whoso robbeth his father or his mother, and saith, it is no transgression; the same is the companion of a destroyer.—(Prov. xxvii: 24). Little children, let no man deceive you: he that doeth righteousness is righteous, even as He is righeous. He that committeth sin is of the devil; for the devii sinneth from the beginning. For this purpose the Son of God was manifested, that He might destroy the works of the devil.—(I John iii: 7, 8).

Mayor Sounds Warning To The Sidewalk Spitters' Club

Are you a member of the Sidewalk Marksmen club?

In other words, Mr. Tobacco Chewer, have you ever been guilty of engaging in an argument with other "chewers" on one of the downtown street corners and thoughtlessly marred the sidewalk or curb by plastering it with tobacco juice?

If you have, the city is looking for you. A movement to stop the practice of promiscuous spitting of tobacco juice on the sidewalks and on the curbs of the city, has been branded by city officials as "not only indecent but actually a violation of an important city ordinance."

The campaign to stop, at least to some extent., the appearance of blotched sidewalks, which may be seen on any corner after a meeting of "chewers," has been launched. A statement in which he discourages the "habit on the part of any person or persons who unintentionally far the streets of Ada by their use of the sidewalks as a cuspidor" was authorized Friday by Mayor Gary Kitchens.

"I realize that we cannot have spotless streets," Mayor Kitchens said, "but by a combined effort on the part of all citizens we can make this one of the most beautiful towns in the state. It is not the intention of any city official, I am sure, to attempt to set up a bunch of 'blue laws' that will not permit of a free use of the streets for any legitimate purpose. But when tobacco users, without thinking, leave their trails on the walks, especially in the crowded down-town section, they heap an injustice upon those who object to seeing the sidewalks made repulsive with this kind of filth."

Strict enforcement of the city ordinance that probits spitting on the sidewalk has not been carried out because it is at worst a thoughtless act, city officials explained. Many business men have objected, however, to seeing walks in front of their stores made unsightly by the tobacco spitter nuisance, it is understood.

"We shall merely ask that this practice stop before taking any drastic steps," the Mayor said.

WHEN MEMORY IS POOR, EVEN THE ODDS JUDGE SAYS

While an interpreter sat close by to explain what the contending parties were saying, Justice of the Peace W. H. Fisher heard two Mexicans exhaust practically their entire vocabulary yesterday afternoon in denouncing each other over an old debt that had torn the two families.

One Mexican had brought a garnishment action against his countryman to recover $24 which he alleged was due him. In his own tongue and with as much force as he could command, the second answered that he had paid all but $18 of the alleged debt and would stand pat on his refusal to pay it again.

Then Justice Fisher took a hand. After the court, the interpreter, attorneys and much patience had proved to no avail in pouring oil on their troubled waters, the judge gave them warning that each had a poor memory and dismissed the case. He split the cost between them and the two were on friendly terms before they left the room.

ALLEN CITIZENS ARE GOOD ROAD BOOSTERS

Commissioner Clay Stephens was at Allen Friday conferring with one of the commissioners of Hughes county and the citizens of Allen and vicinity regarding road matters. Mr. Stephens states that he found the Allen crowd the best road boosters he has seen in the county. They meet every Tuesday night, discuss plans for their Trade Day and good roads and then get out and do some effective road work.

The streets of Allen have been oiled and Mr. Stephens states that the first mile and a half of road to Ada leading south from Allen, will be oiled soon. The method is to thoroughly oil the sand, then harrow and drag it until the oil is thoroughly mixed and the surface in proper condition.

The road to Allen will be graded from the end of the graveled section east of Ada the entire length to Allen. Work is being pushed on the graveling now, seven big trucks being hard at work. A mile per week is the rate of speed now.

Mr. Stephens states that it was planned to give this work of hauling to local farmers with wagons and teams and some went to work hauling at so much per yard when the state labor commission forbade them to work more than eight hours per day. They were not able to make living wages on that basis and the trucks were put on.

Race Suicide Higher Among College Grads Opion of Experts

BOSTON, Mass:, Aug. 22—Is race suicide increasing among college graduates?

Maurice Ricker of the United States Public Health Service says that it is, and quotes statistics. Some college presidents are inclined to doubt the conclusions drawn by the Health Service official and think his figures give a wrong impression. Others say that from lack of statistics of their own, they are not prepared to discuss the subject. They admit that Mr. Ricker's figures are startling and that they present a disquiteting view of the future.

Adressing the recent convention of the National Educational Association in Des Moines, Ia., Mr. Ricker was quoted as follows: "Investigation by the federal public health service aver a period of years indicates that the progeny of one thousand graduates from such instutions as Harvard, Yale, Princetan, Vassar and Smith will not exceed fifty in one hundred years from now." He proceeded to compare the results of a simular canvass among illiterate foreigners and said it indicated in a like peroid the original thousand would be multiplied at least a hundred times.

Frederick L. Allen, secretary of the Harvard University Corporation produced some figures of his own from the Harvard records. He said:

Harvard Figures Shown

"Mr. Ricker's assertion would seem at forst reading to give the impression that college students have on the average less than one child apiece. This is not so among Harvard graduates at any rate. Among the classes 1881-90 at Harvard, the last ten slasses whose statistics are available and may be considered fairly complete. The average number of men per class was 248, of whom 183 married and had 372 children, an average of 2.06 children per married graduate, or 1.55 children per capita for the whole class. The Yale figures for the same period are similar. The birthrate among Harvard graduates declined during the past half century. The decline however, was less sharp in the class between 1870 and 1890 than it had been previously; and a situation which is disquieting at best ,seems thus to be showing a gradual tendency to right itself."

No figures on the subject are available from Wellesley college but President Ellen S. Pendleton gives it as her impression that as far as the alumnae of Wellesley are concerned, the number of marriages and the number of children per marriage have increased rather than decreased as the years have gone by. "Some twenty or more years ago," said Miss Pendleton, "The Association of Collegiate Alumnae gathered quite elaborate statistics comparing the health, number of marriages and number of children per marriage of college women with similar statistics of age. These statistics showed that there was very slight differences between the two classes, but such difference as there was in favor of the college bred women, and as I have said while we have no recent figures my impression is that there are more marriages and more children per marriage in these later years.

Marry Later in Life.

"No one denies that college women marry later in life than non-college women and consequently any statistics that are made up on the basis of women not more than five years out of college would give an entirely wrong impression. I suspect that the same thing would be true of college men."

THREE HELD FOR MARTIN'S DEATH ARE GIVEN BOND

Dyer, Chapman and Good Winners in Habeas Corpus Proceedings.

BAIL SET AT $5,000.00

Defendants in Roff Murder Case Will Make Bond Today, Is Word.

(From Tuesday's Daily)

Bond, set at $5000 each ,was allowed Jim Good ,Obie Dyer and Dick Chapman ,charged with the murder of George Martin at Roff last May, in an order handed down Tuesday morning by District Judge Hal Johnson, of Shawnee, sitting on a special habeas corpus hearing here for the three men.

Petition for bail for Dyer, Chapman and Good was filed several weeks ago immediately after the preliminaries in which all were bound over to the grand jury on the murder charge .Jim God, whose home is at Roff ,was represented in the preliminary by A. L. Bullock, Roff attorney, and the cases of the other defendants was represented by John Crawford, of the law firm of King and Crawford. Judge Johnson announced his decision this morning immediately after the three men were conducted into the court room by Sheriff Bob Duncan.

Attorneys for the defendants said all three would make the $5000 bond Tuesday.

Judge Johnson's decision in the habeas corpus hearing came after two weeks of reviewing testimony taken in the preliminaries. The petition was introduced in the district court when Judge Johnston opened special session here recently but because of a crowded docket he was unable to give judgment at that time.

Frank McClintock ,the first man arrested in connection with the killing of Martin, was denied bail by the criminal court of appeals at Oklahoma City two months ago.

DO RURAL PEOPLE LIKE TO READ—SEE THESE FIGURES

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 24.—Approximately eleven thousand books are now in the hands of rural people, and usually each book is read by a number of people before it is returned. In addition to this host of readers, an average of four hundred books leave the State Capitol each week, bound for communities in all parts of the state.

These figures, given out by Mrs. J. R. Dale, of the Library Commission, the department of state that sends out "traveling libraries," bear out the statement of a County Farm agent who wrote: "Our people are hungry for good reading."

"Another reason for the popularity of the Traveling Libraries is that there is no expense connected with the service except postage and there is no 'red tape' to unravel. The books are sent to rural schools, residences, the offices of Farm Agents and Demonstrators, small community buildings and other places where people are welcome and the books as made free to everybody in the community. They may be kept for two months and renewed for another two months."

Mrs. Dale explained that each Traveling Library contained about 25 books and that these were selected especially for that particular community or group of readers. For instance, libraries going to rural districts have books on agriculture, treatment of soils, dairying, pruning trees, etc. They also contain books of travel, fiction, animal stories; and Boy Scout books as well as books for girls.

"And we nearly always put in a copy of the World Almanac" said the clerk as she finished strapping another Traveling Library to send to the teacher of a rural school, "because this big book has information on everything from statistics to clothes pins."

BUREAU WILL CENTER WORK WITH SOLDIERS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Veterans' difficulties in obtaining government aid are expected to be greatly minimized by the consolidation of all governmental agencies administering soldier relief under one head—the Veterans' bureau. That is what Colonel Charles R. Forbes, of Seattle, Director of the bureau, promises. The day of dual responsibility, of divided authority in the government's dealings with former service men is ended, he says, and troubles of long standing among the veterans will rapidly disappear.

Responsibility for adjusting claims, attending to medical needs and of educating disabled veterans, is definately fixed under the law creating the Veterans' Bureau. It rests squarely upon the director, rather than between the War Risk Insurance Bureau, the Federal board for Vocational Training and the Public Health Service, the three agencies that formerly administered aid independently.

The problem of providing medical facilities, including hospitals, regarded as the most difficult of all those coming within the jurisdiction of the bureau. Plans already are under way for its solution. The bureau announces that the $18,000,000 appropriation for hospital construction will be supplemented by use of authority given the director to enter into contracts with State, municipal and private hospitals for the immediate accommodation of veterans in need of hospital care. The announcement says that 6,800 new beds will be placed in use for soldier patients by January next year.

Other duties of the director inculde inspection of all hospitals having soldier patients, guardianship of 26,630 war risk patients now being cared for in 800 private and 90 government hospitals, command of all Public Health Service doctors and nurses engaged in soldier rehabilitation work. education of men whose earning capacity was impaired by service and who must be taught new means of support, adminstration of an insurance business with 651,054 active and 397,890 policies and a computed value of $2,980,660,235,and the average $1,000,000 a day expenditures by the government in meeting the compenstation and insurance claims which are increasing at the rate of 800 claims a day.

SERVICE MEN PROTEST AGAINST UNEMPLOYMENT

(By the Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 23.—Several hundred men, some said to be ex-service men, paraded through the down town streets of the city today in a protest against unemployment here. Steps leading to the parade were first taken yesterday when 250 men applied for a job as a clerk in a ten cent store.

For that matter, the sun never sets on the Japanese flag.—Meriden Journal.

U.S. WILL REFUSE TO PERMIT BREAK

No Hostilities Growing Out of Costa Rican Move Allowed.

(By the Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—The American foreign department in a not forwarded to Panama yesterday, stated emphatically that the United States would not permit any hostilities growing out of the occupation of the Coto region by Costa Rica.

The American note was a reply to a communication from the Panama government, intimating that if Costa Rica should attempt to reoccupy the Coto territory, force would be used, unless it was made clear that America would not permit it.

The reply stated emphatically that all attempts to use force would be met by the United States.

VAST HAY STORES ARE PREPARED FOR PARKS

YELLOWSTONE PARK, Wyo., Aug. 20.—It's hay time on the 1500 acres of ranch land maintained in Yellowstone for the wild game.

Six hundred tons of hay are being raised this year for the buffalo herds alone. For Yellowstone's winters are long and severe and unless food is provided the buffalo and elk would drift down the valleys and out of the park.

Three ranches are operated as part of the park's game protection program.

This year a "drift fence" is being built to prevent the buffalo from drifting to lower ranges before winter snows makes it desirable to let them roam in the lower valleys. It is seven feet high and of such strength as to withstand the terrific onslaughts of the buffalo herds

Superintendent Horace M. Albright, who has just finished an inspection of the ranches, states that an effort will be made to lay aside several hundred tons each season in preparation for unusually severe winters.

SENATE AGREES TO CONFORM GRAIN BILL

FIRE DAMAGES STOCK OF ADA STORE TODAY

From Tuesday's Daily

Several hundred dollars worth of damage was done to the stock of cigars and confectionery supplies of J. H. Kuykendall at his stand in the McSwain early this morning by fire, water and smoke. It was reported that the fire started from the peanut roaster, smoldering all night only to blaze up when the door allowed a draft to enter.

Firemen were unable to prevent it doing considerable damage as the smoke from burning tobacco was so thick they could not effectively fight it. About $120 in currency and checks were also burned. No exact estimate has been made of damages.

MONDAY'S HEAT RECORD RIVALS SUNDAY REPORT

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 23.—Another day of excessive heat was recorded Monday according to United States weather bureau officials in the morning's report. With five important points of the state heard from it was found that the average daily temperature was 102.8 or four tenths of a degree lower than it was Sunday. Durant and Mangum reported the highest temperatures, each giving a report of 107 degrees.

This is the second day that the 107 degree record has been felt at Durant. Lawton and Ponca City reported 106 degrees and Altus, Kingfisher and Okenee 105 degrees. Weatherford was only a few degrees lower. Most of the cities of the state stood at 103 degrees, weather officials said.

No rain was reported in the state during the 24-hour period which elapsed at 7 a. m. today.

MONEY TO LOAN ON FARM LANDS

With the short cotton crop of this year do you think that you will be able to get by without a farm loan? If so we are glad to hear it. But if you are going to have to have one then we are in the market full handed to take care of you. However we hope that you do not put it off his Fall like you did last Fall for we are looking for the Eastern money market to get much tighter this winter than it did last.

Borrowing money from a loan company is just like borrowing from a bank, if you do business with a bank you want one that is large enough to take care of you at all times. It is the same way with a loan company you want one that can take care of you.

GUM BROTHERS CO., THE LARGEST LOAN COMPANY IN OKLAHOMA, CAN DO IT FOR YOU. THEY HAVE A RECORD OF NOT A FORECLUSURE IN THIS COUNTY, CAN YOU BEAT IT.

1919 CROP VALUED AT $549,249,277

Cotton Shows Ascendancy for Year in Report of U. S. Bureau.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 22.—The total value of all Oklahoma crops harvested in 1919 and marketed in 1919 and 1920 was 549,249,377, according to the official figures of the fourteenth census of the United States department of commerce, made public here today.

Cotton gained the ascendancy in 1919, being valued at $163,011,204 however, it was pointed out that this was an unusual cotton year for Oklahoma. Wheat ranked next in value, being placed at $140,730,350 and corn was rated third, with a valuation of $72,730,350. As compared with 1909, corn increased in value 51.2 on total valuations, although the acreage was decreased 58.2 percent.

Other crop values for 1919 were: Oats $36,376, barley $2,048,119, kafir and milo $23,271,427, hay and forage $50,072,700, potatoes, $4,040,810, broom corn $4,175,981, apples $2,475,306, and peaches $4,533,512.

Farmers not only have received more money for their crops in 1919, although living costs have gone up proportionately, but they raised more of their crop per acre. "The state is better equipped mentally to handle these crops than it was ten years ago." John A. Whitehurst president of the state board of agriculture said, "and that statement is borne out by the federal census figures."

As compared with 1909, the census figures show an increase of 317.6 percent, in the total value of all crops. Wheat increased in value 915.8 percent; in acreage, 302.1 percent, and 2 bushels per acre in yield.

Oats increased 407.2 percent in value, and in acreage from 609,373 acres in 1909, to 1,573,055 in 1919, in production, from 27.3 bushels to 28.9 bushels.

Kafir and milo increased 819.4 percent in value and nearly doubled in acreage, there being 1,152,000 acres harvested in 1919. Cotton increased in value 360.5 percent nearly doubles in acreage and nearly doubles in production, raising 555,742 bales in 1909, as compared with 1,006,242 in 1920.

Broom Corn Value Up.

Broom corn increased 63.2 percent in value, but decreased considerably in acreage, going from 216,350 acres in 1909 to 199,665 in 1919. Notwithstanding this acreage decrease, the poundage in 1919 was larger than that of a decade before, being 59,656,794, as compared with 42,741,725 pounds in 1909.

Apple and peach trees decreased in Oklahoma during the decade, there being a little less than half the number of peach trees and less than half the number of apple trees in 1919, as compared with 1909. Here again the condition of crops is reversed, however 1,596,975 bushels of apples were raised from 1,417,911 trees in 1919, while only 742,182 bushels of apples were harvested from 2,955,310 trees in 1909.

Two million, nine hundred twenty-four thousand, eight hundred forty-two bushels of peaches were harvested from 2,879,945 trees in 1919 compared with 257,644 bushels from 4,783,825 trees in 1909.

Oklahoma's pecan industry was booming in 1919, 400,480 trees being cultivated ,compared with 96,766 trees in 1909. Four million, two hundred ninety-six thousand, six hundred forty two pounds were harvested in 1919, compared with 894,172 pounds in 1909.

There were 25,633 acres of potatoes in 1919, a decrease of 20.6 per cent from 1909, when there were 32,295 acres. The average yield per acre in 1919 was 75.1 bushels, however while in 1909 it was 58.8 bushels, making the 1919 crop 1,924,194 bushels, compared with 1,897,486 bushels in 1909.

Cause of Appendicitis

When the bowels are constipated the lower bowels or large intestines become packed with refuse matter, that is made up largely of germs. These germs enter the vermiform appendix and set up inflammation, which is commonly known as appendicitis. Take Chamberlain's Tablets when needed and keep your bowels regular and you have little to fear from appendicitis.

KONAWA SENDS ASHER NINE DOWN IN DEFEAT

Konawa again held their claim to be the strongest independent team in its section of the state when the Asher ball club took defeat Sunday in a one sided game by a score of 12 to 2. Konawa sluggers hit Asher's pitching almost at will.

Asher defeated the strong Wewoka team on Saturday by a score of 6 to 4. Konawa has taken most of the games this season and have a strong line-up. Walker and Terry former the battery for Konawa.

NO WORK, NO EAT PONCA CHIEF'S POW-WOW RULE

(By the Associated Press.)

PONCA CITY, Aug. 22.—More than 1,000 Cheyennes, with 221 wagons and 150 tepees, are progressing toward the 101 ranch near here, to represent their tribe at the Indian congress starting here September 1. The Arapahoes, Comanches, Apaches, Sioux, Omahas, and Otoes also have promised delegations to this huge council.

The Ponca tribe, headed by Horse-Chief Eagle, is host. Every Indian who participates in the pow wow has been promised his beef rations free for five days, but he must participate, or no beef, Horse-Chief Eagle says.

A monster circle of tents will greet the eye when the encampment is completed. Each tribe, according to custom, places its tepee on the side nearest the direction from whence it came, the Cheyennes on the west, the Otoes on the South east, the Sioux on the north, and the other tribes in similar arrangement. This has been custom for centuries according to the tribe's traditions.

The visit to the Congress September 1, is the first visit of the Cheyennes to the Poncas since 1886, Horse-Chief Eagle says, when three thousand tribal members came in a body as the guests of Antoine Roy, French Ponca. Roy had visited them and given them many presents When he left, they were urged to visit him. They did.

A few months later, they came 3,000 strong, and camped with Antoine Roy at the head of his reservation, near a clear stream. His herd of 100 fine cattle lasted only a few days, for as host he had to feed his gests. Herds of other prominent Poncas fell before the guests, and the Poncas never have raised cattle extensively since that vivsit, Horse-Chief Eagle says.

BENNETT BOY HAS SPENT LIFE HERE

Lad Held for Killing of "Mexican Joe" Is Only 16 Years Old.

From Monday's Daily

When Lloyd Bennett, now known to be only 16 years of age, comes into the court-room Thursday morning for his preliminary on the charge of killing "Mexican Bill" Costello in Glenwood park Sunday night, August 14, he will be surrounded by members of the family, practically all of whom, have lived here for years.

This became known this morning when Mrs. T .E. Bennett, mother of the boy, made her first statement in connection with the shooting for which the son is held.

Every day since the boy was placed in the county jail to await his hearing, Mrs. Bennett has carried his meals to him, conversing with him while he ate. So far, Lloyd has made no statement, even to her, concerning the shooting, she declared Monday morning.

Helped Feed Family.

For several years, in spite of his youth, Lloyd Bennett has made his own living and at the same time helped to support the family, according to the story given this morning by his frail little grief-stricken mother. Last year he, with his brother, made a crop near Lawton, the two tending 160 acres of land. Last finter he worked as a teamster at Fort Sill and since his return to Ada he has been doing odd jobs to help support himself and other members of the family, Mrs. Bennett said. His father is not dead, as previously reported, but has lived here for more than 20 years. He is employed at the cement plant where four other boys, half brothers of Lloyd's, are also working.

Jess, half brother to Lloyd, died of influenza while on transport for France with the A. E. F., it is said.

Although nothing definite is known as to the defense that will be offered by the boy's counsel Thursday, it is expected that startling testimony will be brought to light by relatives. Mrs. Bennett declared Monday that her boy, scarcely more than a lad, had served as a breadwinner for the family for months and that letters from his former employers at Lawton and Fort Sill would be sent here immediately.

NEGRO PLEADS GUILTY ON ASSAULT CHARGE

From Monday's Daily

John Ransum, negro, charged with assault with a dangerous weapon, entered a plea of guilty Monday morning before Justice of the Peace H. J. Brown and paid a fine and cost amounting to $16. Upon permission of County Attorney Wayne Wadlington, the charge was changed to asault.

Ransum who is a truck driver, is alleged to have engaged in a dispute with a white man near Ada on August 1, over giving the road. In the trouble, Ransum is charged with leaving his truck, with an open knife in his hand, and chased the white man from his wagon.

PRATT GOING TO A LARGER FIELD

Prof. B. A. Pratt

Prof. B. A. Pratt, who for several years has been at the head of the department of agriculture of the East Central Normal School, has resigned his position and has accepted the position as state leader of the Boys 'and Girls' agricultural club work for Oklahoma, with headquarters at Stillwater. This is considered an enviable promotion for Prof. Pratt and his friends will be pleased to know that he is meritoriously climbing so rapidly.

Mr. Pratt and his family have been in Ada long enough to make a host of friends. These will regret the leaving of the Pratt family, but opportunity in a larger field offered itself, and Mr. Pratt felt he could not turn it down. His family will be here for some time, though Mr. Pratt is already on the job at Stillwater. He will return to Ada about September 1 to complete his work as secretary of the fair association.

Prof. Pratt is a graduate of the Emporia ,Kansas, high school, Kansas State Normal school and Kansas State Agricultural College, and he has his master's degre from Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn.

His teaching experience consists of six years in the public schools of Kansas, professor of agriculture four years in the state normal school at Warrenburgh, Mo., instructor two years in Peabody College, Nashville ,and professor of agriculture in the East Central Normal since 1917.

In addition to this, he was director of the experiment station at Warrensburg at the time he was professor in the Normal, working in co-operation with the Missouri State College of Agriculture. He was also manager of the Knapp School Farm at Nashville for two years, while he was doing work in the college. During the war he was emergency farm demonstrator working in connection with J. B. Hill of this county. During the year of 1919-20, he was state leader in war garden work.

In his new position, Mr. Pratt will be in charge of the club work, one of the most important phases of the agricultural extension service of the A. and M. College. Those who know of his work here say his loss will be sadly felt at the East Central Normal, but that he will be a strong addition to the extension forces of the agricultural college. While here, he took a leading part in all endeavors to better farming conditions and farm practices.

Hunger, the Best Sauce.

SEMINOLE COUNTY MAN ARRESTED HERE SUNDAY

From Monday's Daily

Lee Perry, an Indian, was placed in the county jail Sunday by Sheriff Bob Duncan and a liquor charge probably will be filed against him Monday afternoon. Jess Sweet, who is said to live in Seminole county, was taken into custody here Sunday and was being held today for Seminole county officers. Sweet is wanted there on a charge of stealing a suit case and some clothing, according to officers. The deputy sheriff of Seminole county arrived here this morning to escort the man back for trial.

ASHER SPLITS DOUBLE WITH WEWOKA NINE

ASHER, Aug. 22.—(Special)—Asher split with the wewoka ball club in a series of two games here Friday and Saturday. Wewoka won Friday's game 10 to 0 and Asher took Saturday's game 6 to 4.

Both games were played during the picnic which was held here on those days. Asher has been making a good record this season and although many of her games are lost, she has been able to make a better showing than ever before.

NEW GRAVEL CONTRACT IS LET FOR TWO BLOCKS

Another graveling contract has been let by property owners in 500 and 600 blocks on E. Twelfth street. Work was started today on laying gravel.

It is also reported that efforts are being made by property owners in the 400 block on East Twelfth street to get graveling. This will connect with the graveling on South Mississippi avenue.

CARDUI HELPED REGAIN STRENGTH

Alabama Lady Was Sick For Three Years, Suffering Pain, Nervous and Depressed—Read Her Own Story of Recovery.

Paint Rock, Ala.—Mrs. C. M. Stegall, of near here, recently related the following interesting account of her recovery: "I was in a weakened condition. I was sick three years in bed, suffering a great deal of pain, weak, nervous, depressed. I was so weak, I couldn't walk across the floor; just had to lay and my little ones do the work. I was almost dead. I tried every thing I heard of, and a number of doctors. Still I didn't get any relief. I couldn't eat, and slept poorly. I believe if I hadn't heard of and taken Cardui I would have died. I bought six bottles, after a neighbor told me what it did for her.

"I began to eat and sleep, began to gain my strength and am now well and strong. I haven't had any trouble since . . . I sure can testify to the good that Cardui did me. I don't think there is a better tonic made and I believe it saved my life."

For over 40 years, thousands of women have used Cardui successfully, in the treatment of many womanly ailments.

If you suffer as these women did, take Cardui. It may help you, too. At all druggists. E 85

WARD BUILDINGS READY TO START

All Grade Pupils to Find Room in School Early in September.

Accommodations for all pupils in grade schools will be available this year, according to City Superintendent J. E. Hickman, who stated today that with the opening of the new building he believed that the first enrolment would be handled satisfactorily. Rooms will become crowded later in the fall, he believes.

School starts September 12, in both the grades and high school. Larger enrolments than ever before are expected in each. With six word schools handling pupils, it is believed that yet another school building is needed, or at least will be needed before another school year.

Mr. Hickman stated this morning that he had completed the rounds of all the school buildings in the city and that outside of a few minor repaairs which are being made, the buildings are in good shape for the coming school year. Office work is being pushed to completion and everything will be in shape for the first day of school.

J. J. SIMPSON SHOWING LATE CROP CUCUMBERS

J. J. Simpson, who lives northeast of Ada three miles, at old Hurd, is showing cucumbers which have grown since July 4. Mr. Simpson planted about 200 hills on Independence Day, and two weeks later planted about 500 hills more, following cantaloupes. These are now bearing and are particularly good for pickling.

Mr. Simpson's telephone is L-53 and he will be glad to give any one information about growing a late crop. He believes that this is not an unusually good season and that the same kind of cucumbers can be grown any year. He is also giving the information to J. B. Hill, and this will be an added incentive in getting a pickling plant to locate here.

BONE DRY MOVEMENT STARTED IN MEXICO CITY

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 22.—There is a well defined movement here which is said to have some official backing to make the federal district which embraces Mexico City bone dry by September 1.

It is proposed to close all saloons and cantinas and to stop the sale of all intoxicants, including pulquqe, the principal native drink.

During the adminstration of provisional President de la Huerta several prohibition measures were enforced but were eventually lifted after violent protests had been made by liquor vendors and their thirsty customers.

FUGITIVE COMES BACK TO FAMILY

Tishomingo Man Returns, Weary and Footsore, to Testify.

Richard Lowry, who fled from his family and moving outfit when he was approached by Pontotoc and Johnson county officers along the road south of Ada recently in an effort to get him as a witness in an important murder hearing at Tishomingo, has returned.

After almost a week of wandering, the fugitive came into Tishomingo late last week, hunted up the county attorney, and said he was ready to submit to being made a witness and to "tell all he knew." Lowry's story started with the visit of an alleged crowd of "White-Caps" to his home shortly before a sensational murder was committed near Tishomingo. Complications that arose with the murder involved Lowry as a witness and, fearing that he was about to become the victim of mob violence, he made a hurried exit from his home, heading north.

Is Wanted in Ada.

Lowry is still wanted here on a charge of carrying a pistol and resisting an officer.

Following is an account of Lowry's surrender to Johnston county officers taken fro the Johnston County Capital Democrat:

"Lowry said he was tired of dodging the officers, lying in the woods, and was footsore 'I want to be with my wife and child,' he said, 'and I am going to tell the truth in the Williams case'."

"When a reporter arrived at the Lowry home, he found a tall, sallow complectioned young man about 24 years old with about 10 days' growth of beard on his face. He was footsore and weary, having been on the dodge from officers for a week.

"'Hello, Richard', said his sister-in-law, a young girl from Maud who was staying with her sister while Lowry was on the scout. 'You sure look tired and worn out'.

"'Yes', said Lowry, 'I am worn out and could hardly get up when the boys came after me'."

Hiding in Thicket.

Lowry was found by his friends on the Turnbull place, near Tishomingo. He was said to be hiding in a thicket and when friends went and told him that he was in no danger and was wrong in dodging the law he came home with them, to tell the truth about the purported story he is alleged to have known.

"I have been through hell this week," Lowry is said to have told the city marshall of Tishomingo when he came in. Lowry said he signed no statement of any kind about the Williams murder and declared he did not know Marion Williams, the dead man.

The examining trial of Phillips, held in connection with the killing that almost estranged Lowry from his family, is scheduled for this week.

Same Old Story But a Good One

Mrs. Mahala Burns, Savanna, Mo., relates an experience the like of which has happened in almost every neighborhood in this country, and has been told and related by thousands of others, as follows: "I used a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy about nine years ago and it cured me of flux (dysentery). I had another attack of the same complaint three or four years ago and a few doses of this remedy cured me. I have recommended it to dozens of people since I first used it and shall continue to do so for I know it is a quick and positive cure for bowel troubles." (adv)

R. W. SIMPSON IMPRESSED WITH SIZE OF COUNTRY

"The immensity of the United States was deeply impressed on me by our five weeks trip through the Northwest," said R. W. Simpson. "Traveling on a train one does not pay so much attention to distance, but five weeks in an auto gives one an opportunity to observe more closely."

Mr. Simpson and family went through Kansas and he states that that state is looking fine now. Throughout Colorado and Wyoming tourists were everywhere, some camping and others putting up at hotels. The citizens are all boosters and even small towns are strictly up to date in every particular and ready to grasp every opportunity. Thriving on tourist trade, they endeavor to make every visitor feel at home and want to come back next season. Rates are reasonable and roads good.

Simpson says the Chamber of Commerce of Colorado Springs is the greatest organization of its kind he has ever seen. A dozen or more people are employed. If a tourist wants, information on a route to California or elsewhere, they look it up for him, no matter how much times it takes, and invite him to come back when he wants anything else.

From Farmer Boy to College Chair This Educator's Record

(By the Associated Press)

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Aug. 22.—From a farm boy to vice-president and directing head of Purdue university, one of the leading agricultural and engineering universities in the country, is the unsought honor that has been bestowed upon Henry W. Marshall, of this city. Mr. Marshall was born near Springfield, O., January 29, 1865, but was reared on a farm near Montmorenci, Ind. He attended the grade and high schools in the rural district, but his greatest schooling has been in the world of experience.

When a young man Mr. Marshall left the farm and came to Lafayette His first employment was a bookkeeper. He had the intuition of men who do things, however, and it was not long until he was engaged in construction work. He becanoe county in the sixty-first, six-Bridge company, holding that position until it was absorbed by the American Bridge company. He then became president and general manager of the Western Construction company, and for many years was president of the electric light, heat, water and street railway company at Evansville He disposed of his utility holdings a year ago, also his interest in the construction company.

Mr. Marshall represented Tippecanoe county in the sivty-first, sixty-second and sixty-third general assemblies of the Indiana legislature and during the sixty third session was speaker of the house. He was vice-president of the Louisana Purchase Exposition held at St. Louis in 1904, and presided at the dedication of the Indiana building.

Mr. Marshall entered the field of journalism in 1914, when he purchased the Lafayette Morning Journal. His endeavors met with success and in 1919 he purchased the Lafayette Daily Courier. The publications were consolidated in 1920 and are now known as the Lafayette Journal and Courier. He also owned the Evansville Courier, but disposed of his holdings there in January, 1921.

In April, 1921, Mr. Marshall was appointed a member of the board of trustees of Purdue University and later was made chairman of the executive committee. When it came to the knowledge of the trustees that Dr. W. E. Stone, president of Purdue university, had lost his life in attempting to climb Mount Eanon, in the Canadian Rockies, Mr. Marshall was appointed by Hon. Joseph D. Oliver, of South Bend, president of the board of trustees, to look after the university affairs. At a subsequent meeting of the board o ftrustees he was unanimously chosen as vice president of the university, with all power and duties of the president. He did not seek the honor, but because of his successful business career, and the urgent need of a business head, the trustees of Purdue insisted that he serve until such time as a president is selected.

Children Bitten by Mad-Dog on Streets of Allen Is Report

ALLEN, Aug. 22.—(Special).—War has been declared on all canines in Allen, due to a scare caused by a stray dog running amuck the last of the week and biting a number of children and older people before it was finally killed.

The dog, an attractive little beggar, was picked up by Will McElroy, who with his family was returning from the direction of Steedman Shortly after the dog was picked up by Mr. McElroy it attacked and bit one of the children, later biting another.

The McElroy and other children bitten were taken to a madstone near Stonewall Tuesday, where it was said the stones were adhering to their wounds, and several others have signified their attention of trying either that or the Pasteur treatment.

The head of the dog was sent to the bacteriologist at the University hospital at Oklahoma City, where it was examined and was said to contain evidence of rabies.

Work of thinning out the dog population is still going on, and there will be considerably fewer dogs when the armistice is declared.

$555,000 TURNED IN ON INSURANCE

State's Coffers Enriched by Immense Sum During Last Year.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 20.—Oklahoma's treasury is richer by $555,000 this year, because of the activities of the state insurance department according to the annual report of E. W. Hardin, state insurance commissioner, made public today. The report is now in the hands of the printer.

The department since statehood, the report shows, had netted $5,581,068, while the receipts for 1920 were $575,960.63. The expenditures for 1920 for were $20,099.39.

"We're proud of our department, as I guess every other state official is proud of his department," Mr. Hardin said. "Did you ever hear of a business which was paying large profits, and running on about 3.5 percent of its earnings?"

The insurance department, according to the commissioner, is running on about 3.5 percent of its earnings, and has averaged an expense of department, less than 5.5 percent since statehood.

Mr. Hardin stated that decreases in business written by certain forms of insurance shown in 1920, directly neglected the economic conditions. The reflection should be the reverse than that shown, to advertise proper business control, however, he said.

"It is the desire of the office to explain why buying insurance in poor economic times, in times of slow credit, is good business," he said. "The more fire insurance, or any sort of insurance any merchant has, the easier it is for him to gain an extension of credit. The tighter the credit times, the more insurance I should invest in," he said.

Hail Insurance High

The total crop hail insurance written by all companies in Oklahoma, was $16,172,452 according to the report. The premiums paid were $1,194,576.60, and the losses incurred were $623,592.18. This loss was greater by 28 percent than in 1919.

"Natural laws govern this form of insurance more than any other. Many fires are of course started by outside influences, but nature alone is responsible for a hail year. This year, the business written probably will be larger than last, as after a heavy hail year, farmers are more apt to purchase protection in the form of insurance," the commissioner explained.

The total business written for fire and marine insurance in 1920 was $740,523,688, and the total premiums paid, $14,546,644, according to the report. The losses of $6,803,900.63 shows an incurred loss ratio of 46.5 percent according to Hardin. For fire alone, his report shows an incurred loss ration of 45.5 percent, and for marine insurance, 50.7 percent.

The total reciprocal insurance written was $1,561,512, with a loss of $854,285. The loss ratio was set at 54.7 percent in mutual insurance the loss ratio was 42 percent and the losses in money were $282,335. Total premiums were $667,616.

Fraternal insurance reflected the influenza epidemic as much as any other form of life insurance, Hardin said. The total fraternal insurance written in 1920 was $30,169,272 and the premiums paid were $2,643,167. Claims paid amounted to $1,715,289, half of the premiums paid. In 1919, during the epidemic of influenza, $16,656,167 more fraternal insurance was written than the preceding year.

"People are in a hurry to cover up, to lock the door after the horse is gone," the commissioner said. "However, it often happens that there are a good many horses left in the barn to protect, so that's all right."

FUNERAL SUNDAY FOR STRATFORD WAR VETERAN

A military funeral will be given John M. Perkins, of Stratford, formerly private in Company "I", 142nd Infantry, whose body is expected to reach home this week. The funeral will be held at Stratford Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock and will be under the auspices of Stratford Post No. 205, American Legion.

Notice of the funeral was received in Ada today from C. F. Forrester, post commander. Former service men from all parts of the county have been invited to be in Stratford Sunday afternoon and assist with the funeral.

Perkins was well known in Pontotoc county before the war and is said to have an unusual record for service overseas.

FLOYD DRAGGED HALF MILE ACROSS FIELD

Denton Floyd, son of County Superintendent A. Floyd, was painfully injured Friday when he became entangled in a chain and was dragged almost half a mile by a frightened mule.

Floyd was working around a hay bailing outfit in the Union Valley community when his foot became caught in the chain. At this juncture the animal became startled and raced across the field. The young man received skin and flesh injuries on the back and chest but is reported resting well today at his home, 1019 E. Eighth street.

FIRST OPEN COTTON BOLL BROUGHT IN

Saturday afternoon Fred Blankenship brought in the first open boll of cotton seen at the News office this season. Usually a bale or two has been marketed here before this date, but the boll weevil has been too busy this year for that.

BIG ATTENDANCE AT NORMAL SEEN

Aside from the fact that the Normal has experienced a very successful summer session, Mr. Linscheid bases his prediction for a large attendance upon the fact that a director of rural education has been appointed, and is already at work in the field; that successful advertising has been done; and that the good feeling which prevails throughout the district, together with the organization of a new association whose avowed purpose is giving the Normal school the right kind of publicity, will result in an increased attendance ,the increase coming from the more mature teachers of the district.

Extension Work.

"It is also true that the Normal school is doing more extension work than ever before, and it is the history of institutions in the United States that those schools which have done most extension work have grown most rapidly, while those who have done no extension work have ceased to grow. The Normal school will do a greater amount of correspondence and extension work during the coming year than any similar institution in Oklahoma has ever attempted before.

Athletic Outlook Good.

"The coming of Coach Thompson has had the effect of stimulating an interest in athletics. Mr. Thompson played football for four years on the Phillips University team in the days when that institution had a championship team, and he has taken traing in coaching under Coach Stagg of the University of Chicago. In addition, he has played baseball for three years on the Phillips University team, basketball four years, and was on the Phillips track team for three years, making thirteen letters in athletics, a record which no graduate of that university has ever equalled.

"A number of the last year's team will be in the game again this year, and several experienced players from other institutions have indicated a desire to come. East Central will have a good football team of bona-fide students, and those interested in the this phase of school life may feel sure that athletics will not be neglected during the coming year.

FORMER SOLDIER SUING FOR LOTS

A general demurrer entered by the defense Tuesday morning in the one day's special session of district court here, in the case of Frank D. Smigelskey, former soldier against W. H. Constant and Calloway Harbert for the recovery of two town lots, the tax deed to which is held by the defendants, was overruled by Judge Hal Johnson.

Smigelskey, who was formerly connected with the faculty of East Central Normal, now lives in New York City. Sometime after he enlisted in the army, title of the property is said to have been transferred when the lots were sold for taxes. The suit, which is to recover the lots and cancel the tax deed, will be decided at the next regular session of the district court here. Smigelskey is represented by Robert Wimbish, of the law firm of Duncan and Wimbish, and the defendants are represented by attorney C. F. Green.

Smigelskey's army service is set forth in the plaintiff's statement. Counsel for the defense maintains Smigelskey did not file the suit within six months after he had been discharged from the army and that he is not a married man, the dependents of whom were living on the property during his absence.

COTTON EXPORTS FOR JULY SHOW A BIG INCREASE

WASHINGTON—The government cotton report for July places the number of bales consumed during the month at 410,120 bales compared with 525,849 the same month of 1920.

For the year ending July 31, the total consumption was 4,887,893 bales. For 1920 it was 6,419,734 bales.

During the month exports totalled 527,323 bales as against 211,841 July, 1920. For the year ending July 31, exports amounted to 5,724,584 bales compared with 6,598,347 for 1920. In July all Europeans countries, except Italy, showed a marked increase in the purchase of cotton. During the year there was a shrinkage of more than 1,000,000 bales in the taking of Great Britain, but Germany took more than 800,000 bales above her purchases the previous year.

GASOLINE IS NOW 16 CENTS IN ADA

Lowest Price in Many Years Prevails; Club Loses Part of Tax.

(From Tuesday's Daily)

Gasoline is selling in Ada today for 16 cents a gallon, the cheapest it has been in several years. At least two of the garages are selling gas for this price. Whether more had set this low price was not known at the office of the News at 12 o'clock.

According to N. B .Stall, president of the Good Road Motor Club, all of the selling stations with two exceptions are no longer donating to the club a cent for each gallon sold, necessitating the pulling off of all men now at work on the Lawrence road. The club will continue in existence, he says, but will have to restrict its work to other lines than road building.

Mr. Stall is of the opinion that the one cent tax will sooner or later be restored ,but of this, of course, he is not certain.

LEECRAFT TAKES AN OPTIMISTIC VIEW

STILLWATER, Okla., Aug. 25.—"Notwithstanding the disappointment of poor prices for farm products, Oklahoma's financial condition, in view of all other conditions is good," A. N. Leecraft, state treasurer, told delegates to the Oklahoma Farm congress at Thursday night's general session.

"We've accumulated enough during the good years to go through the bad—we've laid up money for a rainy day," Mr. Leecraft said. "No state in the union can beat Oklahoma in its ability to recuperate."

Mr. Leecraft spoke particularly of the public debt of the financial condition of the state government, but his address carried a tone of optimism for the future of Oklahoma farmers. He spoke in the place of Governor J. B. A. Robertson, who was unable to fill his engagement on the Farm Congress program tonight.

R. H. Wilson, state superintendent of public instruction, and John A. Whitehurst, president of the state board of agriculture were the other speakers on tonight's program.

Although prices on farm products are not as good as they should be, and although boll weevils are damaging cotton fields considerably in several southern counties, Mr. Whitehurst said, Oklahoma has never had better crops in general than the present season. With better marketing methods and more systematic control of crop diversification, he predicted a quick improvement in agricultural conditions.
